Tri-Valley Junior FBLA is Active Over the Holidays

by Kira Ambrosi, Junior FBLA Reporter So you've heard about Jr. FBLA and what we do for the community in a prior article.

TV Scores Another Victory!

Robert Worden, Jr. steps up to and catches the ball at last Wednesday night's game. Another victory this season for the Tri-Valley Bears!

Tri-Valley downed Tuxedo on Wednesday evening, beating Tuxedo with a score of 81 to 25.

Wednesday night's win confirms the statement that the Bears are looking to be aggressive both on defense and offense. They will take the ball whenever they can.

Recently, everyone has celebrated the holidays. What's a better time to help out our community than the holiday season? So, what has Jr. FBLA done? A Senior Citizen luncheon. Over the course of one month, Mr. Haynes and Mrs. Swarthout helped the officers plan this luncheon. The Senior Citizen luncheon is when the Jr. FBLA hosts the senior citizens of the town to a free holiday feast, in which the Jr. FBLA members are the waiters and waitresses, entertainment, and clean-up committee. #### DAYS OF YORE....

Today's History

January 11, 1956 - Donald Erath of Grahamsville, was elected President of the Grahamsville Choral Society on Wednesday evening at the organization's first meeting of the season at Tri Valley School

January 12, 1966 - Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Leroy announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Deagle, to James Durland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Durland of Rye, N.Y. Dorothy graduated from Tri Valley High School and is employed at Mayfair Trading Corp. in South Fallsburg. Her fiancé graduated from Port Jervis High School and served two years in the U. S. Tymers in Sparrowbush, N.Y.

Miss Nancy Seaman of Neversink has sold her general store to her niece, Mrs. Jessie Bailey. Mrs. Seaman will make her home there and we wish her many years of good health and happiness in her

A Round About Tri-Valley

 Carol Furman Condolences to the family and friends of James Caruso, Jr. of Grahamsville. James passed away on December 29th at the age of 83. Russell Hill, a Tri-Valley graduate, passed away on January 1st at the age of 39 and Gregory S. DeGraw of Woodbourne, age 50, also died on January 1st. Thoughts and prayers go out to these families.

Many years ago, a plane crashed on Van Wyck Mountain in Peekamoose. On Saturday, January 2nd, Doug Hamilton of Grahamsville led the Boy Scouts on a hike up to the crash spot. Everyone wore warm clothing and carried hot soup for lunch. The Scouts thank Doug for taking his time to guide their hike.

Just before Christmas, I had the opportunity to go to the Sight and Sound Theatre in Lancaster to see "The Miracle of Christmas". The presentation was fantastic complete with live animals and angels flying overhead. The shows at Sight and Sound are always very well attended and as I looked around I was unable to see any empty seats in the audience. Starting in March, the Sight and Sound Theatre will begin presenting the story of Tri-Valley elves, both young and old, donated toys, clothing and food to about 75 area children and their families to help make their Christmas a little merrier.

What a nice thing to do!!

Congratulations to Riley Kelly, a Tri-Valley student, who won the 8-9 yr. old girls hoop shoot held in Liberty on January 2nd. The hoop shoot is sponsored by the Elks. Riley is now eligible to compete in the District competition which will be held in January. Can you believe it? I've begun receiving seed catalogs already! I thought they used to arrive later in February. Since winter was late arriving this year, I haven't even begun to think about spring. Due to the lack of snow, our cattle were able to stay out in the pasture behind the barn longer than usual. It's only been this past week, when the temperatures really dropped, that we started bringing them inside at night. We had two heifer calves born on Christmas Day.

It's amazing! Each time Pete and I go for an appoint-ment at Crystal Run Healthcare in Rock Hill I see someone I know to sit and chat with while waiting to be called in. This past week I had an opportunity to sit and visit with Patsy Marshalek from Woodbourne. She brought me up-to-date on the number of grandchildren and greatgrandchildren she has. Patsy was one of the first people I met when I moved to Sullivan County in 1964.

Heard while standing on line in Shopite: "I can only please one person per day. Today is not your day.

Tomorrow is not looking good either."

Words of Wisdom: Although weather forecasters are becoming more accurate, they are still several hours behind arthritis.

Medical specialization has reached such a state today that patients have to learn to diagnose themselves before they know which specialist to call.

Days of Yore... (From Pg. 20

January 14, 1976 - Dr. Charles S. Rubenstein, 79, of Neversink, died at Community General Hospital, Liberty. He was born in Syracuse on August 27, 1896 to Abraham and Bessie Levine Rubenstein and was an 11-year resident of the area. He was married to the former Sylvia Komorsky. He is survived by his widow; two sons, Lionel of East Northport, N.Y. and Brian, at home; three daughters from out of the area, two stepsons, Steve and Glenn Komorsky, both of Neversink; one brother and one sister, also from out of the area.

January 23, 1986 - Congratulations to Cecelia Rutkowski of Grahamsville who has been promoted to associate director for Community General Hospital of Sullivan County. Mrs. Rutkowski has been associated with Community Gen.

Hospital since 1968.

Harry Rubenzahl of Neversink, a self-employed bulk mail distributor, and a 46-year area resident, died unexpectedly Monday, January 13th at Ellenville Community Hospital. He was 56. The son of the late Moe and Clara Morell Rubenzahl, he was born Nov. 29, 1929. Mr. Rubenzahl was a member and treasurer of the Neversink Fire Department and the Neversink Ambulance Corps, and the Neversink "Fireman of the Year" in 1975. He was also a former Cub and Boy Scout Master. He is survived by his wife, Marion Budow Rubenzahl, at home; four sons: Moe, Arthur and Murray, all of California and Marty of Puerto Rico.

The Time and the Valleys Museum is a living and interactive resource that preserves the past, educates the present and ensures the uniqueness of the Rondout and Neversink watersheds for all generations. The museum's three floors share the history of the area and includes a permanent exhibit, "The Impact of Water on the Life and Growth of the Valleys," the exhibit "Tunnels, Toil and Trouble: New York City's Quest for Water and the Rondout-Neversink Story" and the most recent collaborative exhibit entitled "Celebrating Catskill Waters: Past and Present," an exhibition of water recreation in Sullivan County and the Catskills.

The Time and the Valleys Museum is open Memorial Day to Labor Day, Thursday to Sunday, Noon to 4 p.m. and September through November on weekends from noon-4 p.m. The research room is open on Thursdays from 1-4 p.m. and Sundays by appointment. Admission is by suggested donation of $5 for adults, $2 for children ages 6-16, and free for children under the age of six.

To learn more about the Time and the Valleys Museum, special events and programs, the latest exhibits, or about bringing your school or organization on a tour, visit the website at www.timeandthevalleysmuseum.org or call 845-985-7700.

Become a Museum Docent

Become a Museum Docent. On Sunday, March 20th at 2 p.m come and learn about our popular educational field trip program for K to 12 students, and the help we need to keep the program going. Hundreds of students visit the Museum every year eager to learn about local history, and we don't have enough help to accommodate all of the classes!

If you have a little free time and think you might like to help, please join us for the afternoon. No pressure- just learn about the program. If you are interested in becoming a docent, great! If not, that's o.k., information on other volunteer opportunities will also be available. You don't need teaching experience to work with students, and will be fully trained and comfortable before beginning. Refreshments are included. This event is FREE.

> Zumbathon to Benefit Local Student

It isn't every day that a young woman is plucked from the hills of upstate New York to compete thousands of miles away in an elite, international Track and Field competition! Tri-Valley ninth-grader, Katerina Plescia is the second student from Tri-Valley to receive such an invitation! Brittany Pennel competed last year in cross country, and had a amazing experience on and off the course.

The prestigious Down Under Sports Tournaments are hosted on the Gold Coast of Australia annually, and this year, Katerina Plescia was selected to be a member of the Track and Field team. Not only is she proud to represent her school and community, she is thrilled to be able to represent our nation in what has become an exciting international competition.

In order to be able to participate in the tournament, Katerina and her family will need our community's assistance. On Friday, January 22, there will be a Zumbathon and Raffle to benefit Katerina's Down Under Fund, from 6:00-7:30 p.m. at the Neversink Fire House, with registration at 5:30, with $10 entrance fee. $5 toward your raffle ticket with each entry! Enter to win a 50" flat screen TV or cash prizes.

