WJFF Partners with Sullivan BOCES to Prepare for Construction March 27, 2019 (Jeffersonville) WJFF Radio Catskill is partnering with Sullivan County BOCES Career & Technical Education Center to prepare the former Catskill Harvest Market site on Route 52 in Liberty for the construction of Radio Catskill's new studio home.

Since last week Construction Trades educator Bill Drasher has been leading a team of students on the interior demolition and other preparatory work prior to new construction, while Natural Resources educator Sa Rogers will lead a team of students to help mitigate exterior drainage issues, as well as work in the area of the property that formerly con-tained the plant nursery

Once the radio station's management engages a general contractor for the building project the SC BOCES students will be invited to observe the professional construction work through completion.

"We at The Career and Technical Education Center at Sullivan BOCES are excited about our new partnership with WJFF," says Scott Ferrar, C&T Education Center Principal. "We have mutual goals centered aroun community involvement and improve-ment and we are thrilled that we can combine resources to pursue those goals together.

The demolition and site work that our Construction Trades and Natural Resources programs are able to accomplish for WJFF are the first steps in what we hope to be a long-standing collaboration that will include site work, events, programming, internships and future careers for our Career and Tech students."(Contd. Tri-Valley Teachers' Association Recognizes the Rolling V Bus Corporation

This year our Tri-Valley Teachers' Association is making it a point to reach out and recognize organizations and businesses within our community who are our "partners in education.

For our next recognition, we chose to thank the Rolling V Bus Corporation for their contin-ued commitment to the Tri-Valley community and its students. Through their willingness to always help out with school transportation and their overall desire to make our community a better place, the Rolling V Bus Corporation is a vital part of our school. Our TVTA recognizes all that they do. We are grateful for all the support they give to us and our students.

Thank you, Rolling V, for being our partner in education. Together, we make a difference!

On Friday, April 5, 2019 the Daniel Pierce Library is excited to host New York State Troopers PBA President and Author of The First State Troopers, Thomas H. Mungeer. Mungeer joined the New York State Police in 1993. After graduating from the State Police Aacemy he was assigned to Troop F, first in SP Wurtsboro and then SP Liberty. Over the years he served as a member of a special, antiorganized crime detail and for the Highway Task Force. In 2003 Mungeer was elected as the PBA delagate for Troop F, First Vice President in 2006 and President in 2009, a position he currently holds.

Mungeer's book is the most comprehensive history of the formation of the New York State Police and the first men known as State Troopers ever written. There were more than 230 stories among those men who gathered together on the meadows of a converted upstate New York farm during the summer of 1917.

Tom will stay for a book signing after his Author talk and light refreshments will be served. Please join us on Friday, April 5th at 6:30 p.m. at the Daniel Pierce Library, in the Reading Room on the second floor. Please contact the library at (845) 985-7233 with any questions.

A Note of Love and Appreciation

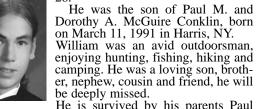

Happy Birthday - Joe Inghrim - April 12th Joe Inghrim is once again in the Care Center at Sunset Lake in Liberty. Joe will be celebrating his 79th birthday on Friday, April 12th. I am asking if you have a few minutes that you could send Joe a birthday card to:

Joe Inghrim Care Center at Sunset Lake Joe Inghrim - Room 116 PO Box 671 Liberty, NY 12754

I would like to thank everyone for their thoughts and prayers while Joe has been going through many medical issues during the past several months. Mary Inghrim

A Round About Tri-Vallev - Carol Furman

This past week several very fine members of our Tri-Valley community passed away: Dorothy Conklin from Claryville died on March 20th at the age of 93 and Virginia Anderson of Grahamsville passed away on March 26th at the age of 97. I also heard that York Illing, who I believe was a 2006 Tri-Valley graduate, was fatally injured in a car accident and, just last night, I heard that Thomas Smith, who had been hospitalized for several weeks, passed away. Sympathy, thoughts and prayers are with these families

Get well soon wishes to Tom Nash of Neversink who, as I write this article, is a patient at Montfiore Hospital in the City recuperating from surgery.

Congratulations to Xavier and Elisabeth Illing on the birth of a son, Ryelin James, on March 12th.

Two Tri-Valley graduates made the news this past week. Congratulations to Pat Donovan, formerly of Neversink, who earned the Sullivan County Democrat "Top Girls' Basketball Coach of the Year" honors. Pat teaches and coaches at Sullivan West and had a very successful year. Forrest Crist, who resides in Parksville and was also a Tri-Valley graduate, was featured in the Democrat's "Men @ Work" section in March. Forrest is a senior account clerk at the Care Center at Sunset Lake in Liberty.

