ON THE FRONT BURNER: Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous; for praise is comely for the upright.

Assemblymember Cahill Releases Statement on the Passing of Former Congressman Maurice Hinchey

In January of 1975, Maurice D. Hinchey was sworn into the office of New York State Assembly for the very first time. When he put together his initial staff, I was honored to be part of it. Nearly 43 years later, we mourn the passing of a leader of unparalleled compassion, unquestioned integrity and unbridled energy. During the intervening decades, Assemblyman, then Congressman Hinchey worked every day to improve the lives of the people he loved and served.

One of our nation's early environmental leaders, Maurice authored, inspired and improved the laws that protect our land, air, water and health. He fought mobsters and chemical manufacturers when they poisoned or tried to poison the earth. He created the Hudson River Greenway and Historic Heritage areas, brought unprecedented attention to our beautiful Catskills and he helped start environmental Superfunds here in New York and all over the nation. In our House, the New York State Assembly, Maurice was more than a chair of the Environmental Committee, he was The Chair.

Though best known for his environmental leadership, Maurice D. Hinchey was an early champion of the modern women's rights movement, universal health care, social, economic and criminal justice reform and much more. He was a leading, sometimes lone voice against unnecessary military incursions by our nation across the globe. Maurice stood shoulder to shoulder with civil rights freedom fighters and workers demanding fair treatment. The Champion we all longed for, he feared no giants and stood up to every bully, in politics, in business and in all of life.

Maurice inspired generations of political activism and gave voice to those who had been disenfranchised for decades. Unapologetically liberal, he became and remained the leader of the emerging progressive movement here in the Hudson Valley. His enduring legacy is the activism he inspired and still does. I remain grateful for the chance he gave me over four decades ago and for his mentoring, support and, most of all, friendship every day since.

This is a sad time, especially for the people of the Hudson Valley and Catskill Mountains and even more so for Ilene, Michelle, his sons, Maurice, Joseph, and all of the Hinchey family. While we will miss him, the spirit of our great leader, Maurice D. Hinchey will be eternal.

Rest in Peace. Kevin A. Cahill

Senator Bonacic Reminds Hunters to Follow Safety

Rules this Hunting Season (Middletown, NY)- During this year's hunt-ing seasons', Senator John J. Bonacic (R/C/I-Mt. Hope) urged hunters in the Hudson Valley and Catskills to follow all safety rules to ensure a safe and enjoyable hunt. It is critically important that hunters use common sense and remember what they were taught in their NYS Department of Conservation hunters education course. While statistics show that hunting in New York State is safer than ever, hunters make mistakes every year. However, every hunting-related shooting incident is preventable. "Hunters play a critical role in wildlife management throughout New York State and following basis safety rules will ensure that everyone has a safe and enjoyable hunt," said Senator Bonacic.

DEC's hunting rules include:

Assume every gun is loaded.

 Control the muzzle. Point your gun in a safe direction.

 Keep your finger off the trigger until you are ready to shoot.

Be sure of your target and beyond.

 DEC encourages hunters to wear blaze orange or pink. Wearing orange or pink prevents other hunters from mistaking a person for an animal, or shooting in your direction. Hunters who wear hunter orange are seven times less likely to be shot.

 When hunting in tree stands use a safety harness and a climbing belt, as most tree stand accidents occur when hunters are climbing in and out of the stand. Also, never climb in or out of a tree stand with a loaded rifle.

 Always be prepared for winter conditions when venturing in the woods, inform a friend or relative of your whereabouts, and pack emergency supplies.

A Round About Tri-Valley

Carol Furman

This year's Veterans Day Ceremony was held inside due to the cold temperatures. It has been reported that this was the coldest Veterans Day in forty years. No one enjoys standing outside in the cold when the veterans can be properly honored in a warmer setting. The Scouts were spending the Veterans Day weekend at Frost Valley, and I thank the Scout leaders for transporting the boys back and forth so they could take part in the ceremony. Thank you, also, to all who participated in the flag exchange ceremony.

Sherri Steinhauer, Town of Neversink resident and former Ladies Professional Golf Champion, can now add another sport to her list of championships. Sherri can add the sport of pickleball tor her long list of accomplishments. She and her pickleball partner, Mike Moonan from California, recently won the pickleball national championship in the mixed skill doubles for 55+ bracket in Casa Grande, Arizona. If you remember, Sherri organized the Grahamsville Pickleball Club, which now has over 40 members. Way to go, Sherri!

