FALL FOLIAGE REPORT

With the busy summer travel season behind us, Sullivan County is looking forward to the colorful fall foliage season ahead. The Sullivan County Visitors Association takes into account the foliage status from around the county and provides the I Love New York, visitors and residents with its predictions of foliage intensities each week of the season.

This past weekend, the SCVA is predicted a 5% color change. We are just beginning to experience hints of yellows, browns and rusts of average brilliance sprinkled amongst varying shades of green.

HERE AND THERE

Mother Nature looked down kindly on the members of the Sundown Methodist Church last Saturday on the occasion of their First Annual Chicken Barbeque. The food was prepared in the Church Hall, and those who preferred could eat there, while those who pre-ferred to enjoy the gorgeous weather carried their filled food containers across the narrow road to the picnic tables set up on a grassy area adjoining the church. Good food, fun, and fellowship were the order of the day, as people supported the project to raise funds to purchase a generator, one large enough to enable the Church Hall to "function as an Emergency Shelter for the community" -- a situation which existed last winter, when several year-round residents were forced out of their homes by stormy weather and power outages. Sundowners, your num-bers may be small, but your spirit is mighty - congratulations and best wishes!

Speaking of community spirit, the Tri-Valley area also is quick to respond to community needs and projects. Currently, hundreds of local volunteers are busily preparing for the 25th Giant Pumpkin Party and Children's Parade, an event which has entranced children and parents alike for a quarter of a century. Every aspect of this tremendous undertaking depends on community input and cooperation. The Giant Pumpkin Party Raffle is an outstanding example of the extensive involvement by local residents and businesses. (We'll have more on this next week.)

When we saw Evi Skidmore this past weekend, we asked how the first week of school went, and were delighted to hear her say, "Great! My classes are wonderful!" She has five English classes, grades 7-12, and they all seemed happy to be there and ready to learn. Margaret Dolan was also feeling very happy: She has just been notified of the birth of her 21st great-grandchild! (That's a full classroom in itself.) And Dottie Eckerson is now in Harris Re-Hab, doing well after her knee surgery, and ready to come home and put her dancing shoes on!

Among those attending services at the Grahamsville Reformed Church on Sunday morning (Sept. 12) were two recently hospitalized patients: Wayne Elberth Sr. and Pastor Paul Ruter. Wayne underwent back surgery at a hospital in Connecticut, while Pastor Paul had further surgical treatment on his eyes. Both men thanked the parishioners for prayers of support and notes of cheer. It was also reported that Herm Probst is home again after months of hospital and adult-care treatment. We wish all continued recovery.

'Special days' coming up soon include: 9-19, Renee Simerson; 9-20, Pastor Bob Kersten, plus a 52-year anniversary for Joe and Barbara Weiss; 9-23, Les and Monica Smith, 10 years; 9-24, Matt and Patty Costa, 2 years; 9-26, Phil and Carolyn Coombe, 51 years. Happy celebrating to all!

"Keep your fears to yourself, but share your courage." (Robert Louis Stevenson)

Have a good week. (pah)

Also, glad to hear that Alice Kelder is home and feeling better after a short hospital stay. Be well, Alice.

It is simply amazing to see so many people come to lend a hand and donate their time, tools, and equipment. Thanks so much to each and everyone for being so giving to our community.

NEW MINISTRY OPPORTUNITIES IN SC (From Pg. 1)

Woodworth officially began work on July 1 in response to this charge to create New Places for New People, supported by the NY Annual Conference. She is working to be the church in the world, beyond the walls of the church buildings, to do new things, to reach out to people who have not been comfortable in the settings of the traditional church, but who are interested in connection and fellowship. This new ministry outreach, Bread for the Journey is working to build relationships, offering opportunities for fellowship, shared meals, hope, and spiritual care.

Woodworth is now facilitating programs in our area, to which all are welcome. Bread for the Journey's first official event will be "OctoberFEAST - a Community Meal," to be held in the pavilion at the Old Stone House in Hasbrouck, on Sunday, October 10, 2010, from 4:00 - 7:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to come enjoy a delicious meal of soups, chili, bread, cider, s'mores, a campfire, and live music by "Little Sparrow," a well known local band. Donations will be gratefully accepted, and monies raised will be divided between Bread for the Journey and The Old Stone House.

Additional upcoming events include Vespers (Evening Prayers) to be held at the Old Stone House on Wednesday evening, October 20, from 6:00 - 7:00 p.m. The evening will include singing, stories, prayers, and refreshments. Vespers will also be held in private homes during the fall.

Woodworth said, "I am delighted that our NY Annual Conference is affirming such creative ministry efforts. Members of both of my husband's (Pastor Bob Kersten) churches (the Grahamsville and Sundown UMCs) have also shown their support of the ministry already, with financial contributions, and with their presence. Community members without formal church affiliation have also become involved, and are excited about putting faith into action in new ways." For more information on Bread for the Journey, please contact Susan at 985-2283, or

OAK - AMERICA'S NATIONAL TREE By Peggy DeWire

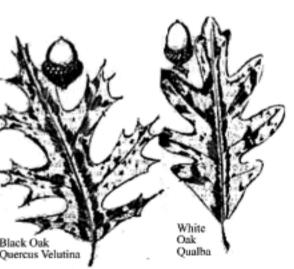

Did you know that recently Americans voted the oak as our country's official tree? In a nationwide poll conducted by the Arbor Day Foundation, this grand tree won over redwood, dogwood, maple and

Shortly after the final results were tallied, a congressional bill designating the oak as the national tree was passed and signed into law by President Bush. It joins our national bird (eagle) and flower (rose). Three proud symbols. Of the 500 species of oaks worldwide, 75 are native to America and all belong to the family Quercus, a name from two ancient Celtic words, quer/line and cuex/tree that truly fits this long lived tree. Most oaks probably mature at 100 Two years. famous huge ones, the. Connecticut Oak and the Washington Oak in Virginia Black Oak were already Quercus Velutina were already centuries old before recorded American history. In England some Quercus are a thousand years old.

Indians mixed acorns with dried berries and smoked meat into small patties of pemmican, a staple food. Pioneers ground up sweet and plentiful White oak acorns into flour for tasty bread. Boiled acorns were also nutritious frequent meals cooked in colonial kitchens.

The biggest oak tree more than 100 feet high and eleven feet across the stump usually grow in the south but many giants are scattered throughout the states. Now New York has a massive world record Northern Red Oak whose foliage crown covers half a football field and requires twelve people holding hands to circle the trunk. Oak wood is durable, fine grained and a lovely golden color. It's used in cabinets, shipbuilding, construction, flooring, furniture, tool handles, baskets and cooperage. In your grandparent's day, "The Old Oaken Bucket" was on their Hit Parade of songs.

The bark has a very high tannic acid content which is good for tanning leather and also an effective insect repellent.

Commercially, White Oak is one of the most valuable timber trees in America.

The best way to identify oak is to split them into two groups and learn to recognize their distinctive leaves. The White Oak group leaves have round lobes and a graceful scalloped outline. It bears acorns every year.

The black oak group leaves have sharp lobes with bristle points. Acorns are produced every second year. Black oaks do something very unusual in the tree world by growing different sizes of leaves on the same tree - big ones at the top to absorb maximum sunlight and small ones on lower branches that maintain steady but less chlorophyll production.