The Grahamsville United Methodist Church luncheons have started up again. The first one was held on April 2nd and the next one will be on April 16th. They are usually held on the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month, however, you can read the sign posted in the front of the church, if you are in doubt. It's nice to go and see old friends and the lunches are delicious and reasonably priced.

The Grahamsville Reformed Church will be having their first dinner of the season on April 13th. Roast pork is on the menu.

Don't forget to support the students who will performing in the musical, "Mary Poppins", on April 5th and 6th. They've been working long and hard and I can't wait to see the show! Sally Bonnell, her daughter, Kelly, and Kelly's children recently returned from relaxing in the sun in Myrtle Beach.

Paul and Kathy Lounsbury have returned to Grahamsville after visiting their children in Texas and Ohio.

I hear that Bill and June Schulte are really enjoying their time in Florida. I understand from an anonymous source that they have the air conditioning turned on in their trailer. We're still feeding our wood stoves!!

I stepped into the elevator at Crystal Run the other day, and there was a Crystal Run employee standing inside. I said,"good morning, isn't it a beautiful day?" She agreed and immediately pulled out her cell phone to show me her purple crocuses holding blooming in a snow-covered yard. She claimed that now she really knew that spring was just around the corner. She lived in Bethel.

Words of Wisdom:

One of the most tragic things I know about human nature is that all of us tend to put off living. We are all dreaming of some magical rose garden over the horizon -instead of enjoying the roses that are blooming outside our windows (Dale Carnegie) So many people don't care what today. happens so long as it doesn't happen to them. Mr. and Mrs. R. Herman are busy fixing the porch on

Rose Hill Farm getting ready for another season. With Spring well underway, and the early promise of some dry weather ahead to make tinder of grassy areas, the Grahamsville Fire Department met Monday evening to lay plans for the construction of its new headquarters in the center of the village and to discuss means and ways of initiating such construction. It was agreed by those attending to conduct a lumber-stacking bee at the new site on next Friday afternoon from 1 p.m. to nightfall. Volunteers are being sought to help on this project, Fire Chief Jack Donaldson announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Van Keuren have moved into the apartment vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wessley and Mr. and Mrs. John Donelli are moving in the other apartment of the Robert Osterhout house.

of the Robert Osterhout house. The value of three parcels of land owned by Mrs. Florence Hornbeck, Mrs. Eva Van Wagner and Mrs. Vida Huson have been set by the commissioners appointed to establish awards for the condemned properties. Mrs. Hornbeck was allowed the total sum of $9,592.75 for land, counsel fees and expenses. The Van Wagner parcel was listed at $3,050 with counsel fees of $152.50 and expenses of $154. The Huson property was listed at $2,550 with counsel fees of $127.50 and $183 for expenses. The deter-mination affect that portion of the New York water supply project covering property to be taken for the tunnel from Neversink to Merriman dams. Neighbors and friends on South Hill have been enjoying television at the Louis Zanettis, where Jack Donaldson has been servicing sets. Jack has a shop set up for repairing and testing. Signals are very clear and reception is excellent.

The mobile unit for chest x-rays sponsored by the New York Department of Health and the Sullivan County Health Association will be at the Ti-Valley School parking area on Monday, May 4th from 1 to 4 pm. All adults are welcome. According to Mr. Tapman, Contactor of Rocklyn Construction Corporation the tentative and present work schedule called for the completion of the new 375 capacity cafeteria and the locker rooms to the new gymnasium in August for use in the fall, and for the erection of the elementary wing by mid-fall. It was also announced by Contractor Tapman that the oil furnace system of the Annex Building would be given free-of-charge to the Grahamsville Methodist Church.

The residents of Sundown have learned from a reliable source that a bad and troublesome section of the Sundown Road will be rebuilt this spring. The strip of road beginning in Ulster-Sullivan County line for a distance of about threequarters of a mile to the Amthor place is narrow and wind-

Charles Robert Van Aken came home from Ft. Dix to pend a two week furlough with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert VanAken of Sundown. When he returns to camp he is scheduled to leave for Ft. Knox, Kentucky. Several men were very busy on Friday and Saturday removing the heating system from the old school building and preparing to transfer it to the Methodist Church.

Mr. Frank VanKeuren was very pleasantly surprised last week when he received word that his son, Capt. And Mrs. Donald VanKeuren and four daughters were on their way to visit him after two ears in Turkey. Capt. VanKeuen and his family left Friday for North Dakota where he will be stationed for a time. He has been in the service for fifteen years

April 2, 1969 Mrs. Van Sickle writes from Vermont that she sends her best to all her good friends in Claryville. She is hoping for a possible reunion of all who attended the Claryville School.

