A Declaration of Our Independence

A familiar face from Grahamsville; Bill Brenner and his pet dalmation were among the many volunteer firemen marching and riding in the parade.

The signing of The Declaration of Independence two-hundred forty years ago this July 4th was was celebrated in downtown Ellenville on Monday.

The festivities began in the morning in Liberty Square where Arts and Crafts were on display and for There was a variety of food vendors who offered many tempting and tasty delights.

By noon people were lined up along the streets anxiously waiting to witness the largest Independ-

Students from Ellenville proudly celebrated their freedom with red, white and blue balloons, a symbol of independence.

Stars and stripes were everywhere! Viewers stood at attention as the American Flag passed and the National Anthem was sung. The parade followed with music, marching bands, antique cars, floats, and many volunteers. Young children were ready to catch the goodies offered by participating organizations.

That was not all. There was a beautiful display of fireworks later in the evening at the Joseph Y Resnick Airport. Thank you Ellenville Wawarsing 4th of July Committee! You filled this year's celebration of Independence Day with lasting memories that demonstrate our freedom.

Note from Congressman Chris Gibson

Dear Friend,

Greetings from Kinderhook, where I've spent the week traveling our beautiful district. It's been a busy week, and a productive one. I started in Otsego County, where I received economic development updates from the Mayor, Industrial Development Agency leadership, and constituents. I will continue to work on ways to coordinate with the county on federal support and other ways we can be helpful. I also had a good discussion at Hartwick College with President Dr. Margaret Drugovich, followed by a tour of their Center for Craft Beer and Beverage. Very impressed with this operation! The NYS Craft Beer industry is on the rise and Hartwick helps facilitate and support that with research, product testing and quality assurance.
In Plattekill, I attended the groundbreaking of a new healthcare facility that will help improve local residents access to quality care. Then, in addition to constituent meetings in Dutchess County, I toured Abilities First in Poughkeepsie, where I saw an organization dedicated to caring for those with disabilities from infancy through adulthood.

Down in Sullivan County, I had an impressive site tour of the major family resort that is coming to Monticello, along with meetings with Sullivan County Legislators to get an update on their priorities. And yesterday, I attended the 75th Anniversary Celebration of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Presidential Library and Museum in Hyde Park. I was reminded once again how lucky we are to have so many national treasures right in our backyard. I also had the opportunity yesterday to meet with a local first grader who honored me with a drawing and writing he did on me for school. It is always inspiring to be around students who exhibit a passion for public service from such a young age.

Most importantly, I reviewed casework statistics for our office and wanted to share with you what I found. Since the beginning of 2016, my offices have helped 931 constituents with federal issues, from VA benefits to social security and a host of other issues. Just yesterday, as I took meetings in the Kinderhook office, our staff helped secure paperwork to ensure a color guard at the burial this weekend of one our nation's female veterans. I couldn't be prouder of the work we do to help you, and please call one of our offices if we can assist in any federal matter.

This weekend, I am looking forward to Independence Day parades and events across the district. I'm headed to East Durham and Tannersville on Saturday for parades, Minden's 4th on the 3rd Celebration on Sunday, and parades in Saugerties, Narrowsburg, and Windham on Monday. The weather looks to be beautiful across NY-19 this weekend, so I wish you and your families health and happiness as we celebrate our nation's birthday. I hope to see you out at a parade!

Sincerely, Chris Gibson Member of Congress A Round About Tri-Valley

 Carol Furman Congratulations to Tri-Valley teacher, Patty Shamro, who was the recipient of the "Ruth G. Scully Award" at the Tri-Valley Staff end-of-the year luncheon. This prestigious award is present-

The Red Fox - Friend or Foe

A few weeks ago three little red fox puppies were playing in the field behind the Sundown Church as their mother watched. They wrestled and yapped and were as cute as any little puppy at Agway!

A few days later, the scene was a little different. A Red Fox was sighted by several Sundowners with someone's chicken - a woeful sight.

Red foxes are master mousers and considered a good friend by some farmers and orchardists, but are foe to the poultrymen. The red fox will eat big quantities of rodents, berries, fruit, vegetables, rabbits, carrion and poultry.

Red foxes (Vulpes fulva) range over most of the U.S. and southern Canada.

Foxes meet to mate during the winter. After mating the pair prepare a safe burrow under a rock wall or tree roots for the 4 to 8 pups that will arrive fifty some days later. The pups are born blind and helpless.

have very little fur that is brown or gray. The new red coat usually grows in by the end of the first month. Since red foxes have several color phases - black, silver and cross (brown) - any color can occur in the same litter. In two weeks the pups can see but remain down in the den for five more weeks. Then they come out to play near the entrance hole where they retreat to safety at a parental warning bark. Both parents care for their young. The male, or dog fox, will stay around and feed the vixen while she nurses the pups. He will help with teaching the pups to hunt for a few weeks until they are independent. If the vixen is killed while the pups are young, the dog fox will raise them himself.

The Red Fox attains a body length, ranging from 18 inches to 35 inches up to its tail that is between 13 inches and 21 inches when matured. An adult Red Fox will reach a height between 14 inches and 20 inches at the shoulder.

