On Monday January 4, 2010, Deputies from the Sullivan County Sheriff's Office responded to Wal-Mart in Monticello regarding the report of a stolen car from that location. The investigation at the scene revealed that a customer had dropped off his 2002 Toyota Camry for an oil change that morning. When he returned later on to pick his vehicle up, he was informed that the keys were mistakenly given to someone else. When the victim checked the parking lot, he found that his vehicle was gone. NYSDEC APPROVED TRAINING AT SUNY ULSTER

The void created by the retirement of current workers, has created numerous possibilities for workers to enter the wastewater field. There is also the need for personnel who have knowledge of both specialized equipment and rigorous federal and state regulatory requirements. These needs can only be met by trained wastewater operators. The SUNY Ulster wastewater courses provide NYSDEC approved training. Classes will be held on the Stone Ridge Campus. (Contd. Pg. 3)

COUNTY CORRECTS SOLID WASTE USER FEE BILLING

County Manager David Fanslau took administrative action Wednesday to correct solid waste user fee billings that were erroneously issued. The Solid Waste User Fee Local Law was not intended to be applied to vacant land; however, certain real property class codes were erroneously billed.

"The specific real property class codes that are to be corrected will be removed from the warrants of the Town Tax Collectors, and corrected bills will be issued", said Fanslau. This action will preempt any unnecessary charges or fees associated with the real property class codes that were erroneously billed.

The Solid Waste User Fee schedule was approved by the County Legislature in December 2009, and was effective for fiscal/calendar year 2010. The Solid Waste User Fee generates revenues to fund the Solid Waste System, and is applied to all real property parcels that have improvements on them, including parcels that are exempt from the real property tax system. $10,000 CHALLENGE

The Daniel Pierce Library is thrilled to announce that the $10,000 Challenge has been met! Thank you to everyone who so very generously contributed to the Library and Museum Building Fund to make the $10,000 match possible. This outpouring of community support is an inspiration to the entire Building Construction Team.

At the present time, we are in the final and most expensive phase of construction, and still need approximately $225,000 to complete the project. Philip Coombe, Jr., Building Project Chairperson, is continuing to explore all possible resources in order to minimize costs, but there are expensive purchases that have to be made. For example, the elevator alone will cost $88,000 and we cannot open without it.

Any donations to the Building Fund will be most appreciated. Please make checks payable to: Daniel Pierce Library Building Fund, P.O. Box 268, Grahamsville, NY 12740. Thank you for helping us to "celebrate the past and build for the future."

TVCS NEWS - MESSAGE FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

Recently the Tri-Valley Central School District published a notice in the Townsman regarding an upcoming vote on January 19, 2010. During the 2009-2010 budget presentation, Lisa Raymond reported the need to replace the Elementary School roof and the removal of brown tile in the High School. The district budgeted $1,000,000 as a capital Interfund transfer to pay for these repairs. The voters approved, through the budget process, the transfer of these funds. New York State Law requires that a separate vote take place to approve the expenditure of up to $700,000 for the necessary capital improvements. Therefore, on January 19, 2010 from 12 noon to 9:00 p.m. We will be hosting a vote at the Tri-Valley Central School District gymnasium to use these funds for the Elementary School roof repair.

In light of the current fiscal affairs of our State, if Governor Paterson continues to cut or withhold payments to school districts, we have to postpone the replacement of the roof until the funds are available.

HERE AND THERE

Those of us who chose to tough out the winter months here in the North are feeling more like survivors every day of the recent single-digit temperatures and/or the biting cold wind. Our snow-bird neighbors down there aren't faring much better - a high of 35 in Miami isn't much to cheer about.

January doesn't have a lot of holidays for everyone to celebrate, but there are a few that some like to keep in mind. New Year's Day, of course, holds our attention for quite a while before and after the event itself. After that we have to wait a couple of weeks for Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday, observed this year on Jan. 18 and marking the first of the year's three-day weekends. Betty Ann Ter Bush and her Virginia relatives could probably tell you that Jan. 19 is known below the Mason-Dixon Line as the birthday of Robert E. Lee; and older Democrats may remember that F.D. Roosevelt celebrated his birthday on Jan. 30. Most adults will remember the Persian Gulf conflict of 1991, called Desert Storm, beginning Jan. 16, and lasting until early April. Locally, we have only three birthdays in our January list: Steve Conklin, Jan.13; Janna Worden, Jan. 15; and Pauline Kocijanski, Jan. 16. Many Happy Returns to all!

Here on Hastings Drive/Court, we have lost one set of neighbors and gained another in their place, all in the last few days of 2009. Dave and Phyllis Moore, formerly of Hastings Court, have established their new home with her mother, Joyce Thomas, at the bottom of Denman Mountain Road. Our new neighbors are newly-weds Jim and Jessica (DeVore) Garigliano. We wish both couples happiness in their new homes.

Grandparents Vernon "Bud" and Charlotte Stratton are beaming with pride these days, and with good reason. Their grandson, David McDonald, son of Lynn (Stratton) McDonald and the late Dr. Harold McDonald, is a student in the Honors Program at SUNY Binghamton, where he is carrying a challenging course-load: His double-major subjects are Biology and the Classics; his minor is the Scholar's Program (I'm afraid to ask what that includes). And with this academic load, he is maintaining a 4.0 average! No wonder his grandparents, along with Great-grandmother Ethel Coombe, are beaming! Congratulations, David!