For information, or to purchase raffle tickets in advance, please visit:

The Vibrant Red Cardinal

While visiting my sister, Elise over the holidays we all witnessed a visitor on her front porch. It was a beautiful red male cardinal. The male cardinals are brilliant red all over, with a reddish bill and black face immediately around the bill. Females are pale brown overall with warm reddish tinges in the wings, tail, and crest and have the same black face and red-orange bill.

Cardinals don't migrate nor do they molt. Their plumage remains vibrant and full and they are very attractive during winter. Cardinals are also active songbirds and sing a variety of different

They are easily seen at bird feeders but may be inconspicuous away from them, at least until you learn their loud, metallic chip note. Cardinals tend to sit low in shrubs and trees or forage on or near the ground, often in pairs.

Typically pairs remain together the whole year, however in winter the bond may be relaxed. Pairs often stay mated until one dies at which time the surviving mate will look for another partner.

Males can be aggressive when defending their territory, and they frequently attack other males who intrude. This tendency sometimes leads cardinals to fly into glass windows, when they charge an "intruding bird" that is really their own reflection.

The breeding season can run from March to as late as September. The female will lay 2-5 eggs that are buff-white with dark marks. The female is the only one to incubate the eggs. The males duty during this time is to feed her on the nest and protect their territory from intruders.

The female will incubate the eggs for 12- 3

When the eggs hatch, both will feed the young. The young leave the nest in 9-11 days after hatching. Often the young are unable to fly much the first day or two after fledging.

Each season the pair will attempt to raise two broods. A new nest will be constructed for second brood by the female. The male continues to feed the first set of young for up to two weeks after leaving the nest. During this time the female usually will be incubating her second clutch.

This will keep the male busy by continuing to feed the female, the first brood, and still protecting their territory.

Any males born this coming spring season will initially look like the female but by next winter they will have the more pronounced black mask, crest, and red feathers of adult males.

During the winter, Cardinals eat seeds and berries and like to perch while eating at bird feed-

You're likely to notice that they are often the first birds to the feeders in the morning and the last birds to eat in the evening. You are apt to see a beautiful red Cardinal just before dusk while it is still light enough to appreciate his beautiful red plumage. If you want to attract cardinals to your birdfeeder, their favorite seed types are, Black-oil Sunflower seed and Safflower seed.

Household Hints

Better Poached Eggs
When you are poaching eggs, adding a couple of tablespoons of vinegar to the water will keep your eggs in tight shape by preventing the egg whites from spreading.

The Devil's Share

by John Dwaine McKenna I have a theory about book covers that goes like this: The size of the author's name is in inverse proportion to their fame. In other words, popular best-selling writers like Michael Connolly and James Lee Burke will have their names emblazoned on the cover in much larger type than the title. My favorite example of this is a new novel with TOM CLANCY, who's been dead for assuming that that's because the dead writer's estate and the publisher want to keep cashing in on the Clancy franchise for as long as we'll keep buying them. A shame, on them and on us, because it's bait and switch in my opinion, as well as a diminution of the writer's talent and legacy for purposes of avarice, greed and cupidity. Now that I got that off my chest, I'm happy to point out that although this week's author is growing in popularity, the book title is still larger than his name, which shows respect for the writer's craft.

The Devil's Share, (Minotaur Books, $25.99, 263 pages, ISBN 978-1-250-06575-9) by Wallace Stroby is his seventh novel and features his Crissa Stone character. She's a professional criminal with her own set of warped ethics which allow her to operate as an outlaw without any of the moral implications the rest of us observe. She's an anti-hero who thumbs her nose at all of society's conventions, yet manages somehow to endear herself to the reader . . . a testament to the writer's immense, and ever-expanding talent.

In The Devil's Share, Crissa, who's been laying low for the past year, contracts with a crooked art collector-dealer to hijack a truckload of ancient Assyrian sculptures that were looted from Iraq after the fall of the Saddam Hussein regime. The collector has plans of double-crossing the new Iraqi regime and the insurance company by having his own shipment stolen-a simple, low-risk takeback with no one hurt and no one wiser-leaving only the insurance company holding the bag. But what starts out as an easy "give-up" turns into a screw-up and Crissa finds herself and her team being hunted by a paramilitary team of professional killers. The tension drips from every page as the spare and precise dialogue moves the plot along at a breakneck pace. Read this one and see for yourself why Wallace Stroby is one of the hottest young authors to come along for quite some time . . . and now's your chance to get to know him before his name gets as big as a house on the cover!

CWC Hosts Exhibit of Walt Meade Wildlife P hotographs

A new exhibition, "Wildlife Portraits: Hand-colored Photographs by Walt Meade," is now on view at the Catskill Watershed Corporation (CWC), 905 Main Street, Margaretville.

The exhibit of 20 stunning black and white images, realistically hand colored by the legendary farmer, naturalist and avid outdoor photographer, can be seen weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through March 30. Originally mounted at the Roxbury Arts Group and subsequently at the Delaware County Historical Association (DCHA), the show celebrated the artist's 100th birthday in 2015. It features close-up photographs of Catskill Mountain denizens including fox and coyote, wild turkey and sparrow hawk, woodchuck and bobcat.

Walt Meade was born in Roxbury in 1915. He was an early student of nature and enjoyed fishing, hunting, trapping, digging ginseng and learning all he could about wildlife. From 1935 to 1956, he kept a remarkable hand-made book, The Outdoor Record, to preserve his photos and record his experiences in the out of doors and on his family farm.

With wife Letha, Walt operated a dairy farm in Montgomery Hollow and took every opportunity to go afield with camera in hand. He built a dark room in the pantry of their home and learned to make large black and white prints.

In the 1960s, Walt and Letha worked for Golfetto's Studio in Stamford coloring people's portraits. They soon applied the technique to Walt's wildlife images. After Letha's passing and the sale of the dairy, Walt became the farmer and nature teacher at Manhattan Country School Farm in Meeker Hollow, Roxbury where students from the New York City school spend several weeks each year learning about the natural world. MCS Farm Director Ginny Scheer became Walt's second wife.

In the 1980s he revived and perfected the hand coloration process, and his meticulously rendered photographs became highly sought. His nature essays appeared in regional magazines, and in 1991 his book In the Catskill Mountains: A Personal Approach to Nature was published by Purple Mountain Press of Fleischmanns. It is still in print.

Walt Meade died in 1993. His grandson, Jim Zuidema, published in 2015 The Outdoor Record of Walter F. Meade: The Early Experiences of a Catskill Mountains Naturalist. It is a facsimile of Walt's hand-made book, The Outdoor Record. Thanks to grants from the New York State Council on the Arts and the O'Connor Foundation, a copy of the facsimile will be placed in several public and college libraries in the Catskills region.

Works in the CWC exhibit are on loan from Ginny Scheer, who organized the show; and from the collections of Walt's daughter, Donna Meade Zuidema; DCHA and the Roxbury Arts Group.

CWC Environmental Rep Steps Down

Deborah DeWan, who has represented the environmental community on the Catskill Watershed Corporation's Board of Directors since the CWC was established in 199, has stepped down from the post.

DeWan was lauded by fellow Board members for her commitment to the Watershed and the CWC, and for her respectful manner in discussions about sometimes controversial issues. She became involved in negotiations between New York City, Watershed municipalities and the environmental community in 1994, three years before the New York City Watershed Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) creating the CWC was signed in 1997.

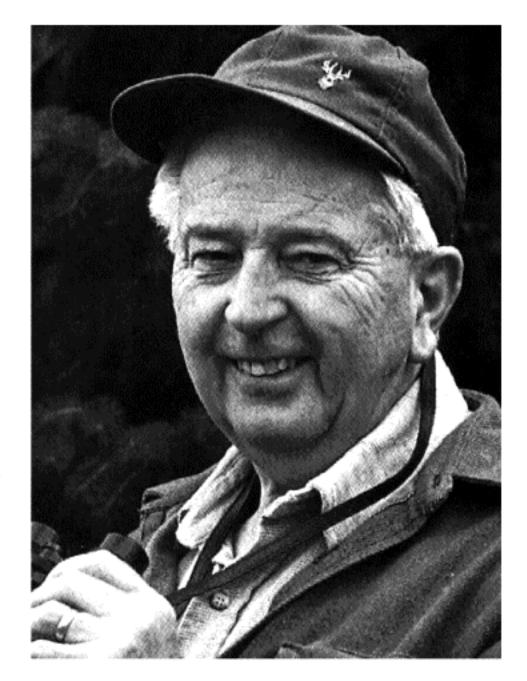

"It has been a remarkable experience," DeWan commented at the Board's monthly meeting in Margaretville January 5. "It's been an honor to have had the opportunity to play a role in the formative years of this organization, and to see it come this far.