The Ladies Aid of the Reformed Church is now meeting in the Church Hall on Wednesdays. The new heating system is working very well.

Burning permits may be purchased at "Tom's Barbar Shop". Thomas has recently been appointed Fie Warden. Plan ahead on account of the shop being closed this Sunday and Monday.

As Slippery as a Glass Eel in Spring

As daylight lengthens and tidal waters around New York Harbor begin to warm, an incredible aquatic voyage is under-a/k/a Glass Eels are entering the bay after drifting and swimming more than thousand miles for about a year from the Sargasso Sea. juvenile The eels leave the

if

Sargasso Sea as transparent larvae, less than two inches long. By the time they reach the coast, the little eels have grown to about 2 to 3 inches long and are known as Glass Eels

Some will stay in brackish water, while others will swim small creeks and large rivers in freshwater systems, including the Hudson River. Eels are snake-like fish, with pointed heads and fish-like mouths. They have a pair of pectoral fins and a continuous dorsal/caudal/anal fin around the back half of their body. They have very small scales.

Eels are catadromous, meaning that they spawn in the oceans, live out some of their lives there, and then migrate to freshwater for a longer period of their lives until they are ready to spawn again. The eel's life cycle can be divided into seven stages. Eggs hatch into Leptocephalus eels, which are transparent, leaf-shaped larvae that drift on the upper surfaces of the open ocean for several years feeding on plankton. Leptocephali develop into Glass eels and begin to take on the typical eel shape. They are still transparent (thus the name), but their internal organs are visible, and their bodies can reach lengths of 4 inches.

As the eels travel up the freshwater channels, they developed pigmentation and begin feeding on larger prey including crustaceans, worms and insects. This is called the Elver, or young eel stage. Eels in the Elver stage may be found in the Hudson River estuary.

As their color begins to darken, they develop a single gill slit in front of pectoral fins and their lower jaw protrudes beyond their upper jaw. They begin to take on a yellow color as they reach 22 to 31 inches in length and are then known as Yellow eels. At this point they are considered to be sexually imma-ture adults. Yellow eels will continue "running" upstream, crossing lakes and wetlands for up to 40 years. Some, especially females can grow up to 5 feet long. Yellow eels begin to change into Silver eels, a transformation that prepares them for their long trek back to the ocean to spawn. When eels mature, they lose their yellow pigment and take on a dark grayish-brown color on top and silver underneath. Their eyes enlarge and their bodies thicken. They have a degenerated digestive tract and will stop feeding.

Their bodies have grow more solid and hearty, storing large quantities of fat. They have developed thicker skin. Their dark coloring and silver underside serve as suitable ocean camouflage. Spawning occurs in the Sargasso Sea, the only place in the world where the American eel, who was once a tiny Glass Eel, reproduces.

A female Silver eels can lay up to 5 million floating eggs. Males fertilize the eggs and a massive cloud of spawn floats near the surface, providing food for lots of marine animals. Since the adults cannot feed, they are presumed to die shortly after spawning Eels can survive in most marine and freshwater systems. Their body adapts from open ocean-dwelling to freshwater migration, to bottom-dwelling, and back to ocean migration. American eels secrete a slimy mucous that coats their body during times of stress. This not only allows them to avoid being captured, but also helps them slither across land or other barriers during freshwater migration.

A mysterious strategy is at work, for juvenile eels are still entering New York Harbor every spring, as they have for countless years

Unforsaken Book review from author Manuel Ramos author of The Golden Havana Night

Unforsaken is a bullet packed with gritty characters and explosive action.

John Dwaine McKenna skillfully takes readers to the untamed Southwest at the beginning of the Twentieth Century. The Wild West is past its heyday.

Locomotives have replaced horses. Bandit gangs are a vanishing menace, yet outlaws still prowl the dusty streets looking for easy marks. The lone and honorable lawman is on the verge of extinction. Men and women crave stability as they carry on their often desperate and risky lives. The old morality codes are forgotten, forsaken. There is no honor among thieves, but there is corruption in the Marshall's office. Into this simmering mix, McKenna throws a veteran Texas Ranger, a frontier woman with more than one secret of her own, a violent murdering cowboy gangster, Mexican revolutionaries, Mormon legends, and more, much more. Unforsaken will satisfy any reader looking for firmly-etched characters, an exciting story line, and a cold, hard look at humanity under pressure. For die-hard western fans, Unforsaken is just what the Doc ordered. A Novel

By the year 1901, the Old West was just a memory and the new century only a promise. That's when a Texas woman's search for her missing brother draws the attention of a hard-boiled Texas Ranger who's on the trail of a notorious outlaw and murderer. When they realize they're both looking for the same man, Ella Stringfellow and Boyd Pirtle's lives intersect as they uncover a conspiracy which impacts the whole nation. At the same time, Pirtle works to unravel and solve a twenty year old murder that has little evi dence and few clues . . . a mystery which ultimately leads to a shattering confession. and stunning conclusion . . . and only one of the three will still be alive to tell the tale!