"As a rule, men worry more about what they can't see than about what they can." (Julius Caesar)

We want to be able to make important, informed decisions about our financial situation and if it's feasible, replace the Elementary School roof. The roof is needed and has to be done.

We appreciate the support from the community and want to make sure you are fully informed going into this necessary vote. To summarize, the taxpayers have already approved a $1,000,000 transfer of funds to pay for a new roof. We are now asking the taxpayers to vote to approve expending up to $700,000 of this $1,000,000 at the January vote for the replacement of the roof. Thank you for your attention to this matter. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Administration at 985-2296, ext. 5102.

INCREASED TAX EXEMPTIONS FOR COLD WAR VETS (From Pg. 1)
This new law (Ch.235 of 2009), effective Jan.2,

This new law (Ch.235 of 2009), effective Jan.2, increases the real property tax exemption of Cold War veterans, and each municipality may adopt local laws to provide these exemptions, which also include cooperative apartments and property held in trust for the benefit of a veteran.

New York State has a host of benefits for veterans and their families. The Cold War lasted 46 years from 1945 to 1991. Our Cold War veterans endured tense times and served during two wars, both the Korean War and the Vietnam War. Their service kept our nation secure, and their sacrifice made peace a reality for all of us. This law lends support for countless veterans, many of whom are retired and in financial situations where every little bit helps.

The Assembly has always strived to go beyond a salute to our veterans and address the increasingly complex circumstances of those who defend our families and freedom. We are committed to providing our veterans with the help and support they need when they come home.

Veterans exemplify the principles and ideals of democracy. Their work made events like the falling of the Berlin Wall possible and helped unite nations for the cause of freedom. Our world would be a very different place without their tireless efforts.

Visit www.veterans.ny.gov for more information about state programs for veterans. If you need more information on this new law, contact my district office at 845-794-5807.

The CWC Board of Directors recently adopted a measure allowing reimbursement for septic repairs done between January 1 and December 31, 2009 that were not within priority areas for the regular Septic Repair and Rehabilitation Program. Adequate monies in the program fund allows the CWC to make this assistance available at year's end.

Homeowners who can show proof that repairs were completed, were approved by NYC Department of Environmental Protection and were paid for may fill out a CWC form to request reimbursement. Call 845-586-1400 to obtain this form.

The ongoing Septic Program can help homeowners located within 200 feet of a watercourse in the Catskill-Delaware Watershed. If you are experiencing difficulties with your on-site system, call the number above for information on how to participate in the program in 2010.

Homes that were constructed after November 2,

1995 are not eligible for this program.

The CWC is a non-profit Local Development Corporation based in Margaretville. It is committed to protecting water resources, encouraging environmentally friendly economic development and supporting watershed education in the New York City Watershed West of the Hudson River, a region encompassing parts of five counties - Delaware, Greene, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster.

THE ODD COUPLE

By Peggy DeWire

A fine friendship that has gone on outdoors right under your nose and you may never have known this. It's between the odd couple of the insect world.

Aphids and ants have been patting and hugging and carrying on as they move up and down plant stems together.

The small black pinhead size aphids suck plant sap and produce sweet clear drops of liquid called honeydew which ants feed friend to let down honeydew like milking a cow. In return ants protect aphids from harmful insects like faithful shepherds guard their flocks.

It's a grand relationship - one helping the other - called symbiosis in nature.

An ant will carry its precious aphid in its mouth to a new food plant as gently as a cat transports her kitten.

Only outdoor ants (different from house ants attracted to greasy and sweet foods) tend aphids. Cornfield ants attach their aphids to the roots of cornstalks underground. Aboveground ants bring their aphids to the stems of plants where they suck the juices.

You can see that too many aphids weaken plants and spread virus diseases. They are serious pests of cultivated flowers and garden crops.

Aphids (family Aphididae) have an interesting and complex life cycle involving generations that are bisexual or female only, with wings or without.

Often each generation alternates food plants. It works like this: Aphids generally overwinter as eggs which hatch in the spring into wingless females that produce only live young female aphids, not eggs. Up to ten generations may pass before a generation of winged females finally appears in late summer. These winged aphids produce a generation of normal male and female babies. When adult, they mate and the females lay eggs that overwinter to start the life cycle over again.

The ants that live closely associated with aphids gather up these eggs and store them safely in underground nests until spring. Then they carry the new aphids out to a food plant and stand guard.

All summer long the ants tend their aphids, carrying them from one food plant to another.

With our odd couple here in their last remaining days together, the protector ant gently strokes his small friend who gives him honeydew as long as he lives.

VOICES FROM THE WEST COASTt.....
"What a ride!" That was one of my favorite quotes when I was employed at WVOS in Liberty, right across from a great sandwich place called 'Last Licks'. Times sure have changed during the last decade. All of us have become a bit more aware while fulfilling our everyday lives that need to be

Ordinarily I would write a summary of last year's sports scene, but this time, it will be a perspective not sports scene, but this time, it will be a perspective not only of what was the last year, but also the last decade. In a nutshell, it seems that all of us in American have experienced what our grandparents and great grandparents endured 80 years ago. It felt like an endless recession. To me, it was a depression. The good news for some of us is we survived and are now rebuilding what this great nation is all about.