The length of the front foot print of the Red Fox has a dimension of 2.4 inches with a breadth of 1.8 inches, whereas its back foot print has a length of 2.2 inches and a breadth of 1.5 inches. A fox will trot at a velocity, ranging from 3.7 to 8 mph and have a maximum sprinting velocity of 31 mph. Red Fox are extremely nimble. They are competent and can jump a 6 foot fence. They are good swimmers, too.

Red foxes belong to the dog family and can suffer from diseases like mange, distemper and a canine bronchitis. They can also carry rabies. The average life span of the Red Fox ranges from 2 years to 5 years in the wild.

Red foxes live in many diverse habitats including forests, grasslands, mountains, and even deserts. They also adapt well to human environments such as farms, suburban areas, and even large communities. The red fox's resourcefulness has earned it a legendary reputation for intelligence and cunning.

There are quite a few of us in Sundown who pride ourselves on our egg-laying poultry pets and view the fox as Jaws dressed in fur! The word is out!

Several of us have recently lost chickens.

We lost two of our chickens about two weeks ago. We still aren't sure it was a fox. Wanting to keep the fox on our 'friendly list' we searched the internet for ways to deter a fox from having our hens for dinner. Some suggestions were: get a large guard dog; spread lion dung (not a popular import) around the yard; human urine; electric fences; install expensive ultra sound equipment were among a few ideas.

Then there was the most practical of all, make sure the coop is secure. A fox won't dig through a cement floor in a chicken coop. Fortunately the old wood shed that we converted into Chicken Tri Be Ca has a poured a concrete floor! We reinforced the weathered walls and rafters. Before we let 'the girls' free range again, we will install an electric fence.

No wonder farm fresh free range eggs are so expensive!

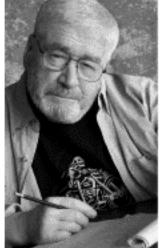

Household Hints

Make a trap to lure flying insects

Keep the flying gate-crashers at bay during your 4th of July cookout. Place a bowl filled with apple cider vinegar near some food, but away from you and guests. By the evening's end, most of your uninvited guests will be floating inside the bowl.

Spoils of Victory MBR No. 247

by John Dwaine McKenna

Late last year an authentic, entertaining, and exciting new detective series hit the bookstores and became an instant success. Part crime fiction, part historical fiction and part military fiction, the novel featured a U.S. Army Chief Warrant Officer (CWO) named Mason Collins. He's a Criminal Investigations Division (CID) Officer in Occupied Germany just after the Third Reich's defeat and unconditional surrender. In his debut entitled Ruins of War, CWO Collins was on the hunt for a sadistic, cunning and demented serial killer in the devastated city of Munich. It was one of the best first novels I've reviewed . . . and a yarn I didn't think could be surpassed. Damn! Was I wrong. Spoils of Victory, (Berkley/Penguin Random House, $27.00, 372 pages, ISBN 978-0-425-28156-7) by John A Connell . . . the second Mason

Collins thriller . . . is an absolute barn burner the likes of which we haven't seen since Ludlum or Clancy's first. Yeah. He's that good.

As the novel begins, Collins has been transferred to the alpine town of Garmisch-Partenkirchen. It's an area that's intact--untouched by the allied bombing campaigns-the place many war criminals transit before fleeing Europe and the war crimes tribunals, and it's a place where much of the stolen treasure looted from the banks, museums and Jews of the European occupied territory is situated. Despite its storybook setting and fairytale appearance, Garmisch is a city on the verge of anarchy. Rival gangs, consisting of ex-Nazis, former POWs, deserters from various armies and plain old criminals are fighting for control of a black market teeming with the booty looted from entire continents. It's a target-rich environment for a criminal investigator like Collins, but the appearance of a new, and utterly ruthless group that's bent on taking over by killing all the competition is bad news of the worst kind for the detective. When another undercover operator and his mistress is murdered, right after telling Collins that Allied OSS (Office of Secret Services) operators. atives are responsible for the black market takeover, he thinks they're being protected by high-ranking army of occupation officers. Collins doesn't know who to trust, or how high up the chain of command the corruption goes. With all of Europe in chaos and tens of tens of millions of looted dollars in possible gains to be had, the most honest of officers might be tempted to go to the dark side, even at the risk of their careers. When the attempts on his life begin, Collins is sucked into an ever-greater, ever-widening, ever-deadlier maelstrom of corruption, conspiracy and criminality from which he may not survive. You'll just have to read the book to find out if he does, or not, in this electrifying sophomore novel from a monster talent. His name is John A. Connell.

The sites will then be visited by a team of judges from outside of Sullivan County in August. The winner will be announced at the Awards Ceremony on Monday, August 8 at Bethel Woods Center for the Arts.

All participating camps and colonies will receive a $500 seed grant and a $500 grant upon completion of the project. Each contestant will also be offered two pre-planted containers with instructions on how to care for them. The containers must be maintained throughout the season.