Oaks are confusing to identify a field so I suggest taking along a tree book with pictures of leaf, bark and acorns to guide you.

When Arbor Day comes, Americans really have something special to honor now, our national tree, the oak.

SC SHERRIF'S OFFICE ARRESTS 3 SUBJECTS FOR ANIMAL CRUELTY

On Wednesday September 8, 2010, Deputies from the Sullivan County Sheriff's Office arrested 3 subjects for animal cruelty after 2 dogs were found abandon.

Roszida Fore, 31, and Sean Patterson, 37, both of Monticello, and Alycia Kuhlman, 21 of Liberty were charged under the NYS Agriculture and Markets Law with failing to provide food and water to 2 pitbulls which were found locked in a room at an unoccupied residence at 740 Harris Road in Ferndale. Deputies believe the dogs were trapped in the room for about a week. Fore and Patterson were former tenants at the residence and Kuhlman kept her dog there. Depuites went to the location after receiving a confidential tip and found the dogs standing in about 1 inch of feces. The animals were turned over to the Town of Liberty Dog Control Officer. The Sheriff's Office is investigating the possibility that the dogs were used for fighting. The 3 suspects were issued appearance tickets and released pending a future court date in the Town of Liberty.

HOARDER SENTENCED ON ANIMAL CRUELTY CHARGES

Last Wednesday in Town of Shandaken Court, Marie Castaldo, 52, of the Super 8 Hotel in Kingston pleaded guilty to seven misdemeanor charges of animal cruelty under state Agriculture and Markets law. In late July, following a year-long investigation, the Ulster County SPCA arrested Castaldo and seized forty eight dogs from her possession. She was remanded to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail after arraignment. The dogs were discovered in the empty storefront of the former Phoenicia Feed Store in Phoenicia, NY. Most were confined to cages and covered in fecal matter and urine. They were in varying states of poor medical condition and many had no access to food or water. As part of the plea, Castaldo was sentenced to 42 days in Ulster County Jail with time served. All of the dogs were surrendered to the UCSPCA where they are now available for adoption. "Our investigators worked tirelessly on this case. It was a successful prosecution and we are very pleased to have the dogs in our possession. These animals can finally find loving homes where they won't be neglected or abused," said Brian Shapiro, Executive Director of the UCSPCA.

After sentencing, Castoldo was returned to Rikers Island in New York City where she also faces felony charges brought by the Queens District Attorney's Office. As director of the Queens International Film Festival, Castaldo is accused of failing to pay $14,000 in goods and services to four vendors who worked with her in 2007 and 2008. Charges include scheming to defraud, grand larceny, petit larceny, criminal possession of stolen property and harassment. Additionally, as a French National, Castaldo may be deported from the United States by the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement agency.

CWC ASSISTS HOBART BUSINESS, ASHOKAN CENTER

The owners of commercial property in the Delaware County hamlet of Hobart will receive a low-interest loan, and reimbursement for some stormwater control costs, following action taken by the Catskill Watershed Corporation (CWC) September 7.

The CWC Board of Directors voted to award West Mountain Properties of South Kortright a $187,000 loan for a new 5,000-square-foot building to house a Mirabito Holdings, Inc. gas station and convenience store, as well as a branch of Delaware National Bank of Delhi. The new building replaces the existing Mirabito Gas Station and Convenience Store that had become too small for the business and was in need of major renovations.

West Mountain Properties will also be reimbursed $101,160, half the cost of stormwater controls required by the NYC Watershed Rules and Regulations for new construction. The company will apply to the NYC Department of Environmental Protection for reimbursement of the remainder of the cost.

The CWC Board, at its regular monthly meeting, also awarded a low-interest, 15-year loan of $1 million to the Ashokan Foundation, a non-profit organization which is redeveloping the Ashokan Center in Olivebridge, Ulster County. The environmental education and cultural center is being relocated out of the Esopus Creek floodway and reconstructed with an emphasis on sustainability.

The CWC previously awarded the Ashokan Center a grant of $250,000 towards renewable energy applications to be employed in the new buildings. Site work has already begun, with completion expected sometime in 2012.

The CWC is a non-profit, local development corporation responsible for several environmental protection, economic development and education programs in the New York City Watershed West of the Hudson River. HINCHEY URGES FEDERAL REPRESENTATIVES TO DRBC TO REQUIRE AGENCY TO CONDUCT CUMULATIVE IMPACT STUDY BEFORE ALLOWING NATURAL GAS DRILLING TO MOVE FORWARD

Congressman Maurice Hinchey (D-NY) today called on the federal representative to the Delaware River Basin Commission (DRBC) to take necessary action to ensure that the agency undertakes a cumulative impact study on the effects of natural gas drilling and exploration prior to adopting regulations to govern the process and allowing gas drilling activities to proceed.

In a letter to Brigadier General Peter A. DeLuca, Commander and Division Engineer for the North Atlantic Division of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Hinchey argued that it was critical for DRBC to complete a cumulative study of gas drilling activities prior to issuing final regulations or permitting individual drilling projects on a piece-by-piece basis. He noted that the DRBC has previously acknowledged the possible risks of drilling activities to the Delaware River Basin and has applied for federal funding to conduct a study, which is currently pending before the House Appropriations Committee.

"We've already seen the tragic consequences that can occur when oil and gas companies are allowed to operate with inadequate regulation and oversight," said Hinchey, explaining why he felt the letter was necessary. "Today, the local economy, the environment and the people of the Gulf of Mexico are directly paying for that mistake and will for many years to come. It is completely unrealistic to think that we can rely on industry assurances about safety and public health in activities that present such risks to drinking water and our communities. We have to investigate these risks for ourselves and then do everything possible to ensure that any drilling is done in a safe and secure manner with rules in place to protect the drinking water of families across the River Basin."

In July, Hinchey announced that he had secured approval from a key House panel of $1 million for the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) to conduct the study. The funding is now moving through the normal legislative process. In May, Hinchey urged DRBC Executive Director Carol Collier to conduct the study before approving water withdrawals.

DIAPER DIVA

The following article was sent to us from one of our readers and members of the community, Mary Ingrham:

"I found this information on Everyday Cheapskate, a daily e-mail from Mary Hunt. She has been writing this and Debt-Proof Living for years. I don't know if it would be something you would want to put in the Townsman. Years ago she was $100,000 in debt and she worked her way out of debt. She encourages people not to get into debt, with suggestions on many different things."

"DIAPER DIVA. Get free diapers, plus $10 for doing surveys for diaper companies. Arquest, a spin-off from Johnson & Johnson, is one of the research companies. It's as easy as calling to give your name, phone number, your child's gender, weight and diaper size. They will call you when they have an opening. For girls, call 1-888-342-7372 ext. 646 to speak with "Georgia." For boys, call the same number plus ext. 634 to speak with "Chelia." Or simply press 9 when you hear the automated prompts to leave your information for the Diaper Survey. If you have not heard back in a month or so, call again. When they perform a survey for your child's size, they will send you the diapers for free. Then, you fill out a three to four page survey and they set up a 10-minute phone interview. During your interview, you read through your survey answers. They are very professional. Then you receive a $10 check four to six weeks after you complete the interview. If you have more than one baby in diapers, you can participate in multiple surveys."