Not only the economy, but our political systems continue to evolve. Our new generation has something to live for, too. Women, and varied ethnicities have taken and filled the political potholes. In other words, the 21st century has very much so re-awakwords, the 21st century has very much so re-awakened the American spirit! I am glad for the oppor-tunity to be alive and to see what our great country is becoming. There will still be challenges in the next decade and room for improvements, too. All in all, we could say the first decade has a lot of history for us to look back on.

As I looked back this past year, California went through some pains. Yet with proper leadership, in time, the state government will get fixed, not only regarding current events, but inclusive of the entertainment industry. The last few weeks have been busy for me and well, the beginning of the new year looks really fantastic. (Contd. Pg. 8)

SOLID WASTE USER FEE BILLING

(From Pg. 1) In past years, the County's Property Taxpayers subsidized the Solid Waste System through the County's General Fund.

There has been a Special Revenue Fund established to fund the all-in costs of the Solid Waste System of the County. This Special Revenue Fund was created to prevent the use of the proceeds for any other purpose but for costs directly associated with the Solid Waste System.

"Many years ago, the County issued bonds to fund the Solid Waste System; however, during those years a debt service reserve was not established. The landfill has reached capacity, but there remains a $40 million debt to be repaid through 2022, as well as, about $1.2 million in annual post-closure costs that the County will have to fund for a thirty year period," Fanslau said. The Solid Waste User Fee will partially fund the expenses of the Solid Waste System, with the remainder funded through disposal fees at the Transfer Stations and convenience centers.

The County has executed an agreement with IESI Corporation to manage a portion of the Solid Waste System. The County Landfill in Monticello is now closed, having reached capacity. All Municipal and Commercial haulers will utilize the Ferndale Transfer Station Monday through Friday on an interim basis, until Commercial haulers may be received at the Mamakating Station, and until the centralized Transfer Station is constructed in

The year saw great events in country music and the tours, that are too many to list. There are two that quickly come into mind, however, and that was Keith Urban at Arco Arena and the other, which still makes me laugh, was Brad Paisley at the Sleeptrain Ampitheater with Jimmy Wayne and Dierks Bentley. A female country fan said it correctly here in the area, "the Three Yums"; very talented and high powered. Jimmy Wayne is doing something commendable now and you may follow him on his Twitter page. He is walking to raise money for the homeless. If you haven't heard, Jimmy was homeless at a young age. Now, he is looking to raise money for awareness of the homelessness in the United States. The other, Brad Paisley, is singing not only "American Saturday Night", but "Welcome to the Future".

Toward the end of the year, KNCI did very well with the toy drive for the Sacramento Sheriffs. Close to 2800 toys were collected making many children's Christmas happen. Speaking of 105.1 KNCI, it was a great week for the beginning of the second decade. This past week, while this article was being written, the legendary Harlem Globetrotters stopped in our studios, with the great Curly Neal as the spekesperson. New Lknow why Curly Neal as the spokesperson. Now I know why

I shave my head!

What has really struck me regarding the radio and television industry is the ever increasing newer formats. HDTV and internet access continues to be strong. KNCI HD is now called "Ranch Country". Check this out, if you have a computer, go to www.kncifm.com and click on Ranch Country. KNCI is streaming on the internet with great country classics of the past. And for the religious at heart, KNCI has an eight-hour gospel music program also streaming online. Check it out at KNCIFM.com on Sundays.

What a ride! ... More to come. Chuck Martin

The statistics are clear. About every two seconds, someone in America needs blood. Every day, 34,000 donations are needed in the United States to help save the lives of cancer patients, accident victims, children with blood disorders among others. This affects every member of our community, where they work, live and play, (Next Col.)

Daniel Pierce Library

Between the Baakends

January 2010

The decorations and holiday books have been put away for another year. The warm winter hats collected initially to decorate our tree in Bicentennial Park are being distributed to area children to warm their heads. Your friends here at the Daniel Pierce Library are busy doing their "winter work." This translates into planning for calendar events and programs for 2010. We are choosing books, felt stories and crafts for our Pre-School Children's Programs. In March, letters will go out to previously participating families, publicity will be widely distributed inviting new families, and registrations will be accepted. Our variety of Story Hours will begin the week of April 12, 2010. Registration forms may currently be found on our website at www.danielpiercelibrary.org.

Several Adult Programs continue to meet at the Library on Thursday afternoons at 1:00 p.m. On the first Thursday of each month, the book discussion group "1st Thursdays" meets. "Writer's Circle" meets on the 2nd and 4th Thursdays of each month. The "Alchemy" poets meet on the 3rd Thursday of each month. All of these readers and writers enjoy their gatherings and love to welcome new members.

As extensive detail and finishing work progress on the new Library, the ongoing need for financial support continues. We offer many thanks to all the individuals who have contributed so generously to this great community proj-

We continue to add books, DVDs and CDs to our growing collection, and invite you to come in to see what is available. One of our most recent additions is the newly released CD, "From My Perspective." This recording, with original music and lyrics by local artist Paul Lounsbury, is a collection of instrumentals and ballads composed over the past forty years, and recorded locally at the studio of Larry Kitzmiller in Woodbourne, NY.