The Tri-Valley PTO "Tricky Tray" will be held at the Tri-Valley secondary school on Saturday, December 9th. (This is a date change.) Doors open at 12:00 and calling begins at 1:00. Admission is $1.00 or a couple of canned goods.

There was a nice article in the Times Herald Record on November 13th about Jim Richardson's 1953 M-37 Army % ton tow truck. This type of vehicle was used as a weapons carrier during the Korean and Vietnam Wars. Jim drove one during his time in the military. Thank you to all who have supported the Grahamsville Reformed Church dinners this fall. 184 attended the roast pork dinner held on November 11th. Dinners will resume in the spring. The Daniel Pierce Library afternoon holiday celebration will be held on Saturday, December 2nd from 1:00-3:00 pm. The community is invited to attend.

The Tri-Valley Lions Club will be having their holiday dinner at Nardi's in Hurleyville on Tuesday, December 5th. Checks will be presented to the Daniel Pierce Library and to The Time and the Valleys Museum. Those attending are asked to bring an item to support the SPCA. The Lions will be at the Tri-Valley Elementary School on Wednesday, December 6th to perform eye screening on students in grades K-Gr. 5 for vision impairment. Permission slips to have your child's eyes screened have to be returned prior to the screening. The screening procedure, which utilizes a camera, is quick, safe and costs you nothing. The sooner a vision problem is detected, the more likely it can be corrected. Thank you Tri-Valley Lions Club for doing this for our local children.

The Neversink/Rondout Antique Machinery Club will be having their holiday celebration at the Neversink Firehouse on Friday, December 8th at 6:00 pm. Everyone is asked to bring a dish to pass. If you plan to attend, but haven't been contacted, give Marge Denman a call. Beware! Deer are on the move, especially at this time of the year, and they don't look both ways before crossing the road!

NY DEC Forest Rangers on the Front Lines

"Across New York, DEC Forest Rangers are on the front lines helping people safely enjoy the great out-doors," said DEC Commissioner Basil Seggos. "Their knowledge of first aid, land navigation, and technical rescue techniques is critical to the success of their missions, which take them from remote wilderness areas with rugged mountainous peaks to white-water rivers, and throughout our vast forested areas statewide."

A recent mission carried out by DEC Forest Rangers occured on Nov. 19 at 5:20 p.m. DEC Central Dispatch was notified by Ulster County 911 of a hunter reported lost by his hunting companion. Forest Rangers were dispatched to the camp at 54 Dymond Road and cell phone coordinates were obtained for the missing hunter. Responders located the hunter in good condition near the area of the cell phone coordinates. All parties were out of the woods by 7:30 p.m.

Has Jack Frost been Painting Your Windshield with Ice?

Remember when we were young and believed in Santa, fairies, ghosts and goblins and that man named Jack Frost? He would come in the dark of a fall night and paint each blade of grass in the yard with small thin crystals of ice overnight letting us know that winter was on its way.

Well, now of course we know we can't blame Jack and frost occurs when water vapor in the air condenses as ice on a surface that has a temperature below freezing.

At night, a blade of grass loses energy by emitting

a r e r s g a a f

a non-lethal kind of radiation, but it absorbs energy emitted by surrounding objects. Under clear nighttime

Under clear nighttime skies, objects near the ground emit more radiation than they receive from the sky, and so a blade of grass cools due to the net energy loss. Once a grass blade gets cold enough, frost will form on it.

Overnight cooling of air near the ground causes morning frost on grass and on your car windshields!

If you get outside early in the morning, you may notice that frost forms in open fields but not under trees. Trees emit more radiation toward the ground than the clear sky above, and so grass under a tree loses less energy than grass in an open field. Grass in an open field cools faster and reaches the frost point first.

The heaviest coatings of frost usually do not occur at the coldest temperatures because very cold air cannot hold very much water vapor. Instead, thick deposits of frost usually occur when the air temperature is close to 32 deg. F (0 deg. C).

The size of frost crystals varies depending on the time they have been building up and the amount of water vapor available. Frost crystals are translucent, but scatter light in many directions, so that a coating of frost appears white. There are many types of frost, such as Hoar frost, also known as radiation and window frost.

Hoar frost refers to the white ice crystals, loosely deposited on the ground or exposed objects, that form on cold clear nights when heat is lost into the open sky causing objects to become colder than the surrounding air. A related effect is flood frost or a frost pocket which occurs when air, cooled by ground-level radiation losses, travels downhill to form pockets of very cold air in depressions, valleys, and hollows. Hoar frost can form in these areas even when the air temperature a few feet above ground is well above freezing. Nonetheless the frost itself will be at or below the freezing temperature of water.