ED NOTES: Thanks Mary. Every $1 counts! A 'must read' on this subject is "The Richest Man in Babylon" by George S. Clason, a 1926 financial self-help book that quite entertainingly simplifies how to improve your finances, with ideas that can be applied yet, today.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Two weeks ago, Bob and I attended our first Tea Party meeting. We didn't know what to expect. It was great. Everything about it was positive. We listened to stories of remarkable caring people helping each other, at the Glen Beck Rally. We were moved by hearing that five-hundred-thousand Americans pledged to our flag and sang God Bless America in unison. We listened to a tale from an attorney on what it was like to be a conservative at a very liberal college.

No one was angry, just concerned about our future and our country. No one was pointing fingers, only discussing how to move forward.

We felt a strong feeling of friendship and involvement.

The meeting was conducted in a very orderly manner. Everyone respected each other's viewpoint.

The next meeting will be held on Octover 7, 2010 at 7:00 pm at the Yaun building in Liberty. Please join us. If you would like more information, please contact Geri at 985-7699 or go to: libertynyteaparty.info Geri Coleman

A benefit for the Daniel Pierce Library, this oldtime country fair and autumn festival has something for everyone--from the costume parade to pony rides, giant pumpkin growing contest, haunted house, petting zoo, live music, hay rides, hay maze, a "Better" Book Sale, handmade crafts, harvest baking contest, delicious food, and other amusements!

'The Book Nook," a custom-made, nine-hole miniature golf course makes its debut this year. Each hole has a different theme, based on a popular children's book. Golfers young and old will surely want to attempt their luck on this course. "Things That Go," an interactive exhibit of large equipment and vehicles, will once again interest and fascinate Giant Pumpkin Party go-ers.

The children's costume parade (open to children of all ages) will begin the day's activities. Marchers should assemble on the library lawn at 8:30 a.m. (Please park first at the Grahamsville Fairgrounds and take the free shuttle bus.). Entertainment on the library front lawn will be provided by Jack Luster and Dr. Professor Balloonakiss, a performance that takes the ordinary and transforms it into color, magic, and fun. At 9:00 a.m., parade participants will march the 1/4 mile route to the Fairgrounds where costume prizewinners will be announced. 140 prizes will be awarded in seven categories. Groups wishing to enter a float in the parade should contact the Daniel Pierce Library directly or visit the library's website (www.danielpiercelibrary.org) for additional information; this year's theme is Make a Splash - READ!

Once the parade has entered the Fairgrounds, the day-long musical entertainment will get underway. This year, the Giant Pumpkin Party stage welcomes a wonderful variety of Old-Time Music, Mountain Tunes, Traditional Ballads, Bluegrass and Folk Songs. Bands featured this year include DYER SWITCH with Tom Benson, JoAnn Sifo, Bob Altschuler, Nick Viscio and Randy Jennings; and OXFORD DEPOT with Roy Streever, Kevin Monahan, Ed Ackerly, Carl Kubie and Leon Swyka.

Visitors to the Giant Pumpkin Party will also enjoy the children's games (every child is a winner at every game!), pony rides, craft activities, an obstacle course, hay rides, petting zoo, hay maze, handmade crafts, bake sale, and raffle featuring more than In addition to these activities, Giant Pumpkin partiers may participate in the many scheduled contests. Among these are the Giant Pumpkin Growing Contest (adult and children's categories), Pumpkin Decorating Contest, Country Bake Contest, Obstacle Course, Hay Bale Throw Contest, and Theme Float Contest. Prizes and/or trophies will be awarded for each. Entry forms and contest rules are available in advance by contacting the Daniel Pierce Library, visiting the library website, or at the information booth on the day of the Party.

Every library benefit needs a book sale, and the Pumpkin Party is no exception. A collection of gently used books, the best donated to the library over the course of the year, has been set aside for this special one-day sale.

Sumptuous taste treats of homemade donuts, funnel cakes, hamburgers, hotdogs, chili, wraps, nachos, hot apple cider and soft drinks will be available for purchase.

Admission and parking are free. The event is held rain or shine! All proceeds will be applied toward the Daniel Pierce Library and Time and the Valleys Museum Building Fund.

Grahamsville is set in the scenic Catskills just 100 miles from New York City. It is a drive through the rich beauty of fall foliage and easily accessible from the Kingston Thruway exit to Route 209 and Route 55, or from Route 17 to Liberty exit 100A, right onto Route 55 for 14 miles.

For entry forms, contest rules, a schedule of the day's events, or additional information, please call the Daniel Pierce Library at (845) 985-7233 or visit the Giant Pumpkin Party page on our website at www.danielpiercelibrary.org.

In addition to many extraordinary works of art the Washer Women exhibit will have an interesting component to it. A historical exhibit on washing clothes from earliest times to the 1950's will be on display. Actual items used by women through the centuries to launder their clothes will accompany the exhibit, on loan from the Time and the Valleys Museum in Grahamsville. The viewers will have a sense of just how labor intensive washing clothes was in earlier days. For more information on the history of scrubbing clothes exhibit, contact

Following is a schedule of upcoming The Met: Live in HD at SUNY Sullivan (All performances are on Saturday):

Das Rheingold, Richard Wagner, Octob-er 9 at 1 p.m.: Two unparalleled artists join forces to create a groundbreaking new Ring for the Met: Maestro James Levine and director Robert Lepage. The cycle launches with Das Rheingold, the prologue to Wagner's epic drama. "The Ring is not just a story or a series of operas, it's a cosmos," says Lepage, who brings cutting-edge technology and his own visionary imagination to the world's greatest theatrical journey. Bryn Terfel sings the leading role of Wotan for the first time with the company, heading an extraordinary cast.

Boris Godunov, Petro-vivh Mussorgsky, Oct-ober 23 at noon: Bass René Pape takes on one of the greatest roles in a production by Stephen Wadsworth. Valery Ger-giev conducts Mussorg-sky's soulful spectacle, which captures the suffering and ambition of a nation. Aleksandrs An-tonenko, Vladimir Og-novenko, and Ekaterina Semenchuk lead the huge cast in a work that is also a breathtaking showcase for the Met's formidable chorus. Don Pasquale, Gaetano Donizetti, November 13 at 1:00 p.m.: Anna Netrebko revives her sensational turn in this sophisticated bel canto comedy, opposite Matthew Polenzani, Mariusz Kwiecien, and John Del Carlo in the title role. Music Director James Levine conducts. When Otto Schenk's production premiered in 2006, the New York Times called it "brilliant" and "wonderful."

Don Carlo, Giuseppe Verdi, December 11 at 12:30 p.m.: Director Nicholas Hytner makes his Met debut with this new production of Verdi's profound, beautiful, and most ambitious opera. Roberto Alagna leads the cast, and Ferruccio Furlanetto, Marina Poplavskaya, Anna Smirnova, and Simon Keenlyside also star. Yannick Nézet-Séguin, back after his triumphant debut leading Carmen, conducts. "I think Don Carlo is the quintessential Verdi opera," Hytner says. "Right through this opera there is, on the one hand, an implacable expression of impending doom and, on the other hand, a succession of the most gloriously open-throated arias, the most fantastically determined music."