Campers, staff and residents are also required to take part in an educational program and orientation. Those in attendance will participate in an interactive discussion regarding Halachas (codes) of the Shulchan Aruch (the book of laws) identifying a person's responsibility to the earth.

Last year the top award went to American Theological in Kiamesha for beautifying its facility. Second place award went to Khal Divrei Chaim Bungalow Colony in Kauneonga Lake; while third place was awarded to Camp Bais Yaakov in Ferndale. Camp Bais Yaakov also received a special $1000 "Showing of Flowers Award" for its beautiful flowers.

ROAD CLOSURE

The Sullivan County Division of Public Works is closing a portion of Maple Avenue in the Village of Jeffersonville, to repair County Bridge 22. County Bridge 22 is located approximately onequarter (1/4) of a mile north of the intersection of Maple Avenue and State Route 52. This section of road is scheduled to be closed to traffic starting 7:30 AM, Tuesday, July 18, 2016 and will remain closed for approximately four (4) months.

The Sullivan County Division of Public Works will post a detour route using Legion Street, County Road 127, Town Highway 83 (Earl Meyers Rd.), and Town Highway 23 (Faubel Rd.).

"ZAP Mosquitoes: DUMP-YOUR-WATER-WEDNESDAY" Campaign

Sullivan County Public Health Services is kicking off a community outreach campaign to help reduce the risk of Zika virus and other mosquito borne diseases. Currently, there are no travel related or locally acquired cases of Zika virus in Sullivan County, and the mosquitoes that transmit the Zika virus have not been identified this far north to date. However, mosquitoes can cause other diseases.

As part of the Zika Community Education Campaign, Sullivan County Public Health Services has started its "ZAP Mosquitoes: Dump-Your-Water-Wednesday" campaign. The goal of the campaign is to reduce the number of mosquitoes in the environment throughout Sullivan County by dumping standing water in objects near homes, businesses, summer camps, and

Standing water can be found in discarded tires, wading pools, buckets, flowerpots, planters, bird baths and trash containers. These are some of the prime areas for mosquitoes to lay their eggs and hatch.

Sullivan County residents are encouraged to participate in the "Dump-Your-Water-Wednesday" campaign by dumping, scrubbing, cleaning and/or throwing out any items that hold standing water at least once a week, on Wednesdays.

If you can't dump the standing water, you should use a mosquito larvicide, or mosquito dunk kit. These kits are available for free from the New York State Department of Health by calling 1-888-364-4723 or Sullivan County Public Health Services by calling 845-292-5910, ext. 0.

Sullivan Renaissance Awarding a Total of $5,000 in Grants to three Monticello Businesses to Install Outdoor Seating

MONTICELLO - Through a partnership with Sullivan Renaissance and the Village of Monticello, Sullivan County will be awarding a total of $5,000 in grants to three Monticello businesses to install outdoor seating. Nelly's Latin Restaurant and the Monticello Bagel Bakery will each receive reimbursement grants of up to $2,000 for façade improvements and the installation of outdoor seating, while Salt & Pepper the Kitchen will receive $1,000 for a new outdoor seating area.

Sullivan Renaissance originally provided the grant funding to Sullivan County's Division of Planning and Environmental Management in 2014 as matching funds for a Technical Assistance Grant through the New York Main Street Grant Program. Earlier this year, both parties decided to focus the funding on assistance to improve businesses in the downtown core.

Last month, the county sent letters to all of the property owners in the target area announcing the creation of the "Broadway Monticello Business Improvement Grant Program." Through this program, property owners and businesses could request up to $2,500 for expenses related to improving curb appeal, such as landscaping, signage, lighting, outdoor seating areas and other exterior improvements. Seven applications were received, and three businesses were awarded

"The Village of Monticello is so excited to see the energy and enthusiasm that it is gaining momentum on Broadway," remarked Village Manager David Sager. "Not only have a number of new business and eateries opened in recent months, but long-established businesses are also reinvesting in themselves and the village."

In addition, Sullivan Renaissance recently invested nearly $7,000 to purchase six custom fabricated outdoor game tables that match the benches on Broadway. This summer, four game tables will be installed in the outdoor space at the Crawford Library, and two will be installed at Sharoff Park, providing additional outdoor seating for the community.

Sullivan Renaissance is a beautification and community development program principally funded by the Gerry Foundation.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Happiness is a Wiggly Puppy

Six weeks was much too long to be without the mess and confusion of a dog. No dog can replace our dear Diva, but Hudson, the eleven week old chocolate lab, is keeping me so busy that I don't have time to sob and mope around.

The day starts around five with doggie kisses and a walk outside to see the sunrise. Rested from a full-night's sleep, Hudson exercises those razor sharp teeth on dog biscuits, chew toys, plants on the deck, and my right arm. I am sporting long sleeve shirts to cover up my arm scratches that one might mistake for junkie tracks.

You will notice that I am the one wearing sneaker type shoes with the little back "thingy" chewed off. Hudson has a foot fetish. Shoes adorn table tops and surfaces he has YET to reach.

He also likes paper. The bathroom door is shut to protect the roll of toilet tissue. Reading the morning paper on the couch is an impossibility. We moved outside with coffee and the morning paper to the picnic table which is taller than he is, at the moment, so we can turn the pages while he chews on our toes or sleeps curled up around our ankles.