Tale of Two Colds

Both my husband and I had stuffy head colds this week. He, being a trooper, sallied forth going about his routine of bakery breakfast, gym workout, and outdoor chores. Me, I succumbed; I gave in to it. I became a dropout from life, sniffling, snuffing and settling into a sweatpants-and-bathrobe funk, avoiding all contact with others except by FaceBook. He is over his cold. Mine lingers, perhaps because I allowed it to kidnap my time and energy. I even napped, and then felt guilty because I hadn't emptied Let's Begin the dishwasher, folded the clothes, raked the leaves from the flower beds, changed the bed linens, etc.

I was discouraged with having a cold. I felt like it robbed me of something. It was then that I saw this meme on FaceBook.

Having been given permission by Pooh himself, I began to ponder the cute little bear's philosophy about doing nothing if one felt like it. Here is what A.A. By Taking A Milne had to say about doing nothing: "What I like doing best is Nothing." Smallish Nap

"How do you do Nothing," asked Pooh after he had wondered for a long time."Well, it's when people call out at you just as you're going off to do it. 'What are you going to do, Christopher Robin?' and you say, 'Oh, Nothing,' and then you go and do it. t means just going along, listening to all the things you can't hear, and not bothering.

"Oh!" said Pooh." – A.A. Milne, Winnie-the-Pooh

Further investigation uncovered these words of advice from Pooh, the sage little bear:

"Don't underestimate the value of doing nothing, of just going along, listening to all the things you can't hear, and not bothering."

"Sometimes I sits and thinks, and sometimes I just sits...

"Sometimes the thing to do is nothing."

"Doing nothing often leads to the very best of something."

So, I followed his advice. I am still sniffling, snuffling, and reaching for tissues, but I sure am well-rested and feeling better. Winnie the Pooh made my cold ""bear-able" by giving me permission to do NOTHING.

DEC Celebrates 12th Year of Juvenile Eel Monitoring – More than 600 Volunteer Citizen Scientists Track Hudson River Eels

wiffradio.org

All along the Hudson River Estuary, volunteers are donning waders and venturing into tributary streams to participate in the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation's (DEC) twelfth annual research and monitoring project on migrating juvenile American eels, DEC Commissioner Basil Seggos announced today. "DEC's American Eel Research project connects students and com-munities with nature while gathering valuable research data for the future study of this species and its critical role in our ecosystem," said Commissioner Seggos. "Citizen-based research and community involve-juvenile glass eels as they enter Hudson River tributary streams from the ocean. The American eel (Anguilla rostrata) is in decline over much of its range, and we are conducting baseline studies to aid conservation efforts. Volunteers help collect glass eels using specialized nets and traps on Hudson River tributaries. The young eels are counted, weighed, and released upstream, often above barriers to continue their migration. Volunteers can assist at streams from New York City to Greene County. This requires mostly outdoor field work from late March through May, with very flexible schedules. All volunteers under 18 are accompanied by an adult experienced in the eel research project. On-site training is provided. For more information visit the Eel Project web-

LIBERTY, NY: Come celebrate Grandma Rose O'Riley McFadden's 80th birthday with the Greater Liberty Chamber of Commerce and Big Sky Productions on Sunday, April 7 at the Liberty Diner. But be wary because before the night is over, someone will be murdered! And while you're watching the events unfold, enjoy a delicious three-course sit-down dinner with salad, entrée and dessert.

"Eat, Drink & Be Murdered" by Tony Schwartz and Marylou Ambrose is a birthday celebration and a murder mystery dinner theatre, all rolled into one! It's the Irish version of the Hatfields and McCoys, and the outcome will determine ownership of the Wild Irish Rose Distillery. By the way, that night, you're a member of the family. Will you be an O'Riley or McFadden? Only time will tell.

Directed by Carol Montana of Grahamsville, the show features Lori Schneider of Hurleyville, Ellen Pavloff of Kerhonkson, Paul Ciliberto of Monticello, Laure and Michael Valentine of Livingston Manor, and Carol and Bob Bliefernich of Highland Lake.