UC COMPTROLLER ANNOUNCES STAFF CHANGES

Marla B. Siegel, Esquire joins Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach's staff and will assume the research and analysis duties formerly held by Laura F. Walls as Walls takes on the role as Deputy Comptroller.

Siegel spent four years as director of research and senior analyst with KROLL INC, a company specializing in business intelligence and investigations as well as compliance and integrity consulting. She has a law degree from Albany Law School and a Bachelor of Science degree from Union College.

Walls spent the past year assisting Comptroller Auerbach in developing the role of and procedures for the newly established Office of the Comptroller. In addition, she had oversight responsibility for each of the ten reports issued by the Office in its first year.

Laura F. Walls was co-founder and president of the community development consulting firm Shingebiss Associates, Inc. that raised over $100 million for Hudson Valley projects before closing its doors. She was research director of Pattern for Progress, a regional public policy and research institute, where she led the Global Hudson Valley Initiative. Elected Gardiner Town Supervisor in 2000, Walls served one term in which she revamped the budgeting process and implemented needed financial safeguards. Her 9 years on the New Paltz Board of Education illustrates her value of lifelong learning as integral to effective public policy.

In lauding the skills and attributes of Siegel and Walls, Auerbach also noted his appreciation for the staff he inherited when he came into office. "The professionalism and institutional knowledge of my staff are to be credited with our ability to accomplish so much in this one, inaugural year of the Office of the Comptroller," said Auerbach, "our role as watchdog for Ulster County offers great promise in

HINCHEY JOINS CENSUS BUREAU OFFICIALS AT GRAND OPENING OF LOCAL CENSUS OFFICE FOR ORANGE, SULLI-VAN AND DELAWARE COUNTIES

Congressman Maurice Hinchey (D-NY) and U.S. Census Bureau officials today formally opened the local Census Bureau office for Orange, Sullivan, and Delaware counties. Hinchey and Census Bureau officials discussed the importance of the 2010 Census for New York and encouraged public participation in the census. Hinchey and Census Bureau officials also discussed upcoming job openings related to the collection of census data.

"A full participation in the 2010 Census among local residents will help ensure that the region gets it fair share of federal resources," Hinchey said. "It is extremely important that everyone living in the area fills out the surveys they will receive in March so that our region is not shortchanged and receives the full level of federal funding it needs and deserves. The 2010 Census also presents a very good opportunity for thousands of area residents to gain temporary, part-time employ-ment while helping to ensure that their communities are accurately counted."

The U.S. Constitution requires a national census once every 10 years to count the population and determine the number of seats each state will have in the U.S. House of Representatives. The information the U.S. Census Bureau collects every 10 years on the U.S. population also helps to determine how more than $400 billion dollars in federal funding is spent each year on infrastructure and services such as hospitals, job training centers, schools, senior centers, and emergency services, as well as bridges, roads and other-public works projects. Maximizing participation in the 2010 Census by residents of the Hudson Valley and Catskills will help ensure that these regions receive their fair share of federal resources.

More than 130 million addresses throughout the U.S. will receive a census form in March 2010 either by mail or in person from a census worker. Households should complete and return their forms upon receipt. Addresses that do not respond will be visited in person by a census worker beginning in late April through July. With only 10 questions, the 2010 Census questionnaire takes approximately 10 minutes to complete. Households are asked to provide key demographic information, including: whether a housing unit is rented or owned; the address of the residence; and the names, genders, ages, and races of others living in the household. By law, the Census Bureau cannot share an individual's responses with anyone, including other federal agencies and law enforcement entities. (Contd. Pg 12)

The Census Bureau has been testing prospective applicants since October so that it has a large enough pool of applicants when its staffing needs peak. The Census Bureau is still giving the employment tests, which are required for all those seeking positions (scores determine the order of hiring). Individuals interested in obtaining a job with the Census Bureau can schedule a time to take the test by calling 1-866-861-2010. At this num-ber, job applicants will be asked for their zip code so that they can be directed to the appropriate local office (this number is good throughout the state). Individuals living in Orange, Sullivan and Delaware counties, which are served by the Newburgh office, can call the Newburgh recruit-ment officials directly at 845-476-3050. The various field positions provide compensation starting at $16 per hour along with reimbursement for certain travel expenses. More information is also available at: www.2010censusjobs.gov.

GILLIBRAND MAKES DIRECT APPEAL TO NATIONAL GRID USA: DON'T OUTSOURCE NEW YORK JOBS

With National Grid USA considering outsourcing much of its Northeast operations that would result in significant job losses across New York State, U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand stepped in and urged National Grid to reconsider plans and keep these jobs in New York.

According to recent news reports, National Grid is considering outsourcing much of its information services work, including software programming, computer networking and other functions. According to the reports, one request for proposals (RFP) for outside vendors has already been issued, with possibly three more to come in the coming months. The plan could send as many as 1,200 jobs in New York and New England overseas. National Grid USA made nearly $1.5 billion in profits last year, due in large part to the quality American workforce it relies on.

In a letter to Tom King, President of National Grid USA, Senator Gillibrand wrote, "In this economic time it is very disconcerting to hear that any company would consider outsources its jobs to overseas businesses when we have a competent and capable workforce here in the United States. A workforce that you have been utilizing since 2002. It is even more upsetting to know that a company who made $1.43 billion in profits last year would look for ways to cut costs by reducing it employees."

by reducing it employees."