She cited the responsibilities of her job as Executive Director of Rondout Valley Growers and with other organizations with which she is associated, as the reason for her departure from the CWC Board, effective immediately. "This role created at the outset has helped shaped the implementation of this historic agreement, and a lot has been accomplished," DeWan said. "It's important for that voice to continue to be at the table." She added, "And with everyone working together the CWC will achieve even more."

The CWC Board is made up of 15 people. Twelve of them are locally elected officials from the Catskill-Delaware New York City Watershed. One Board member is appointed by the Mayor of the City of New York. The Governor appoints two people -- one to represent the State's interests, and the other a person chosen by the five environmental groups who signed the MOA. Those organizations will nominate a replacement for DeWan to be appointed by the Governor.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Dame Rumor

"Where do rumors come from, Sir?" I was truly curious to know the answer.

"Where don't they come from? I suppose the majority of rumors are a combination of leaked information and the astounding imaginations of numerous storytellers. And, of course, the hope that things aren't really as boring as they seem on the surface."

Max Frei, The Stranger I made my weekly trek into Kingston, a journey of twenty miles to get a haircut and do errands. As I passed the IBM complex, vacant and lonely for over a decade, I noticed major demolition going on. "Such a great spot," I thought. It would make such a great campus for Kingston High School or a satellite campus for Ulster County Community College. It would also be a superb community park. Alas, it seems destined to lie fallow until someone or something recognizes its potential.

Then I drove by the new hotels being constructed. Do they know something I don't know? What is coming down the pike worth all this new construction? The hair salon is in the Hudson Valley Mall, the mall dealt another blow with the announcement that Macy's was closing soon after JC Penney's closed its doors. I figured if anyone knew anything about the mall's future, it would be the hairdressers who interact with so many people day in and day out.

So, here is the skinny on what's coming to Kingston...Rumor number one is that the mall is going to be transformed into a Woodbury Commons type of shopping center. Next, there is the rumor that Pixar Studios will take over the IBM complex and hire graphic designers. Then that same property might become Lego Land. It is also rumored that Six Flags has plans to move there. Another person thought HITS in Saugerties might relocate there.

So, I drove home knowing much more than I did driving into Kingston. Do I know what is going on there? I do not, but I am assured that I am in fine company because no one else, except Dame Rumor, seems to know either.

Rosendale Joins the City of Kingston Objecting to NYS Thruway Authority Participating as Co-lead Agency in the State Environmental Review of the Proposed Pilgrim Pipelines

The Town of Rosendale joined the City of Kingston in unanimously voting to send letters objecting to the New York State Thruway Authority (NYSTA) participating as co-lead agency in the state environmental review of the proposed controversial Pilgrim pipelines. Rosendale and Kingston say that DEC should be the sole lead agency.

Rosendale Councilwoman Jennifer Metzger presented the letter below to Rosendale's Town Board on Wednesday, January 6th, It was unanimously approved. A signed copy will be mailed to the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC), Governor Andrew Cuomo, and all involved agencies, including the Thruway Authority.

During the 30-day period from November 16th to December 16th, 2015, at least 29 towns, cities and counties in the direct path of the two proposed oil and refined products pipelines -- over 85% of the total -- objected to the Thruway Authority's proposal to act as Lead Agency for the SEQRA environmental review process.

On December 21st, the Thruway Authority and DEC issued a new proposal for shared co-lead agency status. Because that letter went out during the holiday season, just as the earlier NYSTA letter went out right before Thanksgiving, the involved agencies have been challenged to quickly respond to the highly unusual proposal for co-lead agency.

The southbound crude oil pipeline proposed by Pilgrim Holdings LLC, a Connecticut-based corporation with strong ties to Koch Industries, would initially carry fracked Bakken Shale oil from North Dakota, increasing the oil train traffic into Albany if these pipelines are built. The crude oil pipeline could also carry diluted bitumen from the tar sands crude being extracted in Canada and western states. Koch Industries has pushed hard to lift the export ban on U.S.-produced crude oil. In late December 2015, Congress lifted that ban, and President Obama has signed it into law.

Due to the health, safety, climate, and water pollution impacts, cradle to grave, of fracking and tar sands extraction, the controversy over Pilgrim's proposed pipelines has national and international implications, as well as direct impacts in New York State, The pipelines would put drinking water for millions of people in New York and New Jersey at risk.

January 6, 2016

The Hon. Basil Seggos Acting Commissioner, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation 625 Broadway Albany, New York 12233-1010

Dear Commissioner Seggos:

The Town of Rosendale, consistent with its resolution of December 2, 2015, remains firm in its belief that the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC), and not the NYS Thruway Authority (NYSTA), is the only appropriate agency to serve as lead in the environmental review of the proposed Pilgrim pipelines project. The Town, moreover, has significant concerns about the proposal for co-lead agency, and does not offer

It has been the policy of the DEC to discourage colead agency of SEQR processes, and the Town does not see how this case merits an exception. The NYS DEC website states that, "the purpose of having a lead agency is to coordinate the SEQR process so that when an action is to be carried out, funded or approved by two or more agencies, a single integrated environmental review is conducted. This lead agency is responsible for making key SEQR determinations during the review process"-a task made potentially much more difficult when two different agencies are granted joint discretionary authority. The DEC has the appropriate mission, jurisdiction, resources, and expertise to exercise a proper and thorough environmental review of this proposed project.

It is the opinion of the Rosendale Town Board that the criteria for a lead agency determination strongly favors DEC. This criteria, in order of importance, includes: 1) whether the impacts are of local, regional, or state-wide significance; 2) which agency has the broadest powers of investigation of the environmental impacts; and 3) which agency has the best capacity to provide a thorough environmental assessment.

With regard to the first and second criteria, the proposed Pilgrim pipelines project involves numerous potential impacts to resources of local, regional, and state-wide concern, many of which are within DEC's regulatory jurisdiction. These include the Hudson River and such important tributaries as the Rondout, Esopus, and Catskill Creeks and Wallkill River, the Ramapo River Watershed, State-regulated wetlands, the Karst Aquifer Region (a priority project designated in the NYS Open Space Conservation Plan), Harriman State Park, and other resources that the DEC is responsible for protecting, including, possibly, endangered species (the Karst Aquifer Region, for example, provides critical habitat to the federally-listed Indiana Bat).

In addition, a proposed project to construct the first crude oil pipeline in New York must be evaluated within the context of the State's broader climate goals and the New York State Energy Plan. Governor Cuomo has expressed his intention for New York to serve as a national leader in addressing climate change, and the DEC has statewide responsibility for climate change mitigation. The Commissioner's Policy man-dates that DEC must consider climate change in all its actions, including permitting.

In his letter of December 21, 2015, declaring NYSTA as co-lead agency, NYSTA Executive Director Robert Megna argues that the common regional jurisdictions of the two involved agencies is a basis for co-lead agency. We strongly disagree. NYSTA's jurisdiction, while crossing numerous municipal boundaries, is confined narrowly to use and occupancy of its own property. NYSTA has no jurisdiction over the many environmental and community resources that are potentially put at risk by this project in the event of a spill or other major project impact. The potential impacts of even a relatively small spill could have serious consequences for a community or communities through which the Thruway runs, if it contaminates an aquifer or water body.

By contrast, the NYS DEC's governmental powers of investigation in review of this project are broad, as illustrated by Acting Deputy Commissioner and General Counsel Thomas Berkman in his letter of Dec. 21, 2015, to NYSTA Executive Director Robert Mégna:

A preliminary review of the application indicates there is the potential for significant adverse environmental impacts associated with the construction and operation of the pipeline, including but not limited to, impacts to hundreds of acres of forest, regulated waterbodies and wetlands. The Project, as proposed, would implicate the Department's permitting authority pur-suant to the Environmental Conservation Law and the federal Clean Water Act.