The name hoar comes from an Old English adjective for showing signs of old age, and is used in this context in reference to the frost that makes trees and bushes look like white hair.

Window frost forms when a glass pane is exposed to very cold air on the outside and moderately moist air on the inside. It forms a pattern on the glass that resembles fern. If the pane is not a good insulator (such as a single pane window), water vapor condenses on the glass forming patterns.

There are many tales about Jack Frost, a/k/a Old Man Winter, who nips at your nose and is the son of the Frost King. Jack Frost's roots are believed to have originated from Anglo-Saxon and Norse winter customs. Various cultures have their own traditions of frost deities. In Russian culture he takes the name of Grandfather Frost. English folklore tradition holds that Jack Frost is an elfish playful creature. And in recent years, Jack Frost has built a new reputation as an antagonist who wants to freeze Fairyland! We can blame Jack Frost for a lot of things, and why not? It is easy to put the blame on someone who can't talk back!

Nevertheless, it is time to get out the Long Johns wonder why we don't call them Long Jacks?

Household Hints

Speaking of Frost - Keep car windows frost-free

If you park your car outdoors during the cold winter months, a smart and simple way to keep frost from forming on your windows is by wiping (or, better yet, spraying) the outsides of the windows with a solution of 3 parts white vinegar to 1 part water. Each coating may last up to several weeks - although, unfortunately, it won't do much in the way of warding off a heavy snowfall!

The Ways of Wolfe Mysterious Book Report No. 312

by John Dwaine McKenna

War, and now, in his fourth novel about the family: The Ways of Wolfe (The Mysterious Press, $25.00, 290 pages, ISBN 978-0-8021-2577-4) James Carlos Blake delivers a spirited and lively story about Axel Prince Wolfe. Twenty-some years ago Axel, then a college student and the heir apparent to the Wolfe family's prestigious Texas law firm and it's "shade trade" criminal enterprises, was involved in a high-end armed robbery that went disastrously wrong. It was an event from which Axel Prince Wolf drew a thirty-year prison sentence . . . to the absolute horror of his family. Two decades later, with eleven years still to go, all he wants to do is meet the young woman his daughter has become while he's been incarcerated. He teams up with a young Mexican inmate named Cacho, whose ties to a Mexican Drug Cartel give them the resources to make a prison break. After the breakout in which three deaths occur - Axel and Cacho become the objects of a massive manhunt on both sides of the border in this propulsive and exhilarating novel. But that's just the beginning of this thrilling crime fiction yarn from the pen of a master. Read it for yourself and see why I never miss a new work from one of the smoothest and most interesting of all contemporary crime fiction writers.

Fallsburg Parents Learn How to Use SchoolTool

(From Pg. 1) Ms. Jane Tingley, Director of Staff Evaluation and Student Data, showed parents how to log on and access SchoolTool. With clear handouts and a SmartBoard, each parent used a comput-er in the lab or added a mobile app to their smartphone. Also on hand to assist with Spanish speaking parents were elementary teacher Ms. Luisa Fernandes and Migrant Education Tutor Ms. Alejandra Surman.

SchoolTool contains information on each student in FCSD, such as contact persons, schedule, attendance, grades, assessments and assignments. The information is confidential. Parents can only access a child's information through a personal password.

During the hour-long tutorial, parents learned to open up the information, how to provide changes in contact information, how to email a teacher, and how to read schedules and assignments. Access school the web www.fallsburgcsd.net, are bilingual and can be easily filled out at home. Assessments for NYSED and NWEA tests are entered throughout the year.

Ms. Lymon, Ms. Fernandes and Ms. Surman, will be sharing the tutorial information with par-ents throughout the year at other events, open hous-es, and ENL classes. Ms. Tingley will make these presentations as needed for groups of parents. The information is invaluable to them and empowers them to access the details of their child's daily schedule, work assignments and assessments in a few simple strokes on a computer keyboard or their smartphone.

Project Linus

Thanksgiving is the time to be thankful for our blessings. Christmas, Hanukkah, and Kwanza, and even Festivus, are holidays that celebrate a time of giving and sharing. These sixty-four quilts from Project Linus are a visual of the seasons we approach.