In addition to urging Chief Executive Holliday to keep these jobs in New York State, Senator Gillibrand is also working with businesses in all sectors in all regions of the state to keep their workforces right here in New York, and is working on new legislation that would encourage businesses to start hiring again - putting New Yorkers back to work. This fall, Senator Gillibrand launched her Innovation Agenda to increase America's competitiveness in the global economy, keep and attract more high-tech businesses to New York, and create more high-tech jobs in New York.

PRESIDENT OBAMA & SENATOR BONACIC AGREE ON 12)S e n a t o r Bonacic, who has introduced and passed legislation in the Senate to create the Hudson School of Math, Science and Engineering agrees with President Obama that our high schools too often trail many other countries in areas like math and science.

According to Bonacic, "We specialize in schools for cosmetology, auto repair and numerous other hands-on careers. It is wonderful when a young person identifies a career that they have a strong interest in and want to focus on. Yet, while we offer specialty schools for some career paths in the Hudson Valley, we fail to offer specialist schools for students who want to go into neurosurgery, quantum physics, or advanced solar energy." (Contd. Pg. 13)

OBAMA AND BONACIC (From Pg. 12)

While Bonacic's legislation has had bi-partisan support, with unanimous support in the Senate, during the past three years, the State Assembly has not acted on the legislation. Bonacic's legislation is supported by the leadership of BOCES, SUNY New Paltz, Orange County Community College and Ulster County Community College as well as numerous local business leaders. Run by BOCES, it would encourage innovation by students and would create career paths in the Hudson Valley, allowing students in area schools with common interests to come together and learn specialized skills in areas of math, engineering and science.

Implemented by the Obama administration, The State Fiscal Stabilization Fund (SFSF) program, a new one-time appropriation of $53.6 billion under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA) became effective. These funds are distributed directly to states to:

· Help stabilize state and local government budgets in order to minimize and avoid reductions in education and other essential public services.

 Help ensure that local educational agencies (LEAs) and public institutions of higher education (IHEs) have the resources to avert cuts and retain educational personnel and staff.

 Help support the modernization, renovation, and repair of school and college facilities.

· Help advance early learning through post-secondary education reforms to benefit students and r families.

As of today, $2,203,172,739 in State Fiscal Stabilization funds have been awarded to New York

COMPTROLLER AUERBACH RELEAS-ES LEGISLATIVE REPORT CARD

Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach announced a new reporting medium he is calling Measure 2 Manage. "Borrowing from the adage, 'If you can't measure it, you can't manage it," explained Auerbach, "we believe this is an effective and affordable way to report government spending, efficiency and effectiveness.

Measure 2 Manage is a series of short, 1 -2 page, snap shots portraying the use of County resources. This inaugural Measure 2 Manage report documents legislator attendance in 2009. The report identifies for each Ulster County Legislator the percentage of meetings attended including regular sessions of the legislature, public hearings and committee meetings.

The report provides factual background information regarding the role of the Legislature and the over $500,000.00 of salaries and benefits provided

Future Measure 2 Manage reports will share information such as property leases the county has entered into, mileage reimbursement for personal vehicle use, EZ Pass use, hotel-motel occupancy tax collection and gas and diesel fuel consumption "On a daily basis my office generates data worthy of analysis," said Auerbach, "this data can be valuable to managers. By presenting the data in a useable format, the work of my staff will contribute to a culture of data-driven decision making within the County and within the community."

The Ulster County Charter crafted the Office of the Comptroller to serve an independent analyst of county functions and finances. The Comptroller is to be a watchdog who reports on economic, effi-ciency and effectiveness findings. In this role, the Comptroller has identified the importance of education and creative thinking as key components.

"We want this data to cause people to pause and reflect and question," said Auerbach, "and in so doing, create new strategies, ideas and concepts for continuous improvement in governance."

THE ROLE OF THE ULSTER COUNTY LEGISLATURE

The Ulster County Charter empowers the Legislature with the authority to adopt the budget, levy taxes, incur debt; create, amend or abolish local laws; approve vendor contracts and change orders in excess of $50,000; approve labor contracts; set salaries for non-union employees; create, amend or abolish county administrative units; set the equalization rate among the taxing entities with-

HINCHEY SECURES FINAL CONGRES-SIONAL APPROVAL OV $1.6 FOR ARMOR DYNAMICS IN KINGSTON

Congressman Maurice Hinchey (D-NY) announced that he has secured final congressional approval of a $1.6 million federal investment for Armor Dynamics in order to assist the Kingstonbased company with bringing its advanced reactive armor system to market while creating and saving jobs. Hinchey used his position on the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense to obtain the funds as part of the fiscal year 2010 Defense Appropriations bill, which the House passed this week (Contd. and the Senate is expected to approve this weekend. The bill will then move to the White House for the president's approval.

"This federal investment will create or save 10 jobs in Kingston right now and pave the way for the likely creation of two dozen more jobs within the next two years from federal contracts that Armor Dynamics will be well-positioned to receive," Hinchey said. "I was very pleased to obtain these funds to support a growing employer in Kingston that is making an important contribution to the wellbeing of our troops. This money will help Armor Dynamics grow and create jobs in Kingston while providing equipment to our military that will protect and save the lives of the men and women serving in our armed forces."