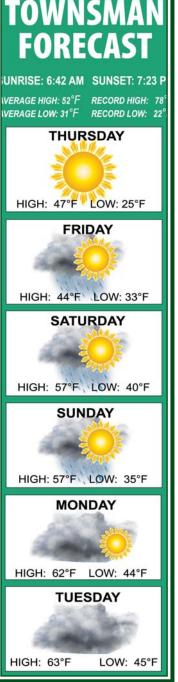

Entrée choices for the evening are: glazed salmon with asparagus, sautéed sesame chicken, Florentine ravioli, and Tex-Mex brisket. A cash bar will be available with O'Riley and McFadden drink specials as well.

Doors open at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 7 at the Liberty Diner. The show starts at 4 p.m. Tickets for dinner and the show are $55 in advance or $60 at the door, and are available at the Liberty Diner, 30 Sullivan Avenue in Liberty, and Antique Palace Emporium, 300 Chestnut Street in Liberty. Call 845-292-2270 for information and reservations, write to Info@LibertyNYChamber.com, or visit LibertyNYChamber.com.

Get your tickets now, pick out your best birthday party outfit, and be part of an evening of fun, food and murder.

Mamma Mia is a Big Hit at Fallsburg HS The audience at Fallsburg High School Auditorium on Friday evening, March 29 was and Kailie Ruiz singing and dancing as Donna and the Dynamos March 29 was delighted by the cast and crew's presentation of "Mamma Mia." This was a highly successful Broadway show and two popular movies, including one in 2018. Many people are familiar with the music that comes from the lyrics of the great Swedish pop group ABBA. One could say that familiarity breeds respect in the case of Fallsburg's production. The music was so lively and enhanced by the four-piece band directed by Liz Toleno. All the leads had good voices. From first moment on stage to the end, the audience was rooting for each character simply because of how earnestly they came across. Dawn Ruhren as Sophie and Jasmine Johnson as Donna have beautiful voices and their chemistry on stage together as daughter and mother conveyed the complications of their relationship daughter and mother conveyed the complications of their relationship. There were a couple of wonderful moments when one of Donna's old suitors played by Ethan Mednick and Donna sang and acted out the past love, the tension of the break-up and the sudden coming together. Their voices, facial expressions and physical gestures captured a love lost and, in a sense regained by the end of the play. The end of the play was a true coming together of the entire cast when they reprised of the joyous title song, "Mamma Mia."

Kudos to cast and crew on stage, behind the scenes and in the sound and light booth. Teacher Tobi Magnetico brought it all together as Stage Director and Producer. Jim Schmidt designed and built a magnificent set. FHS Band Director Danna Clear showed her skills with the great choreography that was especially fantastic when Jasmine, Ava Anderman and Kailie Ruiz were singing and dancing as Donna and the Dynamos. This was but one of the many highlights of an evening filled with them.

Starry Night" photos on view at CWC

MARGARETVILLE, N.Y., March 28, 2019-The Catskills are famous as a destination for star gazers in search of deep, dark skies, and photographer Garth Battista's new exhibition at the Catskill Watershed Corporation shows why.

"Starry Nights: Catskill Sky Photos' is a selection of 20 spectacular nighttime images by Halcottsville resident who has spent countless hours in all seasons capturing the vast expanse of sparkling glowing stars and planets with his digital camera.

The public is welcome "Starry view to Nights" at the CWC, 905 Main Street, weekdays from 8 to 4:30 through May 10.

It's advisable to call ahead to be sure the exhibition space is not in use when you plan to visit: 845-586-1400. All of the photographic prints on metal are for sale.

"Whether it's the brilliant colors and complex structure of the Milky Way galactic core, or the mesmerizing paths of star trails around the north star as the earth turns, the night sky is filled with beauty beyond our imagining," says Battista. "By taking long exposures -- anywhere from 15 seconds to over nine hours -- you can see details that aren't perceptible to the naked eye."

Battista seeks out and in some cases illuminates local landmarks to provide a sense of perspective for the infinite sky that dominates his photographs. A few examples are star trails whirling over the Balsam Lake Mountain fire tower, the Milky Way over Halcottsville Cemetery, or the Big Dipper blazing over a parked red tractor in Roxbury. One summer night, Battista captured an image of stars competing with a maze of fire-fly trails - "a bioluminescent orgy." On another occasion his lens revealed the Milky Way over mountain fog, with Jupiter, Saturn, and Mars all visible. Garth Battista has lived in Halcottsville for 20 years with his wife Lilly and daughters Isabel and Rose. He is a former book publisher, and now works as an educator at the Manhattan Country School Farm in Roxbury. He is a member of the Halcottsville Fire Department, and is an avid runner and hiker with an affinity for sailing and boat building. His photographs can be seen on Instagram (@sea_feverish). Battista can be reached at garth.battista@gmail.com.