La Fanciulla del West, Giacomo Puccini, January 8 at 1:00 p.m.: Puccini's wild-west opera had its world premiere in 1910 at the Met. Now, on the occasion of its centennial, all-American diva Deborah Voigt sings the title role of the "girl of the golden west," starring opposite Marcello Giordani. Nicola Luisotti conducts.

Nixon in China, John Adams and Alice Goodman, February 12 at 1:00 p.m.: "All of my operas have dealt on deep psychological levels with our American mythology," says Pulitzer Prize-winning composer John Adams, whose most famous opera has its Met premiere. "The meeting of Nixon and Mao is a mythological moment in world history, particularly American history." Acclaimed director and longtime Adams collaborator Peter Sellars makes his Met debut with this groundbreaking 1987 work, an exploration of the human truths beyond the headlines surrounding President Nixon's historic 1972 encounter with Mao and Communist China. Baritone James Maddalena stars as Nixon, a role he created to widespread acclaim. Nixon in China, Sellars says, "shows you what opera can do to history, which is to deepen it and move into its more subtle, nuanced, and mys-

Iphigenie en Tauride, Christoph Willibald Gluck, February 26 at 1:00 p.m.: Susan Graham and Plácido Domingo reprise their starring roles in Gluck's nuanced and elegant interpretation of this primal Greek myth. Tenor Paul Groves also returns to Stephen Wadsworth's insightful production, first seen in 2007. Patrick Summers conducts.

Lucia di Lammermoor, Gaetano Donizetti, March 19 at 1:00 p.m.: Natalie Dessay triumphed as the fragile heroine of Donizetti's masterpiece on Opening Night of the 2007-08 season in Mary Zimmerman's hit production. Now she returns to the role of the innocent young woman driven to madness, opposite Joseph

Calleja, who sings her lover Edgardo.

Le Comte Ory, Gioachino Rossini, April 9 at 1:00 p.m.: Rossini's vocally dazzling comedy stars bel canto sensation Juan Diego Flórez in the title role of this Met promiera production. He vice with marro this Met premiere production. He vies with mezzo-soprano Joyce DiDonato, in the trouser role of Isolier, for the love of the lonely Countess Adèle, sung by soprano Diana Damrau. Bartlett Sher, director of the Met's hit productions of The Barber of Seville and The Tales of Hoffmann, describes the world of the opera as, "a place where love is dangerous. People get hurt. That can be very funny and very painful. Rossini captures both-with the most beautiful love music Rossini ever wrote."

Capriccio, Richard Strauss, April 23 at 1:00 p.m.: On Opening Night of the 2008-09 season, Renée Fleming dazzled audiences when she sang the final scene of Strauss's wise and worldly meditation on art and life. Now she performs the entire work, in which the composer explores the essence of opera itself. Joseph Kaiser and Sarah Connolly also star, and Andrew Davis conducts.

Il Trovatore, Giuseppe Verdi, April 30 at 1:00 p.m.: David McVicar's stirring production of Verdi's intense drama premiered in the 2008-09 season. About The Met: Live in HD

The Met: Live in HD, the Metropolitan Opera's Emmy and Peabody Award-winning series of live performance transmissions begins its fifth season. During the previous 2009-10 season, a record-breaking number of more than 2.4 million Live in HD tickets were sold worldwide for nine transmissions, effectively tripling the Met's paying audience (approximately 800,000 people attend performances in the opera house in a Met season). By adding three transmissions this season, as well as the 300 additional theaters to its global network, the Met expects to break all of its previous attendance records. One hundred of the additional theaters are being added in the U.S. making the total number of U.S. theaters 620 this season. In the U.S. and Canada where the transmissions are shown in multiplexes, it is not unusual for an additional 100-200 screens to be added depending on advance sales. The countries with the biggest increase of theaters include Canada, adding 35 theaters; Germany, with an increase of more than 60 theaters; and the United Kingdom adding 30 theaters.

"Our live transmissions have made grand opera more accessible and popular," said Peter Gelb, the Met's General Manager and the Executive Producer of the live transmissions. "They have helped to make it possible for opera to continue to flourish in a difficult economic time."

The Met's nine transmissions sold $48 million dollars of tickets at the box office last season, with the Met receiving 50% of the gross box office rev-

Since its launch, The Met: Live in HD has continually expanded, with dozens of countries and new venues joining the HD network each season. The inaugural live HD transmission, of Mozart's The Magic Flute, took place in December 2006 and was seen in 56 theaters in four countries. The remarkable expansion from 4 to 46 countries in only four years has been driven by public demand.

The Met: Live in HD series is made possible by a generous grant from the Neubauer Family Foundation. Bloomberg L.P. is the global corporate sponsor of The Met: Live in HD. The HD broadcasts are supported by Toll Brothers, America's lux-ury home builder®.

THE COLORFUL MONTH OF OCTO-BER AT ASK

The colorful month of October marks the Arts Society of Kingston's 15th Anniversary! What better way to celebrate than to exhibit The Mask Show and

Selections from the Studio Tour? The Arts Society of Kingston (ASK) welcomes "The Mask Show" a Members' Exhibition to the Main Gallery. The Lounge Gallery will feature "Selections from the Studio Tour." The shared opening reception will take place during First Saturday, October 2nd, 5-8 pm. Well it's that time of year again. Squirrels, bears, and badgers are ready to go to sleep. And people are quite ready this year to say goodbye to a lot of hot summer days. The coolness of ice and snow await. And just like days from our childhood, we start by thinking "Trick or Treat."

Costumes and masks are the venue and more candy than we should eat. But, ah well, it's only the signal that we too need to slow down and adjust our pace. Come and see all the creativity our members have managed to pour into October's show, "Masks."

What has been called "a defining experience of the City of Kingston," the Hooley on the Hudson Irish Celebration this year drew 15,000 to 20,000 visitors to the Rondout waterfront on Sunday, September 5th. The festival featured Irish musicians and dancers who performed throughout the day, followed by a parade of boats along the Rondout Creek in the evening.

"I had wonderful day at the Hooley seeing so many friends and neighbors," said Kevin Cahill. "Since its inception, I have been a prime sponsor and supporter, and I have watched it grow since 2002. My thanks goes out to everyone who helped to make this day a success."

"On behalf of all involved with the 'Hooley,' we thank Assemblymember Cahill for his unequivocal support in securing major sponsorship for the festi-val," said Local AOH Division 1 President Jim Carey. "Indeed, without his help, there would be no 'Hooley,' and we gratefully acknowledge his crucial role in promoting Irish heritage in Ulster County."

EFFORTS ON SCENIC BYWAY

Kevin Cahill hosted a meeting between Al Wegener, Executive Director of the Shawangunk Mountain Regional Partnership, and Shawangunk Town Supervisor John Valk. The Regional Partnership includes the towns of Gardiner, Marbletown, New Paltz, Rochester, Rosendale, Shawangunk, Wawarsing, the villages of Ellenville and New Paltz, and the Orange County towns of Crawford. In 2006, Kevin secured seed funding and passed legislation to make it a reality. Partnership now stewards the Shawangunk Mountains Scenic Byway, an 82-mile corridor of majestic touring navigations and cliffside vistas.