Both the first and second criteria for determination of lead agency strongly favor DEC.

With regard to the third criteria-the relative expertise of involved agencies-the DEC clearly has the greater breadth and depth of expertise needed for this review. NYSTA's knowledge of highway use and regulation and traffic impacts, while important, is highly limited within the context of a complex environmental review covering surface and groundwater, soils, bedrock and geology, stormwater, air quality, habitat, and climate, among other areas of specialized knowledge and expertise. In past lead agency disputes on energy projects, the DEC Commissioner has pointed to the Department's large staff of professionals with unique expertise in the many areas of potential environmental impact as favoring DEC lead agency. The same holds true for this project.

The rationales for NYSTA lead agency status and for co-lead agency are not compelling, and could under-mine confidence in the SEQR review process. Twentyseven of 29 municipalities that are considered "potential involved agencies" have already expressed their opposition to NYSTA serving as lead agency and their strong support for DEC serving in this capacity instead. We urge the Commissioner to reconsider the co-lead agency

Sincerely, John Hughes Town Councilman

Alliance Gallery 2017 Exhibitions Call for Submissions

Alliance Gallery in Narrowsburg, NY is calling for submissions for solo, group, or curated shows in 2017. The Alliance Gallery program priority is to exhibit high quality work by professional and emerging artists who live part-time or full-time in the Mid-Hudson, Catskill, or Upper Delaware River regions. All media and styles are considered, as are installations and proposals by curators. There is no submission fee.

The deadline for submissions is Friday, January 29,

Interested artists should submit:

o Ten to 12 images of recent works as jpeg images on CD at 300 dpi, approximately 8" x 12", labeled with title or number only. (If your jpegs do not represent the work that you want to show, please describe your concept in a cover letter or proposal.)

o A one-page itemized list corresponding to the numbered slides/jpegs listing the title, medium, date, and size of each work, along with a short artist statement on the same page.

o A one-page detailed proposal if your work is of a conceptual nature; or, if you are a curator, a proposal describing the curatorial concept, accompanied by support materials (i.e. images, résumés, etc.)

o A SASE (self-addressed, stamped envelope) if you want your materials returned (otherwise they will be discarded after 30 days).

Send to: Alliance Gallery, P.O. Box 170, Narrowsburg, NY 12764

Jurying is based solely on the jpegs, so it is important to submit consistent, high-quality images. As the jurors change each year, it is strongly recommended that artists keep applying even if their work has not been chosen in the past. Artists who have exhibited in one- or two-person shows at Alliance Gallery are welcome to reapply after a two-year period (if you had a show in 2013, you can reapply for a show in 2017).

For a PDF of the Alliance Gallery submission guidelines, visit the Opportunities section at DelawareValleyArtsAlliance.org. For more information, call the gallery director Rocky Pinciotti at (845)

CWC Board Approves Additional Septic Reimbursement for 2015

Homeowners in the New York City Catskill-Delaware Watershed who repaired or replaced their septic system in 2015 but, because of distance from a watercourse, were not eligible for funding through the Catskill Watershed Corporation (CWC) at the time may now apply for reimbursement.

Because there were unexpended septic program funds at the end of the year, the CWC Board of Directors voted January 5 to accept reimbursement applications for septic rehabilitation completed between December 31, 2014 and December 31, 2015 regardless of whether or not those systems are located in an existing priority area.

To obtain an application form and for more information on the septic program, call the CWC at 845-586-1400. (Contd. Pg. 7)

Launches 30th Annual DEP Water Resources Art & Poetry Contest for Second through 12th Grade Students - More than 1,300 Students Representing 75 Schools Entered Original Works of Art and Poetry in 2015

New York City Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) Commissioner Emily Lloyd today announced the launch of the 30th annual Water Resources Art and Poetry Contest. Second through twelfth grade students attending public, independent, charter or parochial schools and/or home-schooled in New York City, and in the East and West of Hudson watersheds, are invited to create original art and compose poetry that reflects an appreciation for our shared water resources. Students can submit poems and artwork including paintings, collages, three-dimensional models, photography, animation and videos of dance performances, public service announcements and songs based on five central themes: water, the drinking water system, wastewater treatment, harbor water quality, stewardship and climate change. Entries will be accepted online until March 4, 2016 and a celebration honoring all student participants will take place in May.

For this year's contest, teachers, parents and students can visit www.nyc.gov/dep/artandpoetry to view the contest guidelines and resource materials, submit entries online, see past winners, and learn more about New York City water.

DEP's Water Resources Art and Poetry program helps raise awareness about the importance of clean, high-quality drinking water, and what it takes to maintain New York City's water supply and wastewater treatment systems. The 2016 contest will focus on five central themes that incorporate STEM disciplines:

 Water, A Precious Resource: To highlight the importance of the quality of our tap and harbor water.

 The New York City Water Supply System: To understand the history of the NYC drinking water system and watershed protection.

 The New York City Wastewater Treatment System: To examine how the City cleans nearly 1.3 billion gallons of wastewater every day. Harbor Water Quality and Healthy Marine Ecosystems: To explore NYC's surrounding waterways and how we can continue to protect and improve harbor water quality. Water Stewardship and Climate Change: To bring attention to the value of water and how we can help to protect our environment.

Entries will be judged based on creativity in interpreting one or more of the contest themes, accuracy of information, originality, and skill. An impartial panel of judges will review the entries and select art and poetry winners from each category (grades 2-3, 4-5, 6-7, 8-9,

DEP manages New York City's water supply, providing more than one billion gallons of water each day to more than nine million residents, including 8.5 million in New York City. The water is delivered from a watershed that extends more than 125 miles from the city, comprising 19 reservoirs and three controlled lakes. Approximately 7,000 miles of water mains, tunnels and aqueducts bring water to homes and businesses throughout the five boroughs, and 7,500 miles of sewer lines and 96 pump stations take wastewater to 14 in-city treatment plants. In addition, DEP has a robust capital program, with nearly $14 billion in investments planned over the next 10 years that will create up to 3,000 constructionrelated jobs per year. This capital program is responsible for critical projects like City Water Tunnel No. 3; the Staten Island Bluebelt program, an ecologically sound and cost-effective stormwater management system; the city's Watershed Protection Program, which protects sensitive lands upstate near the city's reservoirs in order to maintain their high water quality; and the installation of more than 820,000 Automated Meter Reading devices, which allow customers to track their daily water use, more easily manage their accounts and be alerted to potential leaks on their properties. #### "Into the Storm" and "Candy Spilner, Paintings" Kick Off CAS 2016 Exhibition Season

The Catskill Art Society will begins its 2016 Exhibition Season with "Into the Storm" featuring artwork by Daniel Angeli, and "Candy Spilner, Paintings" featuring three-dimensional wall constructions by Candy Spilner at the CAS Arts Center at 48 Main Street, Livingston Manor, NY from January 30 through February 28.

"Kubutamahan" 2012, oil, sand, photocopy on board construction. Featured in "Candy Spilner, Paintings' February 28.

Ms. Spilner's constructions burst from the wall with vibrant color and vivacious movement. The emphasis in her work is one of see-ing rather than storytelling. Her goal is to elicit an emotional and poetic response from the viewer. The large constructed shapes are derived from twisted and gnarly roots that refer to the figure with gesture and scale and a suggestion of movement. The brightly col-ored forms oscillate and come alive on the wall.

"The form is a stand-in for me", says Ms. Spilner. "In front of my paintings, I feel like I'm looking into a mirror. I want to strike a similar pose, maybe standing on one foot and twisting with an arm in the air. I want the viewer to have a the same desire, to dance along with the paintings rather than just looking at them."

Her inspiration comes from art history and at the CAS Arts from her travels. Trips to Bali, Indonesia in Center, on display particular, with its exquisite sights and January 30 - sounds and exuberant culture, fuel her work and allow her to make calculations she never might have imagined. The titles are musical and refer to this exotic place.