The Scene Too By Jane Harrison

Somewhere around Sunday, I thought to myself "It's has been a really quiet." And then I woke up. Quiet for me is actually watching something on Netflix or TV and knitting. I haven't picked up my needles in weeks!

I actually missed my weekly attendance at the Open Studio (or as I like to call it, the Knit Crochet Club) which I try never to do since this is my decompression time. This time, though, I was back out in Livingston Manor ("the Manor" again...hmmm) for the Fire Cider tasting and to find out more about Haven for Humanity. Fire Cider is an interesting concoction that you can make yourself (no 'bottled for sale' here) with herbs and oranges with a base of organic apple cider vinegar fermented together. Yes, I tried it. And if I were a germ, because that's what it's for, the onset of flu or cold, and saw this stuff coming at me, I'd head to the nearest orifice as fast as I could to be expelled. Fire Cider is a good name, but not because it's ingredient hot.

Haven for Humanity, a full 501 (c) (3) non for profit, is comprised of people who respect the earth, all of the inhabitants be them human or sentient beings, and the older religions. I found them well grounded as opposed to the 'rainbow and unicorn' crews of other such froupings. One of their most impressive offerings is their RAW-MART, which offers high quality organic produce at a 0% markup. All they ask for is a donation on top of your purchase to help them maintain this project and their new headquarters in Livingston Manor. Not at all unreasonable. I will write more about how this works when I know more. That night was SO crowded!!! Good to see. More information on Haven for Humanity can be found on their website: havenforhumanity.org

But that's not all! As I was outside chatting, a lovely woman approached me with a flyer about a fantastic program for children and parents. STANDING PEOPLE TOGETHER has a program that is based on the European STANDING PEOPLE model of FOREST SCHOOL. This will be taking place in Hankins and is intended to immerse the children (and their parents) by way of structured and unstructured activity for the purpose of learning Science, Math and Engineering in the woods! For more information, look them up at wasteforlife.org/forthcoming/ or check them out on FaceBook at Standing People Together. Each of these programs runs from May 4-6 through June 22-24. If you know someone who might be interested, they should contact the above as soon as possible as I don't know if the programs are limited.

And this is just a fraction of the last 2 weeks! And I've run out of space....soooo

Until next time

Mark your calendars:

UNFORGIVEN, the newest book from John McKenna is set for a big release April 6th. I have it on good authority that this book is coming into the Neversink General Store and will be available for purchase later this week ahead of the official release. Watch their FaceBook page for more information.

As Kids Spring Break Session (From Pg. 8) In so doing, CAS Kids provides an excellent and free out-of-school learning opportunity during the school spring break session, removing economic and cul-tural barriers to the arts in our rural, low-income commu-rition nities

CAS Kids programming offers families intensive arts education combining art making and historical context. Past course work has focused on historical development and stylistic context of the 20th century, exploring concepts of surrealism, cubism, and abstract expressionism. Students learned of surrealism and cubism through creating work inspired by Marc Chagal's "I and the Village" Liquid watercolor and drip bottles were employed to mimic the gestural movement painting abstract expres-sionist artist, Jackson Pollock is best known for. For the most technically challenging project, children recreated Alberto Giacometti's "Walking Man" series with pipe cleaners and aluminum foil. Their malleable sculptures were elongated and stylized like that of the great 20th century artist's iconic figures. `Registration is required in advance of spring break. Please call 845-436-4227 or email info@catskillartsociety.org for more information.

This program is made possible through generous support of Fullen-Smith Foundation, Thalia and George Liberatos Foundation and Robyn Gerry. About the Catskill Art Society

The Catskill Art Society is a non-profit organization cultivating public interest, participation, and enjoyment of the arts. Through its multi-arts center, CAS explores contemporary art practices and facilitates creative and profession-

DEP Encourages Anglers to Enjoy World-Class Trout Fishing in the Watershed Fishing brochure provides anglers with info about fish species throughout reservoir system

To mark the start of trout-fishing season on April 1, the New York City Department of Environmental Protection encouraged anglers to enjoy world-class fishing on its upstate reservoirs and dozens of properties through the Catskills and Hudson Valley that include frontage along creeks and streams. Twenty-two reservoirs and lakes, covering more than 35,000 acres, will be open for fish-ing from shore or boats that have a valid DEP boat tag. Most of these reservoirs and lakes include habitat for coldwater species such as trout and warmwater species such as smallmouth and largemouth bass.

New York's trout season generally runs from April 1 until Oct. 15. However, the trout-fishing season on certain New York City reservoir is open year-round or closes later in the year. The New York State Derest the season of Comparison (DEC) York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) outlines statewide fishing regulations, including information on licenses, catch limits, and stocking, on its website.