Armor Dynamics is the developer of Magmacore Armor -- a patented composite armor technology that is designed to improve human survivability. The company will use the federal funds to develop a more sophisticated reactive armor system for U.S. military vehicles that would provide U.S. troops with unprecedented protection from Improvised Explosive Devices (IEDs), Explosively Formed Penetrators (EFPs), and other weapons and explosives. The Magmacore Reactive Armor would be fitted for a variety of lightweight military vehicles.

Armor Dynamics President and CEO David Warren said, "We are grateful to Congressman Hinchey for his unparalleled commitment to promoting the development of the innovation economy and job growth in our community. This funding will support our research partnership with the US Army and lead to innovative solutions that will better protect our combat soldiers." Armor Dynamics will utilize the funding that Hinchey secured in two phases. The first phase will be for testing and development that includes, but is not limited to, paying for engineers, scientists, equipment, raw material and testing facility costs. The company plans to use the remainder of the funding for the continuation of testing and development in preparation for market release. The company's product will be lighter, stronger and less expensive than competitive armor systems. The Magmacore Reactive Armor system would provide superior levels of protection by using proprietary technologies, advanced composite and custom-configured ceramic materials. Additionally, the advanced armor systems can be easily modified as threats evolve, and can be adapted to specific combat and threat conditions in the field.

Armor Dynamics is located within the Kingston Business Park, which Hinchey helped establish in 1996 by securing $1.8 million in federal funds. That investment has resulted in a variety of businesses staying in the business park or moving to it, including Armor Dynamics.

Identifies Potential for Millions in Taxpayer Savings'

County Executive Mike Hein convened a meeting with Town Supervisors and Town Highway Superintendents, as well as representatives from the Ulster County Legislature, Pattern for Progress and the Center for Research, Regional

Education and Outreach (CRREO) of SUNY New Paltz. The meeting was called to outline an innovative, decentralized approach to delivering highway services in Ulster County.

What was proposed today is the largest shared services initiative in the history of Ulster County and, according to consultant's projections, it has the potential for million of dollars in savings to Town and County taxpayers.

"This innovative program calls for the decentralization of various highway services, from the County to the Towns, starting with the plowing, salting and sanding of County owned roads, and when in place, it will provide extensive cost savings. This overhaul will reduce duplication, provide better services and safer roads, and will do so at a lower cost to our collective taxpayers. If elected leaders are willing to work together in a non-partisan way, there's no telling how much we can accomplish," said County Executive Hein. He added, "When this overhaul is completed, no longer will residents see a municipal snowplow drive with its plow up over an unplowed road simply because it's not "theirs".

This shared services approach is a clear path to savings for Town and County taxpayers and, in my view, represents the future of government."

New York State Secretary of State Lorraine Cortes-Vazquez said, "I am extremely pleased that the Department of State was able to support Ulster County's innovative proposal to improve highway services and create cost savings for its residents. This type of inter-municipal collaboration to reduce the cost of delivering key public services, such as safe highways, is an important means to control property tax increases. It is precisely the kind of out-of-the box thinking that I hope is replicated by more communities across the state.

John Valk, Supervisor of the Town of Shawangunk and President of the Ulster County Association of Supervisors and Mayors said, "With the Highway Superintendents on board, this program will provide our residents with safer roads during snowstorms and save money too. It is a very worthwhile pursuit.'

"I'm open to exploring any innovative idea that can help us provide better services and safer roads, at a lower cost. I'm sure there are many details to be worked out, however, I think that we can move forward and I think that a collaborative approach to our common challenges is a good way to go," said Gael Marlborough and President of the Ulster County Association of Highway Superintendents.

The meeting was convened by County Executive Hein to review the findings and recommendations contained in a New York State Department of State grant-funded Shared Municipal Services Study, commissioned by Ulster County in May of 2008. The study was conducted by Pattern for Progress and included extensive interviews with Town officials. The study was designed to identify potential savings opportunities in a number of operational areas, including highway services. The study also researched successful programs and models being utilized by other communities throughout New York

Expanding upon recommendations contained in the study and working with elected officials from all of the Towns, the County Executive proposed a decentralized, coordinated approach to the delivery of highway services, starting with the plowing, sanding and salting of County roads. This plan would offer the greatest opportunity for savings for County and Town taxpayers and could be implemented relatively quickly. One of the key factors in the County Executive's determination was the award of a $481 thousand dollar grant, from the New York State Department of State to Ulster County and participating Towns, for the installation of an Automatic Vehicle Locator (AVL) System on all County and Town highway vehicles. The AVL system makes it possible to track vehicles in "real time" and thus to coordinate the timing and completion of snow plowing routes over a wide geographic area.

As a result of today's meeting, an Implementation Committee is being formed consisting of members of the Ulster County Association of Town Supervisors and Mayors, the Ulster County Association of Highway Superintendents, the Ulster County Legislature and representatives from the Executive's Administration, including the Commissioner of UC MOVES TO PARTNER WITH TOWNS
FOR BETTER, FASTER AND LOWER COST HIGHWAY SERVICES "Study"

Administration, including the Commissioner of Public Works. The committee will be tasked with analyzing data and developing an action plan for implementing the new strategy prior to the presentaimplementing the new strategy prior to the presenta-tion of Town Budgets for the 2011 fiscal year. The Committee's initial report is to be delivered to the County Executive within 45 days.