"The Ridge is a 450 million-year-old section of the Appalachian Mountains separating the Hudson River Valley from the Catskills, encompassing a region of over 115,000 acres that provides natural recreational and historic resources of statewide significance," said Wegener. "Of over 2,600 miles officially designated as Scenic Byways by New York State, with the full support of Assemblymember Cahill, the Shawangunk Byway was the first in the Hudson Valley area.

"The Shawangunk Ridge is known to be one of the most important sites for bio-diversity conservation and is recognized for having the most complex and environmentally significant ecosystems in the United States," said Kevin. "I am proud to have been directly involved with Al, John and the other town supervisors and representatives in my support of the Scenic Byway which highlights the unmatched natural beauty of the 'Gunks.'

GEORGE CLOONEY IN "THE AMERI-CAN" AT CALLICOON THEATRE

Delaware Valley Arts Alliance and the Callicoon Theater present the suspense thriller The American starring George Clooney. The film opens Friday, September 17 at 7:30 p.m.

As an assassin, Jack (Clooney) is constantly on the move and always alone. After a job in Sweden ends more harshly than expected, Jack retreats to a small medieval town in Italy. While there, Jack takes an assignment to construct a weapon for a mysterious woman, while beginning a romance with another.

Directed by Anton Corbijn, the screenplay by Rowan Joffe is adapted from Martin Booth's 1990 novel "A Very Private Gentleman."

Roger Ebert of the Chicago Sun-Times says "[Corbijn] paints an idyllic Italian countryside as lyrical as his dialogue is taciturn. There is not a wrong shot. Every performance is tightly controlled. Clooney is in complete command of his effect."

The American is rated R and will screen nightly at 7:30 p.m. Friday, September 17-Wednesday, September 22 with matinees at 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, September 18 and 19 at the Callicoon Theater, 30 Upper Main St, Callicoon, NY.

ONLY 99 DAYS TO GO!

Don't you think you should check out the Sundown Church Bazaar on September 25th for starters? The Bazaar will be held in the Sundown Community Hall from 9 am to 3 pm. There will be needle work, a white elephant table, baked goods and a Christmas Table - and more!!
... and you still have time to make some of your own gifts, too. There is nothing more precious than receiving a gift from someone who has made it themselves.

With the bounty of seed pods, pine cones, acorns, etc. that you may find in your own back yard, there are plenty of things that you could make.

For example, the craftyTownsman ladies certainly have increased the gnome population around town. They have been making gnomes now for a few years to decorate their Christmas tree in Bi-Centennial Park. The cute little gnomes were made from pine cones. You may just see a few of them at the Sundown Bazaar.

> Something you may want to try is a pine cone angel with an acorn head and milkweed pod wings.

What You Will Need

1 milkweed pod (split open and cleaned of floss clean floss out-of-doors)

1 large pine cone (2" to 3") 1 acorn with cap attached (for the head) Glue gun and glue sticks

Ribbon

How to Make the Pine Cone Angel

1. Apply glue to the flat side of the acorn (head of the angel) and attach to the pointed end of the pine cone 'body'. You may have to frim the pine cone a bit.

2. Separate the milkweed pod into two 'wings' and glue each 'wing' to the back of the angel's body (the cone).

Fold a 5" to 6" narrow ribbon to form a bow and glue between the wings at the back of the pine cone.

While you are outside gathering your 'supplies' make sure you get enough of each item, just in case you want to make a few other crafts once that fluffy white stuff comes and covers up 'nature's supply store'.

Get creative and have fun as you are making little treasures for gifts, and you will make someone else smile, too.

NEW YORK RED CROSS COMMEMORATES NINE YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF 9/11- Over 100 Red Crossers Will Provide Humanitarian Services to Memorial Service Attendees

The NY Red Cross joined millions of people in Greater New York, across the country and around the world to honor the lives of those lost 9 years ago when the unthinkable happened--an act of terrorism resulted in the tragedy, devastation and loss we now remember as 9/11. The NY Red Cross will pay tribute to those who lost their lives, their loved ones, friends and neighbors and reaffirm its commitment to this National Day of Service and Remembrance by participating in this year's 9/11 Memorial Service at Ground Zero.

"The Red Cross will join New Yorkers and our fellow citizens to honor the lives lost on this tragic day and the heroes who responded to one of New York City 's and America 's greatest calls for help," said NY Red Cross CEO Terry Bischoff. We are truly proud of the humanitarian spirit of our Red Cross team of over 100 volunteers who will be at the ceremony to provide families and friends of lost loved ones with compassionate care __-a shoulder to lean on, a tissue to wipe away a tear or a bottle of water to soothe a dry throat."

This will mark the 8th consecutive year that the NY Red Cross will have participated in the Memorial Service. As in previous years, the Red Cross will have stations set up around the memorial service area where volunteers and staff will be prepared to provide attendees with water, snacks, tissues and emotional counseling. Additionally, there will be a Red Cross health services representative in the first aid tent who will provide medical assistance as needed.

The NY Red Cross 9/11 relief effort was the largest disaster response effort in the history of the Chapter, and many of the volunteers who joined the organization as a result this incident are still with us today.

- During the 9/11/01 to 10/15/01 period, the Chapter:

 * registered 13,536 clients for Red Cross assistance and support
- conducted 61,000 one-on-one mental health interactions
- served 5.8 million meals and snacks
- engaged 25,000 volunteer from NYC and across the country in the relief

"I felt blessed to be a part of the NY Red Cross on September 11th, 2001, an organization that helped thousands of people get on the road to recovery in the aftermath of unimaginable devastation, loss and pain," said 12-year NY Red Cross Public Affairs Volunteer Bob McGrath. My volunteer work with the Red Cross has made me a stronger, more patient, more empathic New Yorker."

You can help people affected by disasters this here and around the world by making a donation to support American Red Cross Disaster Relief. Your gift enables the Red Cross to prepare for and provide shelter, food, emotional support and other assistance in response to disasters. About The American Red Cross in Greater New York

The American Red Cross in Greater New York (ARC/GNY) is a key humanitarian partner and a vital participant in New York's plans and programs to help over nine million people in New York City and Orange, Putnam, Rockland and Sullivan counties prevent, prepare for and respond to emergencies. The Chapter responds to an average of 7 emergencies a day-fires, floods, building collapses-and provides immediate humanitarian aid to as many as 100,000 people affected by these disasters each year. Additionally, the Chapter helps New York residents and businesses prepare for emergencies by offering hundreds of lifesaving courses and emergency preparedness training programs and resources.

The American Red Cross in Greater New York is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, not a government agency, and relies on donations to fund its free humanitarian services. CONGRESSMAN'S STATEMENT ON 9th ANNIVERSARY OF 9/11

"Nine years ago today, we stood in shock as terrorists took the lives of thousands and forever altered the course of our shared history. This September 11, we stand united in remembrance of those who gave their lives. But as we honor those who were taken from us, we must also not forget that many who survived still suffer from wounds both visible and invisible.

"The firefighters and police who rushed into the flames, the EMTs and nurses who treated the injured, the construction workers and everyday citizens who risked their own health to salvage that which could be salvaged and repair what damage could be undone still lack the health care and economic compensation they need and deserve. It is a tragedy that such words can be spoken, but it is our duty to ensure that they need not be spoken again.