Cheryl Kosarek has led a Project Linus, aptly named after the Peanuts character, with two groups since her retirement from Onteora Central School as a teacher of Family and Consumer Science, known to you older fogies as Home Economics. Since it began, the groups have donated 854 handmade quilts to children of Ulster County who are in times of distress. The quilts go to firehouses, schools, hospitals, shelter, etc. where children are in need.

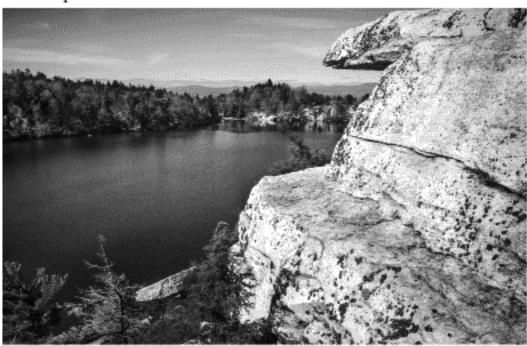

Let these warm, beautiful quilts be a reminder to count our blessings and be willing to share with those with fewer blessings.

A Visual Odyssey

Livingston Manor, NY On Sunday, December 3rd, 1:00pm, the public is invited to "Exploring the Shawangunks - a visual odyssey" with photographer Nora Scarlett at Morgan Outdoors. Her stunning images will inspire and delight nature lovers, photographers, hikers and anyone who appreciates our remarkable landscape.

From Minnewaska to Sam's Point, and back to Mohonk, with many stops in between, join Nora Scarlett on her visual odyssey through the Shawangunk Mountains in search of the unexpected. She will show images from some of her favorite places, including Lake Awosting, the Peterskill, Spruce Glen, Lost City and Gertrude's Nose. Also she will share a few vignettes of her favorite species, including the red eft, the pink lady slipper, and the box turtle.

Looking for wacky formations, humorous characteristics, improbable locations, and surprising shapes, Nora created her "Trunks of the Gunks" series which was published last year. During which was published last year. During the project she became awed at scene after scene displaying how life adapts to adversity and how it succeeds in astonishing ways.

In the recently released book "Saving the Shawangunks" by Carleton Mabee, she created a portfolio of images to com-pliment the text. They depict familiar locations seen with a different eye, many from areas that would have been impacted by the development documented in the book. These evocative images result from over 10 years of hiking the region, all made possible because of the persistent and tenacious efforts of so many to preserve this land. Nora hopes that viewing these photographs will inspire people to get out and appreciate the wonders that abound.

Nora Scarlett received numerous awards during her career as a commercial photographer in New York City. Upon moving to the Shawangunks in 1998, she was able to spend more time pursuing her love of the outdoors and visually documenting its wonders in her unique style. Her first book "Trunks of the

NCA Awarded $5000 New York Life Grant

(Monticello, NY) Nesin Cultural Arts (NCA), which provides lifelong learning opportunities in the arts to children and the community, has been awarded a $5,000 Community Impact Grant from New York Life. The grant will support the yearround arts education programs which foster an awareness of world cultures through programmatic experiences. These programs include private music lessons through the Aspiring Young Musicians program, two Children's Choruses, Dance and Visual Arts classes and the NCA Summer Music Academy.

NCA General Manager Marina Lombardi said, "We are grateful for New York Life's investment in NCA education programs, which will change many lives for the better. Without the support from New York Life, our dedicated faculty would not be able to provide these extensive programs to the enthusiastic and deserving children in our community."

New York Life Hudson Valley General Office Agent Thomas Lynch said, "I'm proud to work for a company that encourages its agents and employees to devote their time, energy and talents to support the needs and priorities of their local community. We are pleased that our partnership will have a long-lasting impact on Nesin Cultural Arts and the population they serve."

The Community Impact Grant program awards grants of up to $25,000 to local nonprofit organizations which are championed by New York Life agents and employees to serve the needs of their local communities. Since the program's inception in 2008, 452 grants totaling nearly $6 million have been awarded to nonprofits across the country.

DEC and Assemblywoman Gunther Announce $50,000 to Study Livingston Manor Flooding Flood Study Will Help Advance Resiliency Projects

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos today announced that the State will provide up to $50,000 for a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers study in the Sullivan County hamlet of Livingston Manor. Funds will be used to undertake the Livingston Manor Flood Control Feasibility Study. The funding was secured with assistance from Assemblywoman Aileen Gunther.