At about the time the real world awakes, Hudson is passed out prone on the floor snoring loudly.

Hudson's sweet, pouty face and long ears makes him irresistible. Friends fawn over him saying, "Awww....what a cutie. Look at those sad eyes and LOOK AT THOSE BIG FEET." Hudson is destined to be a gentle giant. Good thing, for there was a giant empty spot in our hearts to fill.

Free Programs for Teens
The Ethelbert B. Crawford Public Library in Monticello has plenty of free programs for teens (ages 12-18) over the summer. On Mondays at 5:00 starting July 11, there will be a series for teens interested in careers in sports, called, "So You Want to Work in Sports." Every week, the library will host speakers who work in different jobs that have to do with sports and athletics. July speakers will include sports journalists (7/11), nutritionists (7/18) and coaches (7/25). August speakers include trainers (8/1) and athletes (8/3).

This is a great opportunity for teens to learn what they have to do in order to work in a variety of professions, including what it takes to be a collegiate and elite athlete. For those who would like to participate but cannot attend the program, we will monitor our Facebook and Twitter accounts (@ebcplibrary) during the programs, and ask questions sent in via social media. These programs do not require registration.

On Thursdays, the library will hold a teen led book discussion at 1:30. Teens will read and discuss the Half Bad trilogy by Sally Green. The books follow Nathan, a teen caught in the middle of a supernatural war. Copies of the book are available at the library.

There will be different evening programs for teens, also on Thursdays, at 4:00. The first few programs are Library CSI, a Poetry Slam/ Open Mic, and Chocolate Games. At Library CSI, participants will learn about analyzing a crime scene, fingerprinting, testing for blood, and more. Then, they will have to solve the mystery of a library murder. At the poetry slam, teens can share a poem, song, or writing piece. For those who just want to listen, there will be plenty of room in the audience. At the Chocolate Games, participants will complete chocolate themed challenges, including games and trivia. All Thursday evening programs require registration. For more information or to register, call the library at 845-794-4660 ext. 8.

Governor Cuomo and Elected Officials Participate in Outdoor Activities to Herald the Growth of Tourism through-out Upstate New York (From Pg. 1)

ural treasures, and today we are shining the spotlight on what makes this region so special," Governor Cuomo said. "This challenge is about showcasing the Catskills' natural assets - its pristine lakes, breathtaking views and scenic trails - to drive tourism, support local businesses and generate continued economic growth.

"We are investing in this region like never before and I am proud to continue that focus so that tourism remains a source

"We are investing in this region like never before and I am proud to continue that focus so that tourism remains a source of economic prosperity and opportunity in the Hudson Valley for years to come."

"Governor Cuomo recognizes the powerful allure that our natural resources possess and his plan to help revitalize the Upstate economy includes harnessing that power," said Lieutenant Governor Kathy Hochul. "Events like the Catskill Challenge provide an excellent opportunity to showcase all this region has to offer and the ripple effect of their economic benefits can be felt throughout the region."

As part of the 2016 Catskills Challenge, included is a variety of outdoor events, including fly fishing, hiking, road biking, golf, mountain biking, bocce ball and motorcycle riding. Events will take place at Landers River Trips, Villa Roma, Mongaup Pond Campground, the Fly Fishing Center, and Sullivan West High School.

Since taking office, Governor Cuomo has made historic investments to support the tourism industry, and the results show. New York State tourism generated an economic impact of over $100 billion in 2015. In the Catskills region alone, tourism direct spending resulted in over $1.1 billion in economic impact, an increase of more than 13 percent since 2010. Visitation is up over 11 percent since 2010 with more than 4 million visitors to the Catskills in 2014. In addition, tourism is vital to the region's economy, representing more than 15 percent of the region's employment, or over 17,000 jobs. (Contd. Pg. 12)

Garbage! Junk! Trash! Art!!!

People often ask, "What is art?" The answer, starting July 17th at The Old

Stone House of Hasbrouck, is: "Who cares?"

That's when a new "art" exhibit begins, featuring every terrible painting, dreadful photo and sleazy sculpture unearthed during this year's spring cleaning.

HIGH: 83°F LOW: 61°F

"We tidied the attic, straightened the basement and emptied the closets," said Alana Sherman, President of The House, "and found dozens of unsold -and unwanted -- artworks left behind from decades of exhibitions." Some of them "could be considered mediocre," she said, "and a surprising number are of the highest quality and certainly deserve a good home." But many were left in dusty storage "because, well, nobody wanted to ever see them again.

Nevertheless, since the proverb says "beauty is in the eye of the beholder," The House will let the public view this odd collection, all quite properly hung for display, and make an independent determination of quality. Opening day visitors can also enjoy a reception offering wine and snacks guaranteed to counter-balance the calibre of the art.

The show -- "Garbage! Junk! Trash! Art!!! -- will run either until the end of August, or until every last work has been purchased by an unsuspecting or visually challenged collector.