The work of Daniel Angeli is based on the chaos and bewilderment his grandfather experienced as a tank driver in World War II. In this current exhibition "Into the Storm," he explores and depicts experiences of tragedy, catastrophe and disaster. Made from scrapwood, metal and debris that fly across the surface of the painting, in the end, they are solely gestures of paint and remain open to interpretation. "In each work I aim to depict a turbulent experience that the viewer can associate with the endless stream of documented disasters that exist in the news and elsewhere."

Gallery hours at the CAS Arts Center are Thursdays - Saturdays 11am-6pm, Sundays 11am-3pm, and Mondays 11am-6pm. The CAS Arts Center is wheelchair accessible.

"Cracked Hull," Saturday, January 30, 2016 - 2013, photograph, CAS will host an Artist Talk on acrylic on canvas. Saturday, January 30 at 2pm, folthe Storm" at the lowed immediately by a free CAS Arts Center, on Opening Reception from 3-5pm. display January 30 All are welcome and light refreshments will be served.

Misner Agency "Dress Down Friday" Campaign Raises Money for Local Community Organizations

Several of The Misner employees with Christmas presents for the Boys & Girls Clubs.

The Misner Agency takes pride in our involvement in our local communities. We are proud to announce that throughout 2015, our staff has donated a total of $2,809.50 to 21 local organizations, including the Boys and Girls Club of Sullivan & Orange Counties, Sullivan County SPCA, Guiding Eyes for the Blind, St. Judes, St. Andrews, Federation for the Homeless, several other food pantries, and much more.

Donations are raised through our "dress down Friday" campaign and thanks to some of our generous customers!

We also delivered over 130 pounds of dry food, 50 cans of animal food, and assorted pet supplies to local shelters.

We donated many gifts to the Toys for Tots, and the Boys and Girls Club's mission to give every child in our community a toy on Christmas morning.

We are excited to continue supporting our community in 2016!

Thinking Ahead to Spring Break

- Just a couple of months away!

The holiday season has ended, and while many of us are praying for a little more snow, others are already looking forward to spring. Sure, it's hard to "think spring" when the temperatures are so low, but believe it or not, the season of renewal is less than 12 weeks away. That's why now is the perfect time to start planning fun and wholesome adventures for your child while school is out, and Spring Break Day Camp at Frost Valley YMCA is a wonderful option.

From March 21-25, Spring Break Day Campers will enjoy crafts, games, hiking, candle making, healthy cooking lessons, climbing, and other active programs, while surrounded by nature. Weather permitting, campers have the opportunity to take an offsite trip to a local indoor pool, and they'll experience a tour of Frost Valley's Maple Sugar House to taste maple syrup and learn how it's made. Spring Break Day Camp would be incomplete without a visit the Frost Valley Farm to meet and pet baby animals. Lunch, snacks, and transportation are included, too.

Visit FrostValley.org to learn more or call (845) 985-2291 to register today.

Thinking way ahead to summer? Frost Valley YMCA is excited to announce a brand new camp for boys ages 8-12: Durango Village, the first-ever program that allows boys to focus on horseback riding and care, while still being able to enjoy traditional camp activities. This program runs during Session 4 (August 7-19) and campers are paired with their own horse throughout the course of the session. Durango Village offers a great experience for boys with basic riding experience, although all riding levels are accepted. For more information on any of our horse programs, please email horses@frostvalley.org or call (845) 985-2291 ext. 240

We will be reopen for business Tuesday, January 19th

This year, we planned the luncheon on Saturday, December 12th, at the Daniel Pierce Library from 12:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. Everyone had to wear business attire, and they all looked quite snazzy, if I do say so myself. As people started to arrive, the Jr. FBLA members started serving them (that is, once the coffee and tea finally heated up. It took forever!).

So then what? We just served for two hours? Well, yes, but that's not all. When you're a host, you have to treat your guests with courtesy. That means we made conversation with our seniors by talking to them about their childhood, their family, friends, where they went to school, and what it was like when they were our age. Okay, so the first thing that pops into your mind is: "But I get enough of that from my own grandparents!" Oh, no. Some of the stories that we heard were fascinating! One woman has moved from place to place, and has lived everywhere! Some people who attended had lived in Sullivan County their entire lives, and hearing about how things used to be really interested me and many others. Two of them even complimented me on my hair (which was pink at the time) and talked to me about dyeing their own hair! And those are just the conversations I had, personally. Who knows all of the stories that were told?

Oh, yes, and we sang, too! Before we starting serving the main course, we sang! Emma Edwards picked out four classic carols: "Silent Night," "Winter Wonderland," "Jingle Bells," and "We Wish You A Merry Christmas." The people who sang sounded amazing!

So what about the cleaning up part? Well, that went by fast! We had several hands all over the place, picking up plates and utensils and tablecloths. And after all was cleaned, we ate what was left! The food was amazing! No wonder so many people turned up (we estimated around fifty-sixty people showed up). We would like to give a huge thank you to the Sullivan County B.O.C.E.S. Career and Technical Education Culinary Arts students-under the direction of Kathy Poppo-who made all of the food. Not only did Jr. FBLA do something good for the members of this community, but we had fun! I would gladly do this again, and I'm sure many of the other members

Have you Tried an Artesian a Brick Oven Pizza?

Wednesday nights are always the end of the week for us. We deliver the papers and finally can say we put that week's issue to bed!! This week was a bit different. After delivering the papers we had to rush to get to the basketball game at TVCS in time to see our grandson play.

Hunger pains were peaking as we were heading up Canal Street in Ellenville. There was a convenient parking space right in front of Tony & Nicks Italian Kitchen. Thinking we could get a quick slice of pizza to eat on the run, we went in to Tony & Nicks.

I must say I was a little disappointed to learn we couldn't get a slice of pie, but we could get a personal pizza or one to share. So we chose the "pizza for two" with mushrooms, red onions and sausage and decided to take a few minutes to enjoy the relaxing atmosphere and eat our dinner there. The wait was not long and the beautiful artesian brick oven pizza was served! One bite and it was over! The best tasting pizza I had ever eaten!

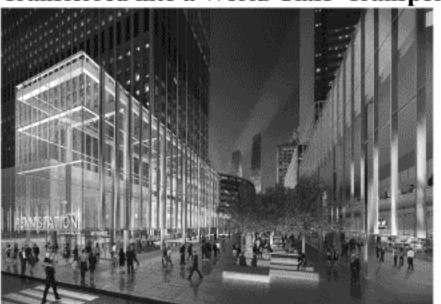

We satisfied our hunger. We each had two slices of the pie and took the rest home. We made it to the game in time. The TV Bears won and we still had half a pie to eat when we got home!! What a great night for Mr. C and me!

Next time we stop at Tony & Nicks Italian Kitchen at 162 Canal Street in Ellenville, we will take our time and really savor the food. I know whatever we choose from the mouth-watering menu will be great,. I also know that I will want to save room for two desserts! The dessert menu was scrumptious. Just in case you think this is a paid advertisement - it is not!! I truly mean every word. Tony & Nicks Italian Kitchen is mouth-watering good! They serve classic Italian dishes, hand cut steaks, and beautiful artesian brick oven pizzas. You can check out their menu on line www.TonyandNicksItalian.com and the next time you are in Ellenville treat yourself to something really delish!- Editor would agree with me. I can't wait to see what we'll do next!

Penn Stations and Farley Post Office Building to be Transferred into a World Class Transportation Hub

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo unveiled the sixth signature proposal of his 2016 agenda: transform Penn Station and the historic James A. Farley Post Office into a world-class transportation hub. The project, known as the Station Empire Complex, will feature significant passenger improvements, including first-class ameninatural light, ties, increased train capacity and decreased congestion, and improved signage to dramatically enhance the travel experience. The project - which is anticipated to cost $3 billion will be expedited by a public-private partnership in order to break ground this year and complete substantial construction within the next three years. The original Penn Station first opened in 1910, and its underground areas have remained in continual use since then. In its current form, the station is designed to accommodate 200,000 daily passengers. In practice, it is the busiest train station in North America, serving more than 650,000 passengers every day, and is plagued by widespread pedestrian congestion and outdated facilities. The Governor's proposal will address these current shortcomings and transform the facility into a modern, iconic gateway to New York that is capable of meeting the demands of increased ridership in the 21st century. (Contd. Pg. 14)

2016 SullivanArc GARDEN TOUR Visit private gardens in the Town of Neversink
Many private gardens in and around the Town of Neversink will be on display on Saturday, July 9, 2016 during the Eighth Annual SullivanArc Garden Tour. The tour will benefit SullivanArc and is hosted by SullivanArc and Sullivan Renaissance with support from local Neversink organizations. Neversink boasts scenic reservoir views and nearly 75 barn quilts, a Neversink Renaissance project that began in 2006.