"As climate change fuels more intense and frequent storms that threaten communities and infrastructure across the state, DEC experts are on the frontlines everyday assisting local governments in planning for and advancing important flood resiliency projects," said DEC Commissioner Basil Seggos. "The Livingston Manor Flood Control Feasibility Study will not only protect this community, it will also improve the natural resources in the Catskills, which are critical to the economic vitality of the region.

The people who live in Livingston Manor have worked so hard to rebuild and repair flood damage time and time again," Assemblywoman Gunther said. "This study will help find a solution that works for everyone."

"It is with great satisfaction and anticipation that we have been waiting for such needed support from our state agencies. I can't say enough about our Assembly Women Aileen Gunther, who has witnessed first-hand, the devastation of flooding to our communities. Time and time again. We have been working with the ACOE and the DEC for some time now to develop a plan to reduce flooding in our area. Our small town atmosphere is a driving force for many new businesses, and the assistance from our state agency will help bring about positive change, and continued growth for those who look for a more healthy lifestyle and quality of life," said Rob Eggleton, Supervisor, town of Rockland.

A joint effort by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, DEC, the town of Rockland, the Livingston Manor Flood Control Feasibility Study was originally initiated in 2009. In 2016, the study was re-envisioned to focus solely on flood control, which required additional funding. In October 2017, DEC committed to providing up to $50,000 to finalize the study.

DEC is currently working with the U.S. Army Corps to finalize a contract for the project. The study is anticipated to be completed in 2018. Following completion of the study, the U.S. Army Corps will begin the design and construction phase of the project with federal, State and local funding.

Catskill Mountainkeeper Applauds Funding for Flood Study in Livingston Manor

Livingston Manor, NY - The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (NYS-DEC) and Assemblywoman Gunther announced that the state will invest up to $50,000 in an Army Corps of Engineers study examining flood control and community preparedness in Livingston Manor. In response, Catskill Mountainkeeper issued the following statement, attributable to Ramsay Adams, Executive Director.

"Livingston Manor has been waiting for years for the Army Corps of Engineers to step up and address our persistent flooding issue. As climate change begins to impact our own hometown, making storms more dangerous and severe, New York's commitment to lead on this issue is incredibly welcome. We look forward to working with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (NYS-DEC), Assemblywoman Aileen Gunther, and Supervisor Rob Eggleton to address the flooding in a way that makes our community more prepared while protecting our waterways and wildlife. We thank Governor Cuomo, DEC, and Assemblywoman Gunther for their quick response to the October 30, 2017 flood, and their commitment to funding and addressing this problem."

Own a Pistol or Revolver? Don't Forget to Recertify

Monticello, NY - Sullivan County Clerk Daniel Briggs reminds all pistol/revolver license-holders that the New York State SAFE Act requires them to recertify every five years in order to keep their license.

For some, that means an important deadline is looming.

"If your license was issued before January 15, 2013, you must submit your recertification by January 31, 2018 - which is just two months away," Briggs noted. "If your license was issued on or after January 15, 2013, you will need to submit your recertification five years after the date of issue.'

Anyone who does not recertify by the deadline will have their license revoked. Do not depend on being notified by the State, the police or the courts.

You are responsible for initiating and completing recertification.

To begin the process, go to https://firearms.troopers.ny.gov/pprecert and follow the instructions. If you prefer to fill out the form in writing, it's available to be printed at https://troopers.ny.gov/firearms (or at any State Police station) and can then be mailed to the New York State Police, Pistol Permit Bureau, Building 22, 1220 Washington Avenue, Albany, NY 12226-2252.

It is highly recommended that you make a copy of your recertification and confirm with the State via a hyperlink that is provided during the process. If you mail in your form, send it certified with receipt requested. For questions, call 1-855-529-4867.

This program is under the direction of the New York State Police. But while the Sullivan County Clerk's Office does not handle these recertifications, staff are ready to assist licensees in navigating the process.

Just call my office at 845-807-0411 and ask to speak with Barbara, Russ or Erinn," advised Briggs. "We can answer your questions and ensure you do what is necessary to recertify."

DEC Announces Winners of 14th Annual Environmental Excellence Awards State Recognizes New York Organizations and Municipalities as Innovation and Sustainability Leaders

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos recognized seven organizations for their state-of-the-art programs and commitment to environmental sustainability, social responsibility, and economic viability at the 14th Annual New York State Environmental Excellence Awards celebration, held at Union College's Park Hall.