The first-day Sunday reception runs from 1-4 pm and, since it precedes by one day the opening of the Republican National Convention, political discussions will be permitted only if they don't interfere with erudite artistic conversations.

For more information, contact Alana Sherman at (845) 436-0070, or by email at sherman alana@yahoo.com. The 18th-Century Old Stone House of Hasbrouck -- today a vibrant community arts and education center -- is at 282 Hasbrouck Rd., in the wider community of Fallsburg, NY. It's convenient from Grahamsville, Monticello and Liberty, plus the surrounding area. For directions, visit the web site at www.TheOldStoneHouseOfHasbrouck.org.

What's new at the Claryville Quilters

-Margaret Dice

In the early part of the 1920's, the group now known as the Claryville Quilters was formed by some women of the ladies aid society, at the Claryville Dutch Reformed Church. The purpose of this organization was to continue a tradition of hand quilt making. Over the years many women from Claryville as well as the surrounding area have joined together to learn this craft, regardless of Faith. The quilters continue today to finish quilt tops for others.

Lap quilt made for wheelchair bound veteran

In the past year we have made lap quilts for wheelchair bound veterans for their "Honor Flight", to see the Veteran's memorials in Washington D.C. We also make a quilt for one of our Afghanistan wounded soldier, for their plane trip home to the good old U.S.A. from Ramstein Airforce Hospital in Germany.

They lay them on bunk bed type racks and wrap them in quilts donated by many quilters in America to keep them warm on their flight home. The soldiers treasure these quilts, which are found on their hospital beds and then take them home.

We will be raffling a quilt off at the "Old Time Fair" and The Little World's Fair in Grahamville, this summer. Please stop by to purchase a ticket. 100% of our proceeds are donated to a local charity.

Another lap quilt. The quilts will be used by wheelchair bound veterans for their "Honor Flight", to see the Veteran's memorials in Washington D.C.

We invite anyone to come and join us on Thursday's. We meet at the Claryville Church Hall, between 11am-3pm. You may want to learn how to hand quilt, or take your own project to work on; like knitting, crocheting, or machine sewing or just come to chat. Bring lunch and we serve tea. This is a great club for retired ladies or Mom's with children in school. Even if you are just here for the summer months. No dues to pay. You may call Margaret at 985-2815 to get further information. So come try us, you'll like us.

Beth Heit Repurposes the Elevator Gallery at the CAS Arts Center

LIVINGSTON MANOR, NY - The Catskill Art Society presents "what we hold close / what we let go," an exhibition featuring artwork by Beth Heit, in the Elevator Gallery at the CAS Arts Center at 48 Street, Livingston Manor, NY from July 22 through August 28.

Ässemblages are simultaneously Beth Heit's most personal artwork and her most universal. They are interior self-portraits that reflect investigations into her relationships with people, places, and concepts. The assemblages are often an excursion into memories. Memory is never an exact replay of what actually happened but instead consists of odd scraps of translucent occurrences laid out side by side or on top of one another.

Beth Heit invokes this experience with her assemblages by exploring how objects and images ascribe meaning to the places she has lived and the realities she has lived through. Found materials are altered and repur-posed but still retain enough of their original elements to suggest their prior history. By placing transformed objects into a dialog with her art-work, she creates a selective narrative of her life. In her sculptures, juxtaposed forms, textures and colors interact with each other to create a unified vision of my thoughts, emotions and memories.

Beth Heit grew up on Long Island, NY. She attended the State University College at Buffalo and Hofstra University where she received

Beth Heit has studied with and was influenced by many well-known ceramic artists and potters including Judy Motzkin, Makoto Yabe, John Glick, Ellen Shankin and Cynthia Bringle. She has shown her work in exhibitions and galleries across the United States, as well as a one-woman show in Hewlett, NY. Choreography on the Edge 2016
Woodstock, New York: On July 29th, Saturday, July 30th at 8:00 pm, and Sunday July 31st at 3pm, Choreography on the Edge will present its 27th performance at the beautiful, historic and newly renovated Byrdcliffe Theater in Woodstock, NY. Since 1985, this innovative program has given professional choreographers and dancers a chance to experiment and push their boundaries, much to the benefit of Hudson Valley's lovers of dance!

The program this year promises to stretch the audience's envelope as well. The line up is comprised of choreographers and dancers spanning a wide range of styles and techniques; primarily modern dance, contemporary ballet and cultural motifs expressed through Irish step dancing like you've never seen it before, in pieces choreexpressed through Irish step dancing like you've never seen it before, in pieces choreographed by Joel Hanna (from the original cast of Riverdance). A number of choreographers will be performing their work as solos, and others will work as duets and trios.

Among this stellar group are: Laura Ward with Octavia Cup Dance Theatre and clyde forth with Lokaspar — a Dance Projects. Blaine Horton and Rowan Willigan will perform solos of their work, and Jennifer Colandrea will perform a solo by Joelle Van Sickle. Leighann Kowalsky, Laura Teeter, Ashley Friend and Angela Maffia among others will also present works. New this year are Bella O'Connell and Louisa Jane Barta who will present new works with members of the D'Amby Project and Ellen Sinopoli Dance Company respectively.