Roughly eight to ten beautiful gardens will be accessible for viewing either by group bus tour or individual ticket holders. Tickets for the Rolling V guided coach bus tour are $40 per person and includes the driver's tip, a tour guide, door prizes and a snack. Individuals who wish to drive on their own may purchase self-guided tour tickets for $25 per person. Maps will be available on the day of the tour to all registered participants. A complimentary wine and cheese reception for all ticket holders and garden owners will take place after the tour.

Tickets are available for purchase online from SullivanArc at http://www.sullivanarc.org - click on the pink "Buy Tickets" button. Interested parties may also call SullivanArc at 845-796-1350 ext. 1050 to purchase tickets or advertise in the keep-

Last year's tour featured the gardens of the Master Gardener Volunteers from Cornell Cooperative Extension of Sullivan County with lunch served by the CCE EaT Kitchen. Pictures are available upon request. Previous tours have featured gardens around the Village of Bloomingburg, Hamlet of Roscoe, along the Route 17 corridor and in western Sullivan County.

SullivanArc is a not-for-profit agency dedicated to providing support and services to over 1100 people with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities and to their families. Sullivan Renaissance is a beautification and community development program principally funded by the Gerry Foundation.

UC Exec Mike Hein Announces Availability of Funding for 2016 Youth Programs

Ulster County Executive Mike Hein and Youth Bureau Director Evelyn Clarke announce the Ulster County Youth Bureau is accepting Request for Applications for the New York State Office of Children and Family Services (OCFS) Youth Development grants. The Ulster County Youth Bureau administers the Youth Development Program (YDP) and Runaway & Homeless Shelter (RHYA) funding from OCFS and Ulster County to support youth programs.

Although New York State funding amounts for the 2016 calendar year have not yet been determined, agencies and municipalities interested in receiving this funding are encouraged to apply. Eligible agencies must be not-for-profit or community based organizations with federal identification or charities registration numbers.

In awarding funds, all 2016 applications are considered new and competitive, including formerly "automatically eligible" towns and municipalities. All YDP applicants will be applying competitively for the same pool of funds.

Programs receiving YDP grants are funded up to 100 percent of approved expenses up to the allocated amount. The amount of funding will be subject to the availability of annual State and County appropriations, which have not yet been made. Applications for these grants must be submitted online. Contact the Ulster County Youth Bureau at dzac@co.ulster.ny.us, to obtain the required forms and indicate "2016 Forms" in the subject line. Forms are also available from the Ulster County athttp://ulstercountyny.gov/youth-bureau websites http://ocfs.ny.gov/main/youth/default.asp. Applications are due no later than Friday, February 12, 2016. For additional assistance or information please contact the Youth Bureau at (845) 334-5264.

Highlights of Governor Cuomo's 2015-16 State Budget

 Education - The proposed budget would increase school aid by $1.1 billion - though it would tie it to Legislature approval of changes in teacher evaluations and tenure policy that Cuomo is calling for. It would be a 4.8 percent increase over the $22 billion going to school districts statewide this year.

New York's education system is set to implement some of its most dramatic and fundamental reforms in years through the Education Transformation Act. The Budget includes the Governor's proposal for an increase of $1.3 billion in state education support to take education funding to its highest level ever - $23.5 billion.

 Ethics -Ethics in government and conflicts of interest in the legislature have been among the most persistent issues facing New York State for generations. Multiple administrations have grappled with ethics reform over the years, but achieved limited or no success. This year, however, we are finally addressing this longstanding problem - implementing the strongest outside income disclosure laws in the nation, along with other measures to deter, detect and punish breaches of the public trust.

Public officials will be required to disclose all outside earned income they receive, from whom they receive it, the actual services performed to receive the income, and whether there is any connection to the state government or the office that they hold or their public duties.

 Transit system - The Governor's proposal includes a new approach to rapidly redesign and renew 30 existing subway stations across the system. It also includes a number of technology initiatives to bring the system into the 21st century, including expanding Wi-Fi hotspots, accelerating mobile payments and ticketing to replace the MetroCard, and providing USB ports on subway trains, buses and in stations to allow customers to charge their mobile devices. The Governor detailed this proposal at an event earlier today at the New York Transit Museum in Brooklyn, where he was joined by MTA Chairman and CEO Tom Prendergast.

Cuomo proposed a $141.6 billion budget that would keep state spending growth to 2 percent, increase aid to schools by $1.1 billion and invest much of the state's windfall revenues into infrastructure.

The proposal doesn't call for any across-the-board tax increases, either for income taxes or business taxes.

But it does call for changes to law to make it easier for the state to collect a range of user taxes and fees, from wholesale gas sales to wine tastings to business licensings. It calls for a lower threshold for the state to go after those who don't pay their income taxes.

The budget also calls for the elimination of 59 "nuisance" fees, a collection of odd payments made by farmers, business owners, landlords and others for actions ranging from seed potato inspections to boiler shop inspections.

Other highlights of the Cuomo's proposed budget:

 Raises minimum wage to $10.50 statewide and to $11.50 in NYC.

 No increase in tolls on the New York State Thruway. A small business tax cut would reduce the rate for 42,000 businesses from 6.5 percent to 2.5 percent over three years.

 Seven upstate regions would compete for three $500 million economic development prizes.

o Increase the age that juveniles convicted of felonies can be held in state prisons from 16 to 18.

State's first emergency preparedness college will open in Albany, with a satellite office in Oriskany. o Put $400 million of state settlements to hospitals to help with capital projects, especially Upstate.

Spend $300 million to create integrated health care delivery system in Oneida County.

 Passing the DREAM Act, legislation that would allow undocumented students to apply for state taxpayer-supported college tuition help.

 $40 million for improvements to the Port of Oswego, and additional "intermodal" railroads in Syracuse and

- o Expand the state's "design-build" program, a method that lets the governor bid out architectural, construction and engineering specs at the same time on major projects. Increase money in the Environmental Protection Fund to $172 million, a 28 percent increase since 2011 and a $10 million increase over last year.
- Create a Southern Tier Farm Initiative, $30 million to help landowners in the region maintain and develop farmlands. The proposal comes a month after the Cuomo administration decided to ban hydrofracking, which some in the Southern Tier had hoped would revive the economy and help struggling farmers.

o Limit the state's Brownfield Tax Credit program to reward money spent only on actual cleanup, not subsequent development. The program, going forward, would be limited to areas in economic distress, on land worth less than the cost of cleanup, or for projects that include the creation of affordable housing.

o Purchase 1,300 acres near Fort Drum for the military to use for training and other purposes, and improve nearby

Route 26.

o Provide financial incentives to public college presidents who turn research on their campuses into jobs in the Start-Up NY program. To date, 55 businesses across the state have qualified for the tax-free plan. They've promised 2,100 jobs and $98 million in private investment, according to state documents.

 Put chronically failing schools under the control of a state-appointed receiver, taking control of the school out of the hands of the local superintendent and school board.

o Expand state law to allow 560 charter schools (now capped at 460) and remove restrictions that limit the number of those schools by regions.

Expand pre-K programs to "high-need" 3-year-olds, at a cost of $25 million.

o Creating a new college scholarship program for teachers.

 Aid to municipalities would stay flat in Cuomo's budget at $714.7 million statewide.

Municipal Consolidation Competition to Continue Making New York Affordable -Competition among $70 million in efforts to encourage local government efficiency and taxpayer savings

The ninth signature proposal of his 2016 agenda -Municipal Consolidation and Efficiency Competition is designed to reward local governments that take real steps to make living and working in New York State more affordable.

The competition will challenge counties, cities, towns and villages to develop innovative consolidation action plans yielding significant and permanent property tax reductions. The consolidation partnership that proposes and can implement the greatest permanent reduction in property taxes will receive a $20 million award.