Implementation of the proposed strategy requires the negotiation of inter-municipal agreements between the County and participating Towns. These agreements are subject to approval by the Ulster

County Legislature and participating Town Boards

GILLIBRAND TO FEDS: EXTEND DEAD-LINE TO RECYCLE CLUNKERS

Six Month Deadline Not Enough Time for Scrap Yards Inundated With "Cash for Clunker" Trade-Ins

To give scrap yards the time they need to properly recycle vehicles that were traded in during this summer's successful Car Allowance Rebate System (CARS) "Cash for Clunkers" program, U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand urged the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) to extend by an additional 90 days the original 6-month deadline to destroy traded-in vehicles. Scrap yards were inundated with trade-ins as a result of the popular "Cash for Clunkers" program and are now struggling to recycle cars and car parts in time to meet the 6-month deadline imposed on them. The majority of cars would need to be scrapped before May.

In a letter to Ronald Medford, Acting Deputy Administrator for NHTSA, Senator Gillibrand wrote, "The spirit of the CARS program was to help the environment while at the same time creating jobs and rejuvenating the automotive industry in this country. These scrap yards simply need more time to process these old cars, so they can harvest a higher percentage of the salvageable parts. This recycling process is environmentally friendly and good for the economy. While helping the part sales industry, it will also save car owners money by supplying them with used parts at a fraction of the cost of new parts."

CARS was a program where old, inefficient vehicles could be traded in with a discount for a new, more efficient car as long as it met certain requirements. Initially, the program was to dedicate $1 billion for rebates, which could reach up to $4500 per vehicle. The program was so successful that it was extended by an additional $2 billion. This extension increased the number of cars in the program by approximately 200 percent.

One of the stipulations in the program is that cars turned in via CARS would need to be scrapped within 6 months of their trade-in date. Since the original program was tripled, scrap yards have been unable to process the influx of vehicles that were traded-in within the time frame originally set. In addition, used car parts dealers store the harvested used parts inside the car until the time of sale. This caused a substantial storage shortage.

A 6-month extension would give scrap yards and Appler, Highway Superintendent of the Town of used parts dealers the time they need to process these cars and more time to sell the parts.

GILLIBRAND, BIPARTISAN GROUP OF SENATORS INTRODUCE LEGISLATION TO HELP JUMPSTART LENDING TO SMALL BUSINESSES, CREATE JOBS

U.S. Kirsten Gillibrand and a bipartisan group of her colleagues introduced a bill to spur small business growth and create jobs by increasing access to loans from credit unions. The Small Business Lending Enhancement Act of 2009 was co-sponsored by Senators Charles Schumer (D-NY), Joseph Lieberman (I-CT), Olympia Snowe (R-ME), Barbara Boxer (D-CA), Susan Collins (R-ME), and Mark Udall (D-CO).

The bill is in response to pleas the Senators have heard from small business owners in their states. In the past 15 years, small businesses generated nearly twothirds of all new jobs created in the United States - yet during the economic crisis, small business owners have struggled to access credit they need to expand. This is in part because big banks have tightened their lending and partly because of a lack of access to loans from credit unions.

The Senators' legislation is designed to increase access to credit union loans. By law, credit unions are required to limit member business lending to 12.25 percent of the credit union's total assets. The Senators' bill would raise that cap to 25 percent of total assets, and increase the minimum business loan subject to the cap from $50,000 to $250,000.

"If we're going to create new jobs and rebuild our economy for the long term, small businesses need more access to credit," Senator Gillibrand said. "This common-sense legislation would free up lending at not-forprofit credit unions in every corner of America to small businesses. This would give small businesses more of the capital they need to get off the ground, grow and get hundreds of thousands of Americans back to work.

According to the Credit Union National Association, these sensible reforms will increase small business lending by $10 billion within the first year of their enactment, producing more than 100,000 new jobs.

Furthermore, the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), the independent federal regulator with oversight of credit unions, supports this legislation. In a letter to the Treasury Department, NCUA Chairman Debbie Matz wrote, "NCUA supports a proper balance of serving business lending needs with a prudent regulatory framework to protect safety of the institutions and the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund.... Credit union member business loans total over $27 billion in assets. The potential is much greater both for credit unions and for small businesses.

The legislation would also encourage more credit unions to extend credit to small businesses. Under the current law, many credit unions find it difficult to start member business lending programs because the cost of meeting high regulatory and staffing requirements is too expensive relative to the cap. Credit unions say that raising the amount they are able to lend would make it easier to recover costs, and therefore would increase the number of credit unions able to start small business loan programs.

NYSAC EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ON STATE GOVERNOR'S OF STATE ADDRESS

NYSAC Executive Director Stephen J. AcquarioGovernor David Paterson introduced a blueprint for New York State to emerge from this recession. County leaders from across the state look forward to reviewing the details of many of these initiatives, especially the economic development programs. Fostering job growth is critical for New York State to come out of this economic downturn stronger than before. Linking higher education and our businesses in ways that create emerging industries would spur job growth in our communities. All efforts should focus on a renewed commitment to retaining and creating jobs in all areas of the state.