"Nine years later, we must not only join together to right this wrong, but also work to correct injustice wherever it may be. We must rebuild our economy, fortify our national defense and be forever vigilant to ensure another attack of this magnitude never occurs again. We must strive to ensure that all citizens of this country have access to the health care and education, and work to protect our environment and the natural beauty of this land. We must unite around common purpose and our shared ideals to preserve the nation we all love.

"While we may sometimes be divided by politics or opinion, as Americans of every race, religion, gender or sexual orientation, we should always remember on that day we stood together, and let there be no doubt that the greatness of America lies in our ability to unite ourselves once again and face down the challenges of a new day."

HINCHEY STANDS WITH FIREFIGHTERS

Due to Republican opposition, the bill failed to achieve the high, two-thirds majority required for passage under the "suspension of the rules" parliamentary procedure that was used to bring the bill before the House in July.

"It's time to set politics aside and pass the James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act," said Hinchey. "Nine years after our country was brutally attacked, it's a tragedy that the men and women who risked everything to save others have still not received the healthcare and compensation they deserve. The firefighters, police, nurses, EMTs, construction workers and everyday citizens who put their bodies on the line to rescue those who could be rescued, salvage that which could be salvaged and repair what damage could be undone after the tragic attacks of 9/11 inspired us all in the months following the attacks. Today they suffer from asthma, emphysema and, in some cases, cancer. We must not allow them to suffer alone. They deserve to be treated like the heroes they are."

The current program to assist responders fails to adequately provide necessary medical services. The James Zadroga bill would create the World Trade Center Health Program to monitor and treat responders and community residents for health conditions related to the terrorist attacks. The bill, which would cost $7.4 billion over the next ten years, is fully paid for by a provision preventing foreign multinational firms that are incorporated in tax haven countries from avoiding tax on income earned in the U.S.

The bill builds upon the existing, unauthorized federal program administered by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) that provides monitoring and treatment services through medical Centers of Excellence to responders and community residents affected by the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center. The Zadroga bill would also reopen the September 11 Victim Compensation Fund of 2001 (VCF) to provide compensation for economic damages and losses to first responders, recovery workers and others injured in the aftermath of the attacks, including persons who were exposed to World Trade Center toxins during debris removal.

Hinchey went on to describe additional programs and legislation he is supporting to ensure that firefighters in Kingston have the resources and equipment they need to protect their own health and safety as they work to rescue those in harm's way. "Fire departments are being challenged by growing populations and greater calls for service with fewer staff and substandard equipment," said Hinchey. "These shortages make it difficult for these brave individuals to do their job safely and effectively. That's why I have continually supported the AFG program which has provided equipment and resources to firefighters here in Kingston and throughout the county."

As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, Hinchey has worked to secure full funding for the Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program (AFG) since its inception in 2001. Since the fire grant program started, more than $18.7 million in grants have been awarded to fire and emergency departments in Hinchey's congressional district. In June, it was announced that the Kingston Fire Department would receive $446,114 through AFG to purchase needed equipment.

Hinchey has sponsored a number of workshops across his congressional district to help fire departments successfully navigate the grant application process. Hinchey is also the author of the SERVE (Supporting Emergency Responders' Volunteer Efforts) Act, which would provide a $1,000 federal tax credit to individuals who are active members of volunteer firefighting and EMS organizations. For the most current information regarding the Assistance to Firefighters Grant program, please visit www.firegrantsupport.com.

Bonacic has been the lead sponsor for years in the Senate, of a Constitutional Amendment for non partisan redistricting. He is also one of two Republican co-sponsors of re-districting legislation, sponsored by Democratic Senator David Valesky of Syracuse.

"Joe Bruno, a Republican, and Senators Malcolm Smith and John Sampson, both Democrats, have refused to allow a vote on my legislation for non-partisan redistricting. Senator Sampson is on board, which I appreciate. Senator Sampson should call the Senate back, for an immediate vote on this and other reforms- and put the Assembly on the spot," Bonacic said.

"Whether it is the school tax cap legislation, or a State spending cap, or an unwillingness to discuss fair Senate and Assembly District lines, the problem lies with the Assembly's unwillingness to engage. Nobody has taken on Assembly Speaker Sheldon Silver since former Assemblymen Jake Gunther and Michael Bragman did years ago. Win or lose, speaking up against the powerful in Albany is the right thing to do since the 3 men in a room system, is the source of much of Albany's dysfunction. Mr. Silver's power comes from his members - those who elect them. John Samspon, in the Senate, is at least talking the talk - now he needs to call the Senate back and pass this legislation," Bonacic said. Bonacic noted that Valesky's legislation has 22 sponsors, including 20 of the Senate's 32 Democrats, but the Democratic leadership of the Senate has refused to allow a vote on it. "Now the excuses have run out. The Senate Democratic Leader is on board. Let's vote for the reform now," Bonacic concluded.

The district lines for New York's Congressional and State Legislative Districts are drawn every ten years based on census data.

CAHILL BOOSTS NEW ENERGY ECON-OMY AT TECH CITY SOLARTECH RENEWABLES BEGINS PRODUCTION ON SOLAR PANEL ASSEMBLY LINE

With help from the office of Assemblymember Cahill, Solartech Renewables, a new producer of commercial-use photovoltaic solar panels, began production this summer. Company President Todd Roberts and Director of Business Development Chris Alsante invited Assembleyman Cahill to tour their facility and see first-hand the results of this collaborative economic development effort.

"Landing Solartech Renewables is a big win for the region and an important step in our efforts to create a new energy economy here in New York," said Kevin Cahill. "Tech City is quickly becoming the place to be for clean energy companies. Solartech Renewables is the latest of what promises to be a long string of successes contributing the resurgence of Tech City as an economic driver in the Hudson Valley."

"As the market develops for large scale solar projects, Solartech Renewables and its local suppliers in the New York solar cluster will train and develop a world class clean energy workforce here in our state," said Todd Roberts, Chairman and CEO of Solartech.

"I appreciate the efforts of elected officials like Assemblymember Cahill who work tirelessly to stimulate local economies and help meet New York's clean energy power generation needs."

Cahill worked to successfully secure funding to attract solar companies to the Hudson Valley. Solartech Renewables received $5 million in benefits as a result of these efforts.

ANOTHER OPENING, ANOTHER ACA-DEMIC YEAR AT SUNY SULLIVAN

Anxious parents and excited resident students loaded down with 'the stuff that college dreams are made of arrived on the campus of SUNY Sullivan early Friday, August 28 for the beginning of the 2010-2011 academic year. Freshmen and some returning students wasted no time in exchanging greetings with fellow students in the Lazarus I. Levine Residence Hall while other upperclassmen settled into their spacious rooms in the new EcoGreen Townhouses. By lunchtime most rooms had been transformed from empty shells to living spaces that reflected a myriad of personalities. Nursing classes began Saturday, August 28. All other classes began Monday, August 30.

"Weeks of Welcome," a schedule of events and student activities, will allow both new and returning students opportunities to explore the many options available to them at SUNY Sullivan. Students will also have a chance to meet with their advisors to help them set their goals and objectives.