DEC Commissioner Seggos said, "I am proud to present this year's Environmental Excellence Awards to municipalities and organizations that are demonstrating outstanding leadership by adopting innovative solutions to protect our environment and strengthen our economy. These projects set a high bar for others to follow as we collectively address critical environmental issues such as fighting climate change and reducing greenhouse gas emissions, protecting polli-nator habitats critical to our agricultural economy, advancing the use of electric vehicles, protecting the vitality of our waterways, and keeping potentially haz-ardous materials out of landfills. Congratulations to all of our outstanding award winners."

At the event, the awards were presented by DEC

acting Chief of Staff Julie Tighe.

This year's award winners are setting an example for others across the state by implementing innovative energy efficiency programs, engaging students and communities in sustainable practices, harnessing the power of creative partnerships, and generating eco-

Included in the winners was Hudson River Sloop Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival Zero Waste Initiative (Westchester County) and Ulster County's Net Carbon Neutral Operations (Ulster County):

Clearwater's longtime strategy of inspiring, educating, and engaging people is a powerful formula for success. The Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival (Revival) began in 1978 as a series of small concerts to increase environmental awareness and raise funds for the Sloop Clearwater. Today, it is a national model for organizations wishing to reduce the environmental footprint of large public events. The annual revival draws up to 20,000 attendees, in addition to at least 1,500 volunteers, musicians, and vendors. Event coordinators offer a sustainable event that actively engages attendees in waste reduction, recycling, composting, and sustainable living. Composting and recycling stations are conveniently set up around the festival grounds and trained volunteers help people put things in correct bins and take care of materials disposed of incorrectly. The event has, over the past several years, diverted an impressive 80 percent of waste from landfill including 4 tons of recyclables and 33 tons of compostable material.

Ulster County's Net Carbon Neutral Operations (Ulster County): Ulster County has received national recognition for its outstanding commitment to environmental stewardship and is one of only three New York municipalities certified by DEC as a Bronze Level Climate Smart Community. County leadership is dedicated to increasing the county's energy conservation, energy efficiency, and renewable energy generation. Specifically, Ulster County is purchasing 100 percent green electricity from sustainable sources, prohibiting all food service providers from using polystyrene foam, and promoting safer alternatives; expanding and improving the operation of the composting facility at the Ulster County Resource Recovery Agency in Kingston; greening and rightsizing their vehicle fleet by adding seven plug in hybrid sedans and one all-electric vehicle in 2017; and installing a network of nine charging stations at county-owned facilities. This is the greatest number of municipal electric vehicle charging sites in the State, including New York City. The chargers, powered by renewable energy, provided nearly 1,400 charging sessions, saving more than 1,700 gallons of gas.

DEC established the Environmental Excellence Awards in 2004 to recognize those who are working to improve and protect New York's environment and contribute to a healthier economy by advancing sustainable practices and forming creative partnerships. To date, DEC has recognized 80 award winners. They are an elite group of committed organizations leading by example and serving as models of excellence within their industry and community. Union College, host of this year's award ceremony, was an award recipient in 2008 for its campus-wide commitment to sustainability. A statewide review committee, made up of 20 representatives from the public and private sectors, shared advice in selecting the award winners from an array of competitive applications received in May.

Steve Lurie, Clearwater Festival Director, Hudson River Sloop Clearwater, said, "Thank you to the New York State DEC for this prestigious award. More than fifty years ago, Pete and Toshi Seeger founded what we now call Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival or The Clearwater Festival. Our Zero Waste program grew out of Toshi's original Litter Picking Committee. Today, Zero Waste is truly a team effort consisting of more than seventy volunteers led by our wonderful coordinators MJ Wilson and Susan Mayer, Clearwater Festival staff, our vendors as well as the great staff at Croton Point Park. Throughout the festival the volunteers help educate attendees about why recycling, composting and striving towards zero waste is so crucially important for our environment, which we all share. Clearwater is truly grateful to receive this award and we hope to continue to honor Pete and Toshi's legacy for years to come."

"I firmly believe that we have a fundamental obligation to protect our pristine environment for all our citizens as well as for future generations," said Ulster County Executive Mike Hein. "This recognition is both personally humbling and a strong testament to the work my administration has done, in conjunction with amazing partners, to deliver meaningful environmental stewardship. It is an honor to be recognized as the only net carbon neutral county in the State of New York, in addition to having the highest concentration of municipal electric vehicle charging stations and committing to purchase of all our electricity from renewable sources."