"BE MINE TOO" AN EXHIBI-ABOUT TION LOVE ALLIANCE GALLERY

Be Mine Too," Alliance Gallery's second annual exhibition of photographs, collage, poetry, and "poem objects" celebrating the universal theme of love, opens on Saturday, January 30, 2010 with an opening reception from 2 - 4 p.m. The exhibit runs throughout the Valentine's Day season, closing on Saturday, February 20.

"In February, residents of the Catskills can use a lit-tle warmth," says Alliance Gallery director Rocky Pinciotti. "The concept of an exhibition based on romance, love, desire, and affection is not a unique idea, but it is an engaging one."

Mary Greene of the Upper Delaware Writers Collective and the River Reporter curated the poetry portion of the exhibition. The poets will create "poem objects" to sculpturally illustrate their words and will also recite their poems during the opening reception.

Photographers and collage artists include Linda Berkowicz, Norma Bernstock, Nada Clyne, Gloria Forelli, Edith Gould, Kristin Gronbeck, Erica Hart, Philip Hazard, JoAnne Kalish, Lindell McElfresh, Brandi Merolla, Sarah Sax, Bill Strouse, and Leslie Yudelson. Poets featured in the show are Cass Collins, Will Conway, Lorraine Davis, Rees Davis, Briar DeHaven, Nancy Dymond, Kathy Grimaldi, Judith Lechner, Sandy Long, Jane Luchsinger, Pamela Lundgren, Georganna Millman, Mimi Moriarty, and Corinne Robins.

"Be Mine Too" is a continuation of last winter's photography and poetry show. New this year is the inclusion of artistic collages. "It is a medium that lends itself extremely well to the spontaneous creative expression of emotion that is the essence of the exhibition," says Pinciotti. Last year's opening reception brought out an overflow crowd.

This exhibit, free and open to the public, is spon-sored by the Delaware Valley Arts Alliance, the Arts Council for Sullivan County, NY, and is made possible in part with funding from the Visual Arts Program of the New York State Council on the Arts.

Alliance Gallery is located at the Delaware Arts Center at 37 Main Street, Narrowsburg, NY. Hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information about the exhibit call (845) 252-7576 or visit www.ArtsAllianceSite.org.

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION DONATES FUNDS FOR ASK'S EXTERIOR STAIR PROJECT

The Arts Society of Kingston, ASK, has been awarded a grant of $5,000 from funds provided by an anonymous donor through the Community Foundation of Dutchess County.

Given in person by Cynthia A. Lowe, Director of the Ulster County Community Foundation and Nevill Smythe, Vice President of Programs of the Community Foundation of Dutchess County, during December's First Saturday art reception, this generous donation will be put toward an essential fire escape project for ASK's Regional Art Center located at 97 Broadway, Kingston.

Katharine McKenna, ASK's president, had one goal before stepping down, to take ASK to the next level. Literally. In order to get to the next level, or upstairs, the building would need a fire escape or external stair. She made this the focus of her November 2009 President's Circle Reception with a funding goal of $40,000.

A matching grant of $12,500 from Markertek of Saugerties has been met with $2,890 from the President's Circle membership, $5,000 from the Community Development Block Grant administered by the City of Kingston, and now $5,000 from the anonymous donor. These funds make a total of $25,390 (Next Col.)

raised for the exterior stairway.

The exterior staircase will allow ASK to apply for temporary permits to use the second floor for classes, small group activities, and performances. The renovation of the building with the end goal of a 99-seat stateof-the-art theater and classroom is ongoing. Walters-Storyk Design Group based in Highland has drawn up building plans. Previous Community Block Grants administered by the City of Kingston have funded ADA compliant bathrooms upstairs and down, given the foyer of the building a face-lift, and funded the insulation of office and gallery spaces.

The Arts Society of Kingston's mission is to be a regional multi-arts center. With useable space on the second floor at ASK will be one step closer to that goal.

This year ASK has hosted more than 10 performances in the main gallery on a temporary stage including: the second annual Playwrights' Lab Festival; "Turbulent Voyage, A Domestic Retelling of Henry Hudson's Epic Explorations," a play by Paul Cooper; and award-winning Gustafer Yellowgold in his Kingston debut.

What's going on in the Gnome GneighborhoodTM this week?

On Jan 15, 1929: Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was born. For more information on Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. try the Daniel Pierce Library, or on line, http://nobelprize.org/nobel_prizes/peace/laureates/1964/king-bio.html

Next Benjamin Franklin's birthday and that was on Jan 17, 1706. He is one of 'Gnomedom's' favorite people who lived an interesting and active life. Benjamin Franklin was not only one of the Founding Fathers of the United States but he was a leading writer, publisher, inventor, diplomat, scientist, and philosopher. He is well known for his experiments with electricity and lightning, for publishing "Poor Richard's Almanac," and the Pennsylvania Gazette. He served as Postmaster General under the Continental Congress, and later became a prominent abolitionist. He is credited with inventing the lightning rod, the Franklin stove, and bifocals. One of his most famous quotes is, "If you would not be forgotten, as soon as you are dead and rotten, either write things worth reading, or do things worth the writing." ~ B. Franklin. For more information on Ben Franklin try Daniel Pierce Library, or on-line at:

Ben died peacefully in his sleep on April 17, 1790. He was 84 years old.

Bye, Knarf Odnamoc