"While educational delivery methods might change, the fundamental purpose of a college education remains the same. At SUNY Sullivan we not only prepare students to take their place in the world as contributing members of society, we also provide them with the seeds for life-long learning," said Dr. Mamie Howard-Golladay, president of SUNY Sullivan.

Founded in 1962, SUNY Sullivan is a two-year community college and a unit of the State University of New York. It offers 40 associate degree and certificate programs, as well as a variety of continuing education and specialty courses, on its 405-acre campus, online and through its distance learning program.

Following a welcome back breakfast, Dr. Howard-Goffaday announced administration changes and introduced new members to the SUNY Sullivan community. The changes include:

Dr. Vincent Boyd, former Assistant to the Vice President for Evening and Weekend College was appointed Assistant Vice President for Academic & Student Affairs. Dr. Boyd is also serving as interim Dean of Enrollment Management and Student Development Services.

Berry Hafkin was named Assistant Vice President for Administrative Services. He was previously the Assistant to the Vice President for Administrative Services.

Arthur Riegal, a faculty member in Division of Business & IT, was named Chair of the Division of Health, Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Housing.

 Hillary Egeland was named Director of Special Events & Campus Activities. Previously she was Coordinator of Special Events.

Helena Le Roux Ohm was named part-time Director of Sustainability Projects and Initiatives. She is also a faculty member in the Division of Professional Studies.

Vincent Begley has joined the college as Director of Public Relations.

 Elizabeth Kubenik, Vice President for Administrative Services, retired on August 31. A search is ongoing to fill this vacancy.

The start of the academic year also means the start of a number of public events from lectures and concerts to rousing sporting events and annual festivities. To find out what's happening at SUNY Sullivan, check out the college's calendar of events at:

HINCHEY ANNOUNCES 2010 CAM-PAIGN FOR CONGRESS

Congressman Maurice Hinchey (D-NY) officially kicked off his campaign last week, to continue repre-senting the people of New York's 22nd Congressional District. Hinchey highlighted his work to create local jobs, his efforts to improve benefits for veterans and his fight to protect middle class families from the worst abuses of Wall Street banks, credit card companies and health insurance corporations. The congressman, who is a Navy veteran, also pointed to a series of local accomplishments.

"In the midst of a difficult economic time for far too many New Yorkers, I know that it takes strong leadership with a vision for the future. This is a moment in history that demands fresh ideas and creative solutions," Congressman Hinchey said. "By drawing on the resources and talents of local residents, entrepreneurs, and businesses I've helped to deliver on the promise of those ideas by creating hundreds upon hundreds of new, high-tech jobs while laying the groundwork for our region to be a powerful economic force in the state and country moving forward. I am running so that we can continue to build this revitalization of our region's economy. We need more tax relief for the middle class so that people can keep up with life's daily expenses. And we need to provide tax relief and support for small businesses so they can grow and create jobs. At the same time, we need stronger rules to protect the middle class from the abuses of credit card companies, Wall Street banks, and health insurers. Instead of bailing out those special interests, I am going to continue fighting for the interests of the middle class. That's what I've done my entire life and that's what I'll continue doing with the support of voters in New York's 22nd Congressional District."

USDA SEEKS APPLICATIONS FROM PRODUCERS TO CONDUCT RENEW-ABLE ENERGY FEASIBILITY STUDIES

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today announced the availability of funding under the Rural Energy for America Program (REAP) to conduct feasibility studies for renewable energy systems for agriculture producers and rural small businesses.

"Renewable energy production represents a promising revenue source for America's producers while meeting the nation's need for new sources of renewable energy," Vilsack said. "These grants will help encourage the development of viable renewable energy projects across the nation and help small business owners, farmers, ranchers and agriculture producers conduct feasibility studies that identify renewable energy opportunities.'

Eligible feasibility studies for renewable energy systems include projects that will produce energy from wind, solar, biomass, geothermal, hydro power and hydrogen-based sources. The energy to be produced includes heat, electricity or fuel. For all projects, the system must be located in a rural area, must be technically feasible and must be owned by the applicant.

More information is available by visiting:

http://www.rurdev.usda.gov/BCP_ReapGrants.html Under this notice, USDA is making $3 million available to conduct feasibility studies. Grants are limited to $50,000 per study and the application deadline is October 5, 2010. The funding announced today is authorized under the Food, Conservation and Energy Act of 2008. More information on how to apply for funding is available in the August 6, 2010 Federal Register, page 47525.

USDA, through its Rural Development mission area, administers and manages more than 40 housing, business and community infrastructure and facility programs through a national network of 6,100 employees located in the nation's capital and 500 state and local offices. These programs are designed to improve the economic stability of rural communities, businesses, residents, farmers and ranchers and improve the quality of life in rural America. Rural Development has an existing portfolio of more than $142 billion in loans and loan guarantees.

NEW ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS LAUNCHED -Excelsior Jobs and Small Business Revolving Loan Programs Move Ahead

Assemblymember Kevin Cahill (D- Ulster, Dutchess) announced two new economic development opportunities that were established in 2010-2011 State Budget have begun to move forward. The programs are designed to create jobs in underserved communities and help small businesses gain access to capital.

"We need jobs. The new Excelsior Program and the Small Business Revolving Loan Fund will be important tools for rebuilding our economy," said Assemblymember Cahill. "While the State has been struggling in these difficult times, we have sharpened our focus on developing industries that create opportunities in communities that need new businesses and meaningful, long-term investment."

The Excelsior Jobs Program began accepting applications today. The new initiative offers incentives to companies that relocate to New York State communities in need of an economic boost, and those that show the greatest promise for creating Under the program, which replaced the expired Empire Zone Program, businesses will be held accountable for meeting job creation and investment targets before receiving any tax credits offered through Excelsior.

The Small Business Revolving Loan Fund is designed to generate economic activity by providing access to capital for Main Street everyday small businesses. The program is targeted to New Yorkers who have difficulty tapping into regular credit mar-Empire State Development Corporation kets. recently opened up the program with a Request for Proposals to community development financial institutions, small business lending consortia, certified development companies, providers of United States Department of Agriculture business and industrial guaranteed loans, United States Small Business Administration loan providers, credit unions and community banks.

"I am committed to businesses that are committed to New York. We should do all we can to retain the anchors of our communities and attract new ventures," said Assemblymember Cahill. "The Excelsior Jobs Program and Small Business Revolving Fund will provide enterprises with the long term stability they need to grow their operations and create new good paying jobs."

GILLIBRAND: DADT RULING SHOULD SERVE AS CALL TO ACTION FOR CON-GRESS

After a federal judge in California ruled the "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" policy unconstitutional, U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand issued the following statement:

"Judge Phillips' ruling is a major step forward for our efforts to repeal this immoral and harmful policy. I strongly hope that the ruling of this policy as unconstitutional will stand and that the Department of Justice will eventually choose not to appeal. President Obama has been an outspoken advocate for repeal and it would send a strong message if his justice department were to choose not to appeal. The decision should also serve as a call to action for Congress to repeal 'Don't Ask, Don't Tell.'

"Every American, no matter who you are or what you believe, has the God-given right to defend our country. No politician should rightly or lawfully stand in the way of that. Every U.S. Senator took an oath to uphold the Constitution of the United States.

Now it's time to do just that.