Landmark Middle Class Income Tax Cuts to Take Effect January 1

Dear Townsman Readers:

It's no secret that New York's taxpayers need and deserve real tax relief.

As the debate over tax reform continues in Washington D.C., I wanted to let you know about New York State's landmark middle class tax cut that will begin taking effect on January 1.

Authored by my colleagues and me in the Senate Republican Conference, these tax cuts will save taxpayers billions of dollars of their hardearned money and help tens of thousands of small businesses grow, thrive, and create new jobs.

One of the largest tax cuts in state history, it will reduce middle class tax rates by 20 percent and ultimately provide $4.2 billion in annual savings for individuals and small businesses.

We have successfully fought to control state spending, cap local property taxes, and soon, help millions of middle class taxpayers keep more of their income to invest and spend as they see fit.

This tax savings will continue to be key to creating better opportunities for middle class New Yorkers and ensuring our state is more affordable for both businesses and families.

I will continue to keep you posted on my continued efforts.

Sincerely, Senator John J Bonacic Grahamsville Community Food Pantry Seeks Community Support

Non-perishable holiday food items such as gravy, stuffing, instant or real potatoes, sweet potatoes, green beans, corn, and cranberry sauce, are also welcome. In addition, the food pantry can make good use of monetary donations to help with the purchase of perishable items for the baskets. The Grahamsville Community Food Pantry is located in the Grahamsville United Methodist Church, Route 55, Grahamsville, N.Y. Monetary donations can be sent to the Grahamsville United Methodist Church, P.O. Box 86, Grahamsville, NY 12740 (with "Food Pantry- holiday baskets" indicated on the memo line). arrange for the delivery of perishable food items please call the church (845-985-2283). For Thanksgiving, the Food Pantry coordinator needs donations immediately in order to prepare for a Nov. 18 distribution. Donations toward Christmas food baskets are requested by Dec. 11. Donations of unwrapped gifts for children are also wel-come since clients with children are offered the opportunity to pick out presents for their young ones. The food pantry coordinator is glad to report that a number of families who once needed our services are seeing better days but there are still many in need. The Grahamsville Community Food Pantry thanks our friends and neighbors for your continuing support throughout the year and we pray for your generosity during the holiday season.

Sullivan County Issues Health Advisory on Whooping Cough Monticello, NY - Sullivan County Public Health

Services would like to notify the public that a probable case of pertussis (also known as whooping cough) has been identified this week in the Monticello School District.

Public Health staff has been working closely with the district and healthcare providers in the County to notify parents and to monitor and identify any additional suspected cases to ensure timely treatment and to pre-

"If you or your child has been around someone with pertussis, you may become sick with whooping cough," cautioned Public Health Services Director Nancy McGraw. "This is especially true when you or your child has not received all the pertussis vaccine shots. Sometimes even if your shots are up to date, you may still be able to contract pertussis."

Pertussis is also known as whooping cough because of the "whooping" sound that is made when gasping for air after a fit of coughing makes it hard to breathe. Coughing fits due to pertussis infection can last for up to 10 weeks or more. Pertussis is a highly contagious disease that is spread through the air by coughing. Pertussis begins with cold symptoms and a persistent cough, which becomes much worse over 1-2 weeks. Symptoms usually include a long series of coughs ("coughing fits") followed by a whooping noise. However, older children, adults and very young infants may not develop the whoop. There is generally only a slight fever. People with pertussis may have a series of coughs followed by vomiting, turning blue, or difficulty catching breath. The cough is often worse at night, and cough medicines usually do not help alleviate the cough.

If you or your child has been diagnosed with pertussis, it is very important to complete the antibiotic regimen before returning to work, school or community functions, to reduce the spread of the disease to others. People who have or may have pertussis should stay away from young children and infants; all persons with pre-existing health conditions that may be exacerbated by a pertussis infection (for example, but not limited to immune-compromised persons and patients with moderate to severe medically treated asthma).

Fast Facts about pertussis: (CDC, 2015)

Pertussis can cause serious illness in babies, children, teens, and adults and can even be life-threatening, especially in babies.

o Approximately half of babies less than 1 year old who get pertussis need treatment in the hospital. o The most effective way to prevent pertussis is through vaccination with DTaP for babies and children and with Tdap for preteens, teens, and adults. o Vaccination of pregnant women with Tdap is especially important to help protect babies. o Vaccinated children and adults can become infected with and spread pertussis; however, disease is typically much less serious in vaccinated people.

o Pertussis is generally treated with antibiotics, which are used to control the symptoms and to prevent infected people from spreading the disease.

o In the past several years there has been an increase in reported cases among 7- through 10-year-olds. Similar trends occurred in the following years; however, an increase in cases was also observed among teens.