"DEP is proud to invite our watershed neighbors and visitors to enjoy angling on our reservoirs, which offer some of the best trout fishing anywhere in the northeast, DEP Commissioner Vincent Sapienza said. "In recent years, our employees have worked hard to expand fishing access throughout our watershed and share information about outdoor recreation with more people. That effort will continue this year as we plan to host additional fish-ing events for families, helping this proud tradition continue with the next generation of anglers and environmental stewards.

For 2019, DEP has issued an updated fishing brochure that provides anglers with helpful information about permitting, fishing locations and more. The brochure also features information about the fishing conditions and fish species at each of the reservoirs and lakes.

The brochure, along with angler maps that show the water depths within each reservoir, can be found at the DEP website

Anglers can also find fishing areas by using the RecMapper, an interactive map created by DEP to help outdoor enthusiasts pinpoint access at more than 400 recreation units across the watershed. Anglers can use the digital map to zoom in to each property, find waterbodies, and print driving directions. Shore fishing and boat-launch areas at each reservoir are clearly labeled on the interactive map, which is also good for finding small lakes, ponds or stream frontage that are suitable for fish-The RecMapper can be ing. found at www.nyc.gov/dep/recmap.

Fishing on all city-owned reservoirs and lakes, along with some recreation units along streams and creeks, requires a free DEP Access Permit. An access permit can be obtained through DEP's online permitting system, found atwww.nyc.gov/dep/accesspermit.

Those with questions about permitting may also email recreation@dep.nyc.gov or call (800) 575-LAND. Those fishing on streams that run across water supply lands should carefully check signs in those recreation units to determine whether a permit is required.

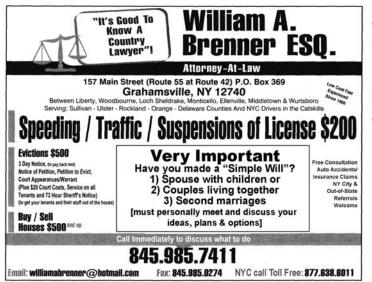

The breadth of fishing opportunities on City reser-voirs and land underscores DEP's effort to support the recreation and tourism economies in the watershed by opening more properties to recreation. There are currently more than 136,000 acres of City property open for recreation in the watersheds, including the reservoirs.

Acting UC Executive Adele B. Reiter Reaffirms and Expands UC's Commitment to Environmental Leadership –Ulster Becomes First County in New York State and Twentieth in the U.S. To Formally Commit to Upholding the Goals of the 2015 United Nations Paris Climate Accord

In keeping with Ulster County's longstanding commitment to environmental leadership, Acting County Executive Adele B. Reiter today announced that Ulster County has joined The Climate Reality Project's County Climate Coalition, formally affirming its commitment to the 2015 United Nations Paris Climate Agreement. Members of the County Climate Coalition are required to implement results-oriented measures to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Ulster County is the first of New York State's sixty-two counties to formalize its commitment to the Paris Agreement by joining the County Climate Coalition.

"Ulster County is considered one of the greenest county governments in the nation for good reason," said Acting County Executive Adele B. Reiter. "Over the course of the past ten years, under the visionary leadership of our former County Executive Mike Hein, we proudly championed efforts to protect our county's breathtaking environmental resources because all residents want and deserve clean air and water. I am proud to expand our County's commitment to environmental protection and reaffirm our leadership position by joining with nineteen other counties across the U.S. to pledge our commitment to combating climate change. I firmly believe that here in Ulster County we can demonstrate for other communities throughout the nation how protecting our environment and promoting prosperity for our residents can indeed go hand-in-hand." In 2014, former County Executive Mike Hein issued an Executive

In 2014, former County Executive Mike Hein issued an Executive Order establishing Ulster County as the first County government in New York State to purchase 100% of its electricity from renewable resources. Two years later, in 2016, Ulster County became the first to operate on a carbon-neutral basis; it remains the only county in New York State to do so. Ulster County formalized its commitments to renewable energy by joining the Climate Reality Project's 100% Committed campaign in March 2018 and by completing a new 1.9 Megawatt solar generation facility atop a former landfill in the Town of Ulster last June. That facility now provides 20% of the electricity consumed by County operations.

UC Executive Budget Beats Up Local Municipalities Squeezes Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars from Ulster County's Towns and Villages Last week, Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach joined other County Comptrollers, Treasurers, the New York State

Last week, Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach joined other County Comptrollers, Treasurers, the New York State Association of Counties, and elected officials from across the State to urge both the Governor and Legislature to restore roughly $775,000 in Assistance and Incentives for Municipalities ("AIM") funding for Ulster County. This aid has been eliminated within the 2019-2020 NYS Executive Budget, creating yet another unfunded mandate to be shouldered by the taxpayers of Ulster County and forcing the County to make up the losses by shifting future internet sales tax revenue.