Choreography on the Edge began in the mid 1980's, when a group of local choreographers decided to present a showcase of new work, the only requirement being that ographers decided to present a showcase of new work, the only requirement being that they combine movement and music in a way that was completely new for them. The presentation was so well received that it became an annual event that drew the participation of non-local choreographers as well, moving from the Woodstock Town Hall to its current home at the Byrdcliffe Theater. Keeping the experimental nature of any artistic endeavor alive is always a challenge, one that Choreography on the Edge has risen to time and again. To maintain this focus on fresh, innovative work and a high standard of professionalism, choreographers are asked to dig deep, incorporating elements they haven't used before. The pieces are not auditioned and most of them will be premiering, giving the work an immediacy that engages the audience in a more energetic and intimate way.

Choreography on the Edge is produced by Zack Jacobs with greatly appreciated support from The Ulster Ballet Company, The Woodstock/Byrdcliffe Guild, and The Bardayon Opera House. The historic Byrdcliffe Theater is located at 3 Upper Byrdcliffe Way, in Woostock, NY. Please visit www.woodstckguild.org for directions (bottom of the "about us/contact" page). Tickets are affordably priced at $12 each and can be purchased at the door or reserved by calling Zack Jacobs at 845-453-8673, or email ChoreographyontheEdge@gmail.com.

Governor Cuomo and Elected Officials Participate in Outdoor Activities to Herald the Growth of Tourism throughout Upstate New

York (From Pg. 8)
At the event the Governor announced several strategic investments to strengthen tourism in the Catskills Region:

MTA Catskills Summer Tourism Campaign The Governor announced a two-year $5 million advertising campaign to support and expand the tourism industry in the Catskills region. Empire State Development's Division of Tourism, I LOVE NEW YORK, in partnership with MTA, launched the campaign, which will target millions of New Yorkers and travelers who ride the MTA's subway, bus and commuter railroad network, in addition to New Jersey Transit travelers, to encourage them to visit the Catskills. The campaign includes two bus wraps, ads in 570 subway cars, on 150 subway entrance panels, and in nearly 230 commuter trains in and out of New York City. The ads feature the Catskills' Bethel Woods Center for the Arts in Bethel; Lake Wawaka in Middletown; Zoom Flume in East Durham; OPUS 40 in Saugerties; Roscoe NY Beer Co in Roscoe; and Hanford Mills Museum in East Meredith. The ads will run through August.

"I Love New York" Catskills Television Ad

The campaign also includes a new "I Love New York" television ad focused on the region, currently being aired in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, western Massachusetts, and the eastern and central portions of both Pennsylvania and Ohio. The ad will run through the summer until August 7, and features a Hunter Mountain Zipline Tour; the Birthplace of American Fly Fishing in Roscoe; the World's Largest Kaleidoscope in Mt. Tremper; Bethel Woods Center for the Arts; and Rocking Horse Ranch in Highland.

Smart Growth Grants The Governor also announced that $223,000 will be awarded through the Smart Growth Implementation Grants to six Catskill Park projects. Funded through the Environmental Protection Fund for Catskill Park communities and organizations to support recreation, economic growth and environmental protection, these grants are designed to help the region grow intelligently and promote Family Membership to the Time and the Valleys Museum walkable, livable communities.

The awarded projects demonstrate how Catskill communities can grow using the unique natural assets of the Park combined with improved amenities, attractions and infrastructure to bring in new businesses and citizens. This is the third round of smart growth funding supporting Catskill Park communi-ties. This year's grants build on the nearly $1.1 million devot-ed in the first two rounds of funding for this program. Projects in 2016 include: Town of Prattsville - $53,683 for a pavilion at Conine Field Recreation Area; Mountain Top

Arboretum - $24,875 for a project to improve safe entry to the facility; Village of Tannersville - $20,500 for a main street visitor information kiosk project; Town of Andes - $64,500 for the historic andes hamlet secondary water source project; Town of Shandaken - $28,450 for improvements to town parks, solar lighting and landscaping; and Catskill Center for Conservation and Development - $30,992 for the Catskill Interpretive Center Interior Design.

Funding for Municipal Projects $500,000 will also be awarded in Local Assistance funding to support a number of projects in the Catskills region. These projects include: A Comprehensive Park Recreation Plan to compile and update previously developed plans in the Catskills to produce an integrated plan for economic development and infrastructure improvements to enhance tourism and recreation in the Catskill region; Improved mountain bike trails, hiking trails, parking and access to Forest Preserve lands; Expansion of the Summit Stewards Program, to place stewards on mountain tops in the Catskills to teach visitors how protect the fragile mountain top environment; New signage to identify trails and paths, in addition to new education kiosks; Major Parking Improvements at Overlook, Prediger, Roaring Kill, Platte Clove, Kaaterskill Falls, and Giant Ledge;

Woodstock Historic Site The Governor today announced that New York State is working with the property owner of the site of the legendary 1969 Woodstock Music & Art Fair to seek nomination to the State and National Registers of Historic Places. The festival is widely regarded as a pivotal moment in popular music history. The original venue plan was for the festival to take place in Woodstock, New York, but after being turned down by residents there and banned from holding it in Wallkill, organizers arranged to hold it on farmer Max Yasgur's 600-acre dairy farm in Bethel. The festival drew an audience of over 400,000 people and ran for four days, from August 15 to 18, 1969.