"We've made tremendous progress over the past five years to make New York more affordable, and this year we are going to keep that momentum going from the ground up," said Governor Cuomo. "This competition will help local governments find innovative ways to reduce costs and lower taxes for their constituents - which will make it cheaper to live, work and thrive in their communities. This is about building a stronger and more prosperous New York over the long haul, and I am eager to help our local partners across the state move forward."

This would be the largest direct incentive ever offered for communities to work together to share services, cut costs and lower property taxes. This will be part of $70 million in this year's budget to incentivize local government consolidations, reorganizations and efficiencies that result in the taxpayer savings.

For years, local property taxes in New York have been among the highest in the country, negatively affecting New York's economic competitiveness and the quality of life for its residents. Between 2000 and 2010, property taxes grew at an unsustainable rate more than double the rate of inflation.

In 2011, the Governor enacted the Property Tax Cap. As a result, property taxes have been held to an average growth rate of approximately two percent during the past three years, less than half the rate of growth over the previous 10 years.

The cap was strengthened in 2014 with a property tax freeze program that encouraged local governments and school districts to comply with the tax cap and develop approved government efficiency plans to reduce costs. A new Property Tax Relief Credit was created in 2015 to progressively target an additional $1.3 billion in property tax relief for New York homeowners over the next four years.

Cuomo's 2016 Agenda Includes: Dramatically Expand and Improve Access to High-Speed Internet Statewide

Public Service Commission's conditions for the approval of the merger of Time Warner Cable and Charter Communications will dramatically improve broadband availability for millions of New Yorkers Merger will lead to more than $1 billion in direct investments and consumer benefits

Requires broadband speeds to double for more than two million customers by 2018, and increase six-fold by

145,000 homes and businesses currently without broadband will be offered high-speed access

Affordable high speed program will be offered to lowincome consumers; free connection and service offered to underserved community centers

Governor launches largest and most ambitious state broadband initiative in the nation to ensure every New Yorker has access to high-speed Internet by the end of 2018

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today unveiled the tenth signature proposal of his 2016 agenda: dramatically expand and improve access to high-speed Internet in communities statewide.

The New York State Public Service Commission voted to approve the merger of Time Warner Cable and Charter Communications, which will dramatically improve broadband availability for millions of New Yorkers and lead to more than $1 billion in direct investments and consumer benefits. The Commission's merger requirements will deliver broadband speed upgrades to 100 Mbps statewide by the end of 2018, and 300 Mbps by the end of 2019. This benefits two million Upstate broadband customers. The highest speed offered by Time Warner Cable north of New York City is 50 Mbps so customers will experience significant speed upgrades.

The merger conditions further require that Charter offer high speed broadband to 145,000 unserved customers who currently have no high speed broadband at all.

Additionally, the state issued a $500 million solicitation today for private sector partners to join the New NY Broadband Program, which will greatly expand Internet access in all regions of the state, with a focus on unserved and underserved areas. The program will deliver access to high-speed Internet to every New Yorker by the end of 2018.

"Access to high-speed Internet in New York shouldn't be limited by your zip code," said Governor Cuomo. "Broadband is crucial to driving growth, improving our education system, and connecting New Yorkers to the 21st century global economy - so ensuring that every household has access to high-speed Internet has never been more important. The merger of Time Warner Cable and Charter Communications will result in a historic investment in New York's Internet landscape that improves quality, reliability, speed and affordability for all New Yorkers. Alongside our New NY Broadband Program, we are bridging the digital divide for underserved communities and guaranteeing our position as a national leader in opportunity, cutting-edge technology and innovation.

Broadband is an essential component for creating and sustaining economic opportunity throughout New York State, by connecting businesses with consumers and markets around the globe. While New York's broadband landscape has seen substantial improvements over the past four years, many households still lack access to high-speed Internet.

Tax Relief for Small Business

Tax relief for small businesses, funding for water infrastructure projects, new downtown revitalization program and 6th round of Regional Council initiative included in Governor's 2016 agenda

Governor Cuomo unveiled the fourth signature proposal of his 2016 agenda: a series of investments and initiatives designed to continue growing the economy and building stronger, more vibrant communities across New York State. These proposals include significant tax relief for small businesses, increased funding to support municipal water infrastructure improvement projects, a new effort to revitalize and transform downtown areas in each region of the state, and a sixth round of the successful Regional Economic Development Council initiative. The Governor discussed these announcements - which are a preview of signature policies from his upcoming 2016 agenda - during an event today in Rochester.

Over the past five years, we have redeveloped New York's economy and restored opportunity in communities across Upstate - and now we are building on that momentum to make a difference that will last for generations," said Governor Cuomo. "We are going to make critical investments in infrastructure, cut taxes for small businesses, and invest in the regional approach to economic development that has made a difference across Upstate. Together we are going to continue moving this state forward."

Small Business Tax Relief

Small businesses are the backbone of the State's economy, accounting for 43 percent of all private sector jobs in New York. During the last five years, Governor Cuomo has worked tirelessly to bolster the competitiveness of small businesses by lowering their tax burden. Since taking office in 2011, he has advanced a number of small business tax cuts that are saving small businesses across the state a total of $3.8 billion by 2021. The Governor's latest proposal is projected to save small businesses another $298 million annually, bringing the total savings statewide from the new program to nearly $1.2 billion by 2021.

To continue growth of the small business sector and help further the expansion of New York's economy, taxes are being lowered both for small businesses who pay via the corporate tax and those paying through the personal income tax. (Contd. Pg.

(Never known to fail)

O Most Beautiful Flower of Mt. Carmel,

Fruitful Vine, Splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate

Virgin, assist me in my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother. O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request).

There are none that can withstand your power.

O Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee

Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (3 times).

Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days. You must publish it, and it will be granted to you.

Our Father, Hail Mary, Glory Be (3 times)

Assemblymember Cahill Encourages Local Organizations and Municipalities to Promote Historic Sites: Apply for the Hudson River Valley National Heritage Development Grant Program

Kingston, NY - Assemblymember Kevin Cahill (Ulster/Dutchess) encourages local cities, towns and not-for-profit organizations to expand cultural offerings and attract visitors to their historic sites by applying for the Hudson River Valley National Heritage Area 2016 Heritage Development Grant Program. There is up to $60,000 available in matching funds through grants that will finance projects supporting programming, interpretation, and market-ing of the Hudson River Valley's heritage and historic

The mission of The Hudson River Valley National Heritage Area program is to recognize, preserve, protect and interpret the nationally significant cultural and natural resources of the Hudson River Valley for the benefit of the nation.

"The 103rd Assembly District is home to many 12740 or drop it off at the Town Hall. unique sites from our nation's past that allow residents and tourists alike to enjoy the beauty and history here," said Cahill. "Our community and indeed our country will benefit from local organizations and municipalities applying for these funds."

> Projects should resonate with the following interpretive themes: Freedom and Dignity (Colonial Period, Revolutionary War, Social and Political Issues, Great Americans); Nature and Culture (Landscapes and Gardens, Architecture, Art and Artists, Hudson River School, Parks and Environment); and Corridor of Commerce (Transportation, Industry and Commerce).

The Application Deadline is February 11th, 2016. Applications are available at hudsonrivervalley.com/grants.aspx

SCCompliance with NYS Governor's

Executive Order No. 151

Sullivan County through its Department of Family Services is meeting the demands of the Governor's Executive Order 151. The order requires local social service districts to provide shelter services to people who are homeless as well as warming areas once the temperatures reach 32 degrees or below including wind chill. This includes engagement of homeless people who live outside or may be under social service sanction or be undocumented.

On January 5, 2016 we met with our community partners to plan and describe how we will coordinate the delivery of the demands of the executive order. Outreach and engagement will be provided generally by local law enforcement, our community partners and the public. All Law Enforcement agencies can the Town of Neversink Transfer Station. refer people living homeless and in the cold to the Department of Family Services at any time seven days a week. The public can refer or report a homeless individual/family to any of the following:

SC Sheriff's Department - 845-794-7100

Monticello Police Department - 845-794-4422

Fallsburg Police Department - 845-434-4422

Liberty Police Department - 845-292-4422

New York State Police - 845-292-6600

SC Department of Family Services-845-292-0100

If our citizens encounter someone homeless who may also be suffering from mental illness, people can call our Mobile Mental Health team at 1-800-710-7083. Currently if someone needs a place to warm themselves our partners at the Sullivan County Federation for the Homeless and Action Toward Independence in Monticello, CACHE and People for Equal Justice in Liberty are available areas. Should these people present at our partners offices as homeless our partners will contact the Department of Family Services so the application process can begin immediately. If you are a community based organization and are interested in offering a place that people can go to warm themselves this season, please contact us at 845-292-0100.