The greatest impact would be felt in New Paltz and Saugerties, where both the Town and the Village would lose a combined $114,000 and $113,000, respectively. The Town of Ulster stands to be shortchanged over $66,000, and

The Town of Ulster stands to be shortchanged over $66,000, and the Towns of Hurley, Esopus, Wawarsing, and Plattekill are all being threatened with reductions exceeding $40,000 each.

"I know the struggles faced by our Town Supervisors and Village Mayors in crafting their budgets every year and their reliance on this aid, which is why redirecting our residents' hardearned tax dollars toward another mandate handed down from above will do nothing to help our local finances," Comptroller Auerbach told officials and representatives in Albany last week.

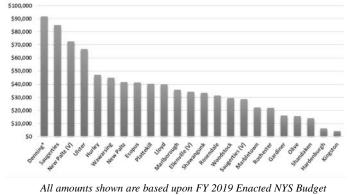

In total, the proposed Executive Budget cuts $59 million in AIM payments by eliminating funding for 1,250 municipalities. "It's reassuring that both the Assembly and Senate have rejected

"It's reassuring that both the Assembly and Senate have rejected this idea within their one-house budgets and instead chose to include full AIM restoration," said Auerbach. "I'm optimistic the THE TOWNSMAN final spending plan will empower our localities and taxpayers by ensuring that AIM remains a duty of New York State." The following chart shows the potential economic reality facing Ulster County, as well as its Towns and Villages if AIM funding operationally becomes a liability of the County.

The mission of the Ulster County Comptroller's Office is to serve as an independent agency of the people and to protect the public interest by monitoring County government and to assess and report on the degree to which its operation is economical, efficient and its financial condition sound.

Letter To the Editor:

The New York State Budget currently being negotiated by lawmakers is a double negative for local taxpayers. On the one hand, it includes the Internet Fairness Act, which will require New Yorkers to pay sales taxes on more of their online purchases. At the same time, it takes the local share of those tax revenues and devotes it to funding programs that were cut in the State Budget.

Specifically, the budget proposal creates a new mandate for County property taxpayers to backfill $60 million in State funding cuts to nearly 1,300 towns and villages. It also uses local tax dollars for other State initiatives such as early voting, bail reform, and a new lead monitoring program.

reform, and a new lead monitoring program. These new mandates are on top of the 9 state mandates that already consume more than $12 billion in local revenues from counties and NYC each and every year. That's $1 billion a month in local tax dollars that were never invested in our local economy, infrastructure, services, and programs. These were local tax dollars taken by State leaders and spent the way that they see fit my, infrastructure, services, and programs. These were local tax dollars taken by State leaders and spent the way that they see fit. In Sullivan County, we anticipate spending $50,935,203 on State-mandated programs and services in 2019, which will consume 78.71% of the property taxes we collect. By any measure, that is significant.

We urge legislative leaders and the Governor to demonstrate their commitment to all of our communities by rejecting the new unfunded State mandates proposed in this budget. We literally cannot afford them.

Sincerely, Luis Alvarez, Chairman Sullivan County Legislature Monticello, NY

Town of Neversink SPRING CLEANUP 2019

Spring Cleanup will be held on April 27, May 1, 4 & 8, 2019. The Transfer Station will be open during normal business hours. Residents with Purple 2019 permits will be allowed 2 loads which must be brought during the Spring Cleanup dates. Permit cards will be punched for each load.

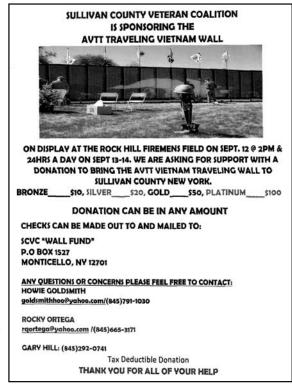

TVs and other electronic items can be disposed of with payment being made by SW coupons. Refrigerators, freezers, dehumidifiers and air conditioners require a Freon removal fee of $15.00 per item. Each permit holder is entitled to four free car tires. Scrap metal can be taken anytime throughout the year without charge. Due to the high volume of traffic during spring cleanup, residents are asked NOT TO bring any of these items during Spring Cleanup. Please bring these items at a later date.

The Town of Neversink Transfer Station is open only to those persons who have their household and generate their waste material in the Town of Neversink. Ownership of vacant land does not qualify for use of the facility. The Municipal Cleanup Initiative Program is made possible by the Sullivan County Legislature.