"I am confident that we can bring the repeal of 'Don't Ask, Don't Tell' up for a vote on the Senate floor in the coming weeks, and I urge all of my colleagues to abide by the oath we all took, and end this policy that tears America's moral fabric and hurts our military readiness."

COMPTROLLER RAISES STANDARDS FOR AUDITS- Auerbach to Auditors: Your Role is to Protect the Public

Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach has issued a Request for Proposals (RFP) for financial audit services. The County has employed the services of the same firm since 2006 and that contract expires at the end of 2010.

"It is time to put some competition into the process and keep out the politics," said Auerbach, who serves as the County's chief accounting and auditing officer. Ulster County's Charter mandates the Legislature fund an annual financial audit by an independent auditor. "I don't set financial policy and I don't manage the finances," said Auerbach "but it is my job to ensure County taxpayers get audits they can trust."

The Comptroller seeks an independent auditor who will use a proactive approach in understanding Ulster County's new charter form of government and will give an opinion on the County's total financial picture. The RFP makes clear to proposers that, though they will work for Ulster County government, their role is to protect the public interest.

"Members of the public rely on audits to help them make decisions," explained Auerbach, "they rely upon the audit to understand the financial wellbeing of the County and to learn how their tax dollars are spent."

Typically, financial audits provide an opinion on the reliability of a government's financial statements. There are many steps and variables to the process but, simply put, this is done by testing various transactions and by the auditors gaining an understanding of the internal controls - the checks and balances - over financial reporting.

"I expect more," said Auerbach, "I want auditors to express an opinion on the effectiveness of controls over financial reporting." An "opinion" requires the auditor to provide a professional assessment of the effectiveness of controls.

'The public deserves to know if the 'checks and balances' that protect public funds are appropriate and reliable," said Auerbach.

The Comptroller's RFP also requires responders to include a copy of their most recent peer review; to identify all clients on the same audit calendar; and encourages innovations that best achieve the project's purposes.

Copies of the RFP can be obtained by emailing

CONGREGATION AGUDAS ACHIM - LIVINGSTON MANOR

The High Holy Days of the year 5710 will be here soon. Jews are mysteriously called to return to our roots during this season. Congregation Agudas Achim of Livingston Manor welcomes all who wish to share this season of introspection and faith to join with our community. No tickets are needed, but donations will be greatly appreciated to help maintain our historic building and support our educational programs. We encourage anyone who seeks to renew their relationship with God or desires to connect with their heritage Agudas Achim is affiliated with the Union for Reform Judaism. However retaining a traditional feeling to our services is very important. Rabbi Fredric Pomerantz will lead Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur services with the assistance of Marian Kleinman our Cantorial Soloist. His warm personality and her beautiful music will help create a special opportunity for introspection and atonement during the Days of Awe. Our historic synagogue helps create a spir-itual atmosphere which enhances the prayer experience. Rabbi Pomerantz is beginning his sixth year a the spiritual leader of Agudas Achim.

The congregation conducts an annual non-perishable food drive to benefit the Livingston Manor food pantry. Donations should be brought to services. We join with other Reform congregations which hold similar drives to remind us of our obligations to those less fortunate. Also we hold a communal Yom Kippur break-fast.

For more information about the high holidays or the Agudas Achim commu-nity call Bob Freedman at 439-5708, Ellen Singer at 482-4100 or Judy Siegel at 292-2552. Hebrew School will be starting soon. Denning Democrats Political Slant, Important information for all of us interested in US Sovereignty. Is the U.S. selling gold reserves? Here is a quote, by Zou Pingzuo, a central bank of China researcher. "Sales by overseas central banks could see a sharp fall in gold prices." [The Financial News reported]. Continuing, he stated, "Investors should be careful about investing in gold. Gold prices could fall sharply because of intensive gold sales by the United States and other overseas central banks.

Ron Paul wants to know, why isn't the Federal Reserve happy to prove its gold holdings in an audit? He further states that he is fully aware of the Federal Reserve's involvement in gold swaps with foreign banks, an admission made by Fed Governor Kevin M. Warsh. Governor Warsh insisted that the Fed's gold swap arrangements must remain secret. What was the Treasury's response to the Senator Ron Paul? "Representatives from the Treasury Department and U.S. Mint did not respond to requests for comment on Paul's proposal." Should not the Treasury, the Fed, and public institutions in general be transparent? We Think so. However quoting Julian D. W. Phillips, Gold/Silver Forecaster - Global Watch -GoldForecaster.com "Is the U.S. and other central banks selling gold?"

"We are of the opinion that the World Gold Council is a competent body and that they do gather accurate information on 'Official' gold sales worldwide. We also note that leasing is not selling just as swapping is not actually selling. The figures published by the World Gold Council tell us that the gold selling has stopped and that central banks, including China, are buyers. Yes, when gold is leased or swapped, the gold leaves the owner's control, but unless the overriding agreement is broken, the gold should return to the owner's control. It is there that the main questions lie. And it's there that the statement may gain credibility."

We at "Denning Dems" believe that a nation's endurance is directly relative to it wealth, the fastidiousness of its people, their employment at a decent livable wage, freedom of basic rights, and freedom from corruption. Then the U.S. will last more then 200 years.

Knarf's "Classic Movie Trivia

"Blood Alley" is an essential John Wayne must see classic. It typifies the persona of 1955 film making. Thank you, Mr. William Wellmen. The story unfolds as an American sailor breaks out of a Chinese jail while dodging Communist agents. All this hap-pens in a pirated steam boat that is heading to Hong Kong on the river called "Blood Alley." Cast: John Wayne, Lauren Bacall, Paul Fix, and Joy Kim Dir. William A. Wellman C-115 mins, TV-PG. On TCM Saturday, Sept 18th at 2:00 pm.

A. Name the character Lauren Bacall played? B. Who played the character Wei Long?

What's going on in the Gnome Gneighborhood™

this week? Once in a while "Ye Olde Tri- Valley Townsman" would like to say 'thank you' to one of our advertisers for their loyalty. This time it is Catskill Hudson Bank. Hope you enjoy following tidbit?

Let me tell you a secret of what all astute Gnomes believe. We believe like Mathon, the old gold merchant of ancient Babylon. He said, "Don't be a fool, pay yourself first, the sum of one tenth of what thou earn each Moon. That is for you to keep; your fortune. Save it, and it will grow, and its children will grow, and thei r children will work for you, and you will then be rich, with a horde of golden slaves working for you in your enterprises.

Where in today's world can you do what the old gold merchant of Babylon advised?

Why! At Catskill Hudson Bank of course! Seriously, Gnomes make good sense, and it makes good sense to bank at Catskill Hudson Bank.

Thank you to Catskill Hudson Bank "The Townsman"

SOUTH FALLSBURG- Do you like the stories of Ancient Babylon, -try- "The Richest Man in Babylon" now at the Arati Shop, (845.436.8818) they have it in stock.

SUNDOWN - 1st Annual Sundown Community Barbecue came off with a bang. Many Sundown and nearby neighbors came out in droves. The Sundown Church Hall and the outside tent, set with picnic tables, were filled with chicken eaters and 'we' really ate. With the aid of many local citizens the barbeque, made a great contribution to the generator fund.

Bye, Knarf Odnamoc Gnome