Today, visitors can step back in time to the '60s at The Museum at Bethel Woods. Located on the site of the 1969 music and art fair, the museum is a unique way to experience the 1969 Woodstock Music and Art Fair, discover how it capped off an amazing decade of radical cultural transformation, and witness its ongoing legacy. Personal recollections, fascinating state-of-the-art multimedia exhibits, unreleased festival film footage and engaging programs and events can be experienced at the museum. The adjoining Bethel Woods Center for the Arts offers multiple stages featuring a diverse selection of popular artists and culturally rich performances.

MTA Chairman Tom Prendergast said, "Governor Cuomo's Catskill Summer Challenge is a great way to highlight the many vacation attractions of the Catskills region, and the MTA is happy to be working with the I Love New York campaign to help send that message to the millions of daily customers who ride our trains and buses every day and will see the advertising."

Through Governor Cuomo's leadership, we have made great strides in working with Catskill Park communities to protect and improve the treasured landscapes of the region," said DEC Commissioner Basil

Seggos. "Our ongoing commitment to the Catskills has resulted in increased visitation and tourism spending, and the grants announced today will help these communities further expand sustainable tourism efforts and improve the overall outdoor experience."

"Our promotion of tourism destinations across the state has resulted in more than $100 billion in economic impact," said Empire State Development President, CEO & Commissioner Howard Zemsky. "In the Catskills, tourism is a critical part of the region's economy, supporting more than 17,000 jobs at top tourism sites, including Howe Caverns, Hunter Mountain's 3,200-foot winter ski summit, a summer zip line course, Saugerties' historic lighthouse, and more. The arrows are pointing in the right direction, our investments are paying off, and we are proudly welcoming millions of travelers to New York State each year."

The success of the 2016 Catskills Challenge builds on the Governor's accomplishments that are already setting the stage for future growth in the Catskills region,

 Over $5.4 million invested in the Catskills region by DEC to improve fishing access, hiking trails, campgrounds and infrastructure.

o The Maurice D. Hinchey Catskill Interpretive Center, a $1.3 million project supported by New York Works, which was completed in 2015 and provides information to visitors about the 700,000-acre Catskill

 Improvements to enhance the experience of visitors and increase public safety, including an observation platform, completed at Kaaterskill Falls.

 The I LOVE NEW YORK Bus hosts regular ski trips from Manhattan to Catskills' slopes, including Hunter Mountain and Belleayre, to drive tourism Upstate.

mals, including raccoons, bats, foxes, skunks and woodchucks. Domestic animals account for less than 10% of the reported rabies cases, which most often include cats, they are allowed to freely roam on your property in wooded areas.

What Can People Do To Protect Themselves Against Rabies?

Be sure your pets are up to date on rabies vaccinations. Vaccinated pets serve as a buffer between rabid wildlife and humans. Protect them, and you protect yourself and family. As a pet owner, it is your responsibility to ensure your pets are fully vaccinated.

Vaccines for dogs, cats and ferrets over three months of age are effective for a one-year period. Revaccinations are effective for up to three years. Pets too young to be vaccinated should be kept indoors.

Don't try to separate two fighting animals. Wear gloves you handle your pet after a fight. Keep family pets indoors at night. Don't leave them outside unattended or let them roam free.

Don't attract wild animals to your home or yard. Keep your property free of stored bird seed, food garbage or other foods that may attract animals. Feed pets indoors. Tightly cap or put away garbage cans. Board up any openings to your attic, basement, porch or garage. Cap your chimney with screens.

Don't feed, touch or adopt wild animals, stray dogs or stray cats.

Encourage children to immediately tell an adult if they are bitten by any animal. Tell children not to touch any animal except their own.

Seek treatment for all animal bites and report contact with wild animals to Sullivan County Public Health Services at (845) 292-5910. If you can safely do so, don't let an animal escape that has possibly exposed someone to rabies. Depending on the species, it can be observed or tested for rabies in order to avoid the need for rabies treatment for people, or to avoid euthanizing and testing exposed unvaccinated pets.

Risk for rabies exposures also includes bats, as bats t sheet.htm can be difficult to keep out of buildings because they can get through cracks as small as a pencil. Methods to keep bats out (bat proofing) of homes and summer camps should be done during the fall and winter. If bats are already inside (e.g. in an attic or other areas), consult with your local health department about humane ways to remove them. Bats have small, sharp teeth and in certain circumstances people can be bitten and not know it.

The next regularly scheduled free rabies vaccination clinic sponsored by Sullivan County Public Health Services for dogs, cats and ferrets will be held on Tuesday, August 23 from 6 pm to 7:30 pm at Hanofee Park in Liberty. For more information about this press release, please contact the EPI Department at Sullivan County Public Health Services at 845-292-5910.