(Source: http://www.cdc.gov/pertussis/fastfacts.html)

Here are some tips to keep pertussis from spreading:

- o Wash your hands with soap and water frequently
- o Cover your coughs and sneezes
- o Do not share cups or silverware
- o Stay away from others until evaluated by a physician

Immunizations can be obtained through your healthcare provider or at Sullivan County Public Health Services, 50 Community Lane, Liberty, NY, (845) 292-5910.

If you or your child comes down with any of the above symptoms, including a cough, talk to your healthcare provider without delay. If your healthcare provider needs more information, they can call the Public Health Services at (845) 292-5910. An EPI nurse is on call and available 24/7.

Free Emergency Preparedness Training in Liberty

LIBERTY, NY- "With severe weather events becoming more frequent and more extreme, it is more important than ever that New Yorkers are prepared for disasters and know what to do in an emergency," said Governor Andrew Cuomo, 2014 State of the State Address.

A free Emergency Preparedness Workshop will be presented on Thursday, December 14, 2017 from 6:00 to 8:00 pm by New York National Guard troops, in conjunction with the New York State Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services (DHSES). Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County (CCESC) will host this program as part of its commitment to the New York Extension Disaster Education Network (NY EDEN), at its Extension Education Center on 64 Ferndale-Loomis Road in Liberty.

The event is part of Gov. Andrew Cuomo's continuing Citizen Preparedness Corps Training Program, which provides citizens with the tools and resources to prepare for any type of disaster, respond accordingly, and recover as quickly as possible to pre-disaster conditions.

The training course, designed by DHSES, will provide an introduction to responding to a natural or man-made disaster. Participants will be advised on a broad range of emergency-preparedness topics, including developing a family emergency plan, stocking up on emergency supplies, and registering for NY-Alert, the free statewide emergency alert system.

This class is free to the public. Registration is requested in advance by calling CCESC at 845-292-6180, emailing sullivan@cornell.edu, or visiting www.sullivancce.org. In the event of special needs, the public should contact the CCESC office.

Since the program's launch in early February 2014, troops have held more than 1,690 events statewide, and taught over 108,000 citizens how to be better prepared for emergencies and disasters. More information on the program and emergency preparedness can be found on www.nyprepare.gov.

The New York Extension Disaster Education Network (NY EDEN) is a collaborative educational network based at Cornell University, dedicated to educating New York residents about preventing, preparing for, and recovering from emergencies and disasters that could affect their families and communities. NY EDEN is affiliated with both the national USDA Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN) and with Cornell University Cooperative Extension.

NY EDEN works to link the emergency preparedness resources of New York agencies and organizations with the community networking and outreach capabilities of Cornell Cooperative Extension Education Centers throughout the state. NY EDEN's website is www.eden.cce.cornell.edu.

Wings

Livingston Manor, NY The public is invited to "Wings", an exhibition of oil paintings by Helena Clare Pittman at Morgan Outdoors, with an Opening Reception on Sunday, December 10, 2017 from 1:00 to 2:30pm.

The oil paintings on wood and board sweetly convey that the artist loves birds. "It has been a lifelong love, from the robins and sparrows I watched in Brooklyn, as a child, and the jays, mockingbirds, finches and especially the crows that live in such numbers on Long Island where I later lived," recounted Pittman. "Here in Sullivan County, the eagles, hawks and owls take my breath away. I pull over to the side of the road to watch them when they suddenly appear as I drive these country roads. I have imagined having a bumper sticker that reads: "I brake for birds."

All artwork will be for sale, ranging in price from $75 to $250. Framed simply in wood, they range from small to medium sized and will wood by Helena Clare Pittman brighten a wall or shelf with their lively images and colors. The artist will be present to sign her book, "Crow Flies," and to answer questions about her work. There will also be greeting cards for sale with images of Pittman's watercolor paintings of birds. Pittman has taught painting and writing at Parsons School of Design, SUNY and CUNY Queens College. She teaches locally at The Daniel Pierce Library, and on line at The Creative Writing Center. She has shown her work in galleries since the 1980s and designed and painted a 12-panel mural for the children's room at the Daniel Pierce Library in Grahamsville, NY. She has written and illustrated books for children, 17 of which have been published to date, and she has written many stories for Cricket and Cicada