For further information contact Joshua Potosek, County Manager, at 845-807-0450.

Tax Relief for Small Business (From Pg. 12) For small businesses that file under the corporate tax code, the Governor proposes to reduce the net income tax rate from the current 6.5 percent to 4 percent effective January 1, 2017. For the purpose of this tax cut, the definition of "small business" is a business with less than 100 employees, with net income below $390,000. Small businesses have traditionally paid a lower rate than large corporate taxpayers, but tax cuts passed in 2015 lowered the corporate tax rate to the level currently being paid by small businesses. Governor Cuomo proposes to preserve the small business tax advantage by lowering their rate even further.

To avoid a "cliff" the lower tax rates would be available to small businesses having below $290,000 in net income, and the rate is phased up to the standard rate applicable to businesses with net income of $390,000 or more.

For small businesses whose members pay taxes via the personal income tax, the Governor proposes new and expanded tax cuts. Currently, sole proprietor and farm small businesses can subtract five percent of their income from tax calculations. The Governor proposes to increase the exclusion to 15 percent of income.

Further, in order to create tax parity between small business types, the Executive Budget also expands this tax cut to other types of small businesses. Members of partnerships, S-corporations, and LLCs will be able to exclude 15 percent of business income as long as some of their business income is derived from a business entity with less than $1.5 million in New York gross receipts, and their total business income from these sources is below $250,000.

Roughly 1,091,000 small businesses statewide will benefit from the Governor's 2016 proposals.

"Get on Your Feet" Student Loan Forgiveness Program

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo announced that New York State will begin accepting applications for the new 'Get On Your Feet' Loan Forgiveness Program on December 31. First announced as part of Governor Cuomo's 2015 Opportunity Agenda, the program offers up to 24 months of federal student loan debt relief to recent college graduates living in the State.

"Ensuring students are able to pay for college and not saddled with debt is critical for both their individual success and the continued economic growth of New York State," Governor Cuomo said. "With this program, we are telling recent graduates: if you invest in New York's future, we will invest in yours."

Studies have shown time and time again that helping students pay for college is critical to ensuring their success after graduation. Students who graduate with debt are less likely to start a small business or to purchase a home, and the consequences of defaulting on student loans can prevent a person from ever realizing their goals. program offers that help by supplementing the federal Pay As You Earn loan repayment program and allowing eligible college graduates living in New York State to pay nothing on their student loans for the first two years out of school.

To qualify, applicants must have earned an undergraduate degree from a college or university located in New York State in or after December 2014, have an adjusted gross income of less than $50,000, and be enrolled in the federal Income Based Repayment plan or Pay as You Earn plan. Recipients will have a maximum of 24 payments, equal to their monthly student loan repayment amount, paid on their behalf. Applications are accepted year round.

Already, more than 2,500 graduates from the class of 2015 have registered to apply for the program through the New York State Higher Education Services Corporation. Once fully implemented in 2020, more than 24,000 recent graduates are expected to participate.

"Penn Station is the heart of New York's economy and transportation network, but it has been outdated, overcrowded, and unworthy of the Empire State for far too long,"said Governor Cuomo. "We want to build Penn Station to be better than it ever was, and that is exactly what we are going to do. This proposal will fundamentally transform Penn Station for the 21st century, and we are excited to move forward with the project in the days to come."

Penn Station Redevelopment: The existing Penn Station facility, which lies beneath Madison Square Garden and between 7th and 8th Avenues, will be dramatically renovated. The project will widen existing corridors, reconfiguring ticketing and waiting areas, improve connectivity between the lower levels and street level, bring natural light into the facility, improve signage, simplify navigation and reduce congestion, and expand and upgrade the retail offerings and passenger amenities on all levels of the station. The new station will include Wi-Fi, modernized train information displays and streamlined ticketing.

Several design alternatives will be considered, including major exterior renovations involving 33rd street, 7th avenue, 8th avenue, and/or Madison Square Garden Theater.

Governor Cuomo will deliver his State of the State and Budget Address on January 13, 2016.

Do you want to begin an exciting career as a Commercial Driver? Then this is your first step

The Adult and Continuing Education Program at Sullivan BOCES is offering the Commercial Driver Training Permit Preparation course at the St. John Street Education Center in Monticello. The course runs for two consecutive Saturdays, January 30th and February 6th, from 8:30 am - 4:30 pm. Tuition is $190.

This course prepares you for the Class A & B CDL written test. The training provides all relevant information including the different endorsements, and provides a review for the permit test. To obtain a NYS CDL you must meet several requirements, including passing the USDOT medical exam.

This course will also be given on April 9th and 16th. To register or to obtain more information please con-tact the Adult and Continuing Education Program at (845) 295-4915 between the hours of 8:30 am and 7:00 pm or visit us at schoces.org, like us on Facebook and follow us on Twitter.

V-Day Narrowsburg (TVM) 2016 Reading of "The Vagina Monologues" on February 5 - Join us as we LISTEN! ACT! and RISE! to demand revolutionary change for women and girl survivors of violence

The Delaware Valley Arts Alliance and Janet Burgan will present a benefit reading of Eve Ensler's award winning play, "The Vagina Monologues" on Friday, February 5 at 7 pm in the Krause Recital Hall at the Delaware Arts Center, 37 Main Street, 2nd floor, Narrowsburg, NY. (Snow date Sunday, February 7 at 2 pm.) This performance will benefit VIP (Victims' Intervention Program) in Honesdale, PA. VIP provides confidential services to female, male and child victims/survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault and other crimes. They can be reached at www.vipempowers.org or 1-800-698-4VIP.

This special benefit performance is presented as part of V-Day's campaign ONE BILLION RISING: REVO-LUTION, a global initiative that began three years ago as a call for women survivors of violence to Rise and demand an end to violence. In 2016, Risings will focus on highlighting, creating and envisioning new, brave and radical artistic initia-tives to bring in the new revolutionary world of equality, dignity and freedom for all women and girls.

The cast will be Janet Burgan, Beverly Dally, Tannis Kowalchuk, Cathleen Lathrop and Kyoshin Lohr. Hailed by the New York Times as "funny" and "poignant" and by the Daily News as "intelligent" and "courageous." "The Vagina Monologues," which was first performed off-Broadway by Ensler, dives into the mystery, humor, pain, power, wisdom, outrage, and excitement buried in women's experiences. Ensler has performed the play to great acclaim throughout the world-from Zagreb to Santa Barbara, from London to Seattle, from Jerusalem to Oklahoma City. Villard Books/Random House first published "The Vagina Monologues," which includes a foreword by Gloria Steinem, in February 1998.

Admission is $10 for this event. Seating is limited and reservations are encouraged. Call 845-252-7576 or visit www.DelawareValleyArtsAlliance.org.

Knarf's "Classic Movie Trivia"

CABIN IN THE SKY

(Musical, 1943)

It's goood and evil again as God and Satan battle for the soul of a wounded gambler. Directed by Vincente Minnelli, atarring. Eddie ``Rochester" Anderson, Lena Horne, Ethel Waters, Louis

Armstrong, Rex Ingram, Duke Ellington and His Orchestra, The Hall Johnson Choir. Stellar black cast in winning (if somewhat racist) musical fable about forces of good and evil vying for the soul of Little Joe (Anderson). John Bubbles' dancing, Waters singing "Happiness Is a Thing Called Joe" (written for the film) among musical highlights. First feature for Minnelli (who, with Waters and Ingram, came from the Broadway production). See this film Monday evening, January 18, 2016 starting @ 6:00 PM, 99 min, B/W TV-G, on TCM Quiz

T. Who plays Bill?

2. Who plays Georgia Brown?

3. Who plays The trumpeter?

3. Who plays Petunia Jackson?