Increase in the number of Pertussis

(whooping cough) cases,
Liberty - Last week, the Sullivan County Public Health Department notified the public of an increase in the number of Pertussis (whooping cough) cases, confirming six (6) cases. As of today, there are ten (10) confirmed cases and one probable case. Confirmed cases and their close contacts are being treated. The Public Health Department is working closely with health care providers in the county to identify any additional suspect cases to ensure timely treatment and to control the outbreak. Sullivan County Public Health Services continues to work with area hospitals, urgent care centers, physicians, and the community to identify and notify residents that have possibly been exposed.

In 2015, preliminary data from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) show that there were 592 pertussis cases in New York State, excluding New York City, which had an additional 383 cases. If you or your child has been around someone with pertussis, you may become sick with pertussis (whooping cough) as well. This is especially true when you or your child has not received all the pertussis vaccine shots. Sometimes even if your shots are up to date, you may still be able to get

pertussis

PERTUSSIS is also known as whooping cough because of the "whooping" sound that is made when gasping for air after a fit of coughing making it hard to breathe. Coughing fits due to pertussis infection can last for up to ten (10) weeks or more.

Pertussis is a highly contagious disease that is spread through the air by cough. Pertussis begins with cold symptoms and cough, which becomes much worse over 1-2 weeks. Symptoms usually include a long series of coughs ("coughing fits") followed by a whooping noise. However, older children, adults and very young infants may not develop the whoop. There is generally only a slight fever. People with pertussis may have a series of coughs followed by vomiting, turning blue, or difficulty catching breath. The cough is often worse at night and cough medicines usually do not help alleviate the cough.

If you or your child comes down with any of the above symptoms including a cough, talk to your Health Care Provider without delay. If your Health Care Provider needs more information, they can call their local Health Department. Pertussis is a reportable disease per the New York State Sanitary Code (10NYCRR 2.10, 2.24); reporting of suspected or confirmed communicable disease is mandated by this regulation.

Pertussis is generally treated with antibiotics, to control the symptoms and prevent infected people from the spread of the cattle, and dogs. Wild animals may expose your pets if disease. If you or your child has been diagnosed with Pertussis, complete the antibiotic regimen before returning to work school or community functions, to reduce the spread of the disease. People who have or may have pertussis should stay away from young children and infants; all persons with pre-existing health conditions that may be exacerbated by a pertussis infection (for example, but not limited to immunocompromised persons and patients with moderate to severe medically treated asthma); Contacts who themselves have close contact with either infants under 12 months, pregnant women or individuals with pre-existing health conditions at risk of severe illness or complications, until they are properly treated. Treatment of people who are close contacts of pertussis cases is also an important part of prevention.

> Some simple basics to keep pertussis from spreading: Wash your hands with soap and water frequently; Cover your coughs and sneezes; Do not share cups or silverware; Stay away from others until evaluated by a physician

> The New York State Health Department recommends the following steps against pertussis infection: Follow appropriate vaccination guidelines and consult with a health care provider to ensure immunizations are up-to-date; Get tested and seek treatment at the first signs of pertussis symptoms, especially if you have young children at home or come in contact with children in other situations (e.g., work, recreational activities); If possible, avoid close contact with others if you or your child is sick. Stay home, and follow good cough hygiene techniques, including hand washing and covering your mouth when you cough; Keep infants under the age of one away from anyone who has a cough or other symptoms of pertussis, if possible; and Be prepared to cooperate with the local health department to help them track the disease and contact friends, schoolmates, > and others who may benefit from preventive medicine. To learn more, visit the following websites: Centers of sease Control and Prevention: Disease http://www.cdc.gov/Features/Pertussis/ New York State Department of Health:

> http://www.health.ny.gov/diseases/communicable/pertussis/fac

Immunizations can be obtained through your health care provider or at Sullivan County Public Health Services, 50 Community Lane, Liberty - by appointment (845) 292-5910, or on the first Wednesday evening of each month.

Expanded Taste NY Partnership with Minor League Baseball Teams

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today announced Taste NY partnerships with five Minor League Baseball teams in New York, who will now offer Taste NY branding and locally-made goods and beverages from Taste NY vendors throughout their stadiums. Following a successful partnership with Tri-City ValleyCats in 2015, Taste NY is expanding its partnership with Minor League Baseball to increase the promotion of New York agricultural products at ballparks across the state.

"New York grown and made food and beverages are second to none and building upon the great success of the Taste NY program, we are partnering with local baseball stadiums to expose even more New Yorkers to these great Empire State products," Governor Cuomo said. "When New Yorkers buy New York products from New York businesses, the home team wins every time."

The Tri-City ValleyCats, Batavia Muckdogs, Auburn Doubledays, Staten Island Yankees, and Rochester Red Wings will now serve Taste NY products throughout the season. Together, these stadiums see approximately 820,000 seasonal visitors and those fans will be treated to the same great ballpark staples, such has hot dogs, hamburgers, and ice cold beer — now sourced from some of New York State's best agricultural producers. Taste NY has helped vendors triple their gross annual sales from 2014 to 2015, and with this increased promotion, they are on track to doubling those sales in 2016.
